10,000 Hear Salem Talk

Kennedy Repeats Charge U.S. Lags

Sen. John F. Kennedy, addressing a crowd of 10,000 to 15,000 Sunday night at Reilly Stadium in Salem, hammered away on the theme he has stressed repeatedly during his campaign — a charge that the United States is not moving ahead fast enough, compared with Russia.

The Democratic presidential candidate flailed his Republican opponent, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, for his expressed "satisfaction" with the course of the country's foreign policy. Many in the audience had waited more than three hours for the senator's late arrival, part of a Northern Ohio swing that included Youngstown.

"I am not satisfied," Sen. Kennedy said. "I think we can do much better. I think we must move ahead much faster if we are to hold our lead. For the test is not mere survivial. The test is leadership for the decade of the sixties."

Citing Saturday's vote in the United Nations General Assembly on admission of Red China as evidence that world leadership is slipping away from the United States, the Massachusetts Senator said: "Yesterday the United Nations General Assembly voted on the question of admitting Red China. The United States won — but by the narrowest margin we have ever had. In yesterday's vote, 34 nations voted against us. In 1952, only 7 nations voted against us.

"And of the 44 per cent of the nations voting against us," Sen. Kennedy declared, "the new nations of Africa and of Asia—the nations of the future—were especially heavy in voting against the American position.

"In yesterday's vote, only two African countries voted for us," he said. "Out of 24 nations on the newest continent, 8 voted against us and 14 abstained."

Showing none of the strain of his grueling campaign schedule, Sen. Kennedy, who had spoken in Youngstown and Warren earlier in the afternoon, criticized his opponent and the administration on a score of domestic and foreign issues.

But he returned again and again to his contention that Vice President Nixon "is dangerously mistaken" in his satisfaction with America's prestige and position in world affairs.

"Last week in the United Nations there was another test, a vote on a proposal by the neutralist nations to force a meeting between the President and Mr. Khrushchev," he said.

"We won that vote—but only because a two-thirds majority was required. We mustered 37 votes on our side. Forty-one countries, not including any Communist nations, voted against us. If that is a test of prestige, then this country is in serious trouble."

The Democratic candidate, whose view of the importance of Ohio in the election is attested to by the fact that Sunday's was his fourth trip into the state, told the audience: "You people here in Salem must form your own judgment about whether the present leadership is moving America ahead.

"If you believe we can do better, if you believe we must do better, then with your co-operation we will rebuild the spirit of the nation and carry our country to new greatness."

Touching on the domestic front, Sen. Kennedy lashed the Republicans for their stand against Congressional proposals for medical aid to the aged and an increase in the minimum hourly wage to $1.25 from $1.

He hit on a subject close to home when he asserted that one-third of the nation's steelworkers are either idle or working part time.

The senator also commented accusingly on the struggle for survival under the Republican administration of the pottery industry, most of which is concentrated in the Salem-East Liverpool area, and on the pollution of rivers in the Ohio Valley.

Sen. Kennedy lauded Congressman Wayne L. Hays, who is seeking re-election against Atty. Walter J. Hunston of Salem, stating the congressman and he are in complete agreement on the basic issues of the campaign.

"Together we stand for the program of the future," he said.

The senator concluded his address by urging support at the polls.

"I ask your help in building the strength of our country," he said. "I ask you to look to the future."

Included in Sen. Kennedy's entourage last night was Ohio Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. The governor introduced Hays, who presented Sen. Kennedy.

Hays said in his brief introduction: "I served with both Nixon and Kennedy, and if everyone knew these two candidates like I do, Kennedy would get every vote in the country on Nov. 8."

Pirates Post 3-2 Win In Deadlocking Series At New York

Sunny skies provided the backdrop for the fifth game of the World Series today at New York with the newly-confident Pittsburgh Pirates and the Yankees each having won two games.

Bouncing back after 16-3 and 10-0 losses to the heavy-slugging American Leaguers, the Bucs returned to season form Sunday with some well placed hits and spectacular fielding.

Harvey Haddix, Buc lefthander, was slated to face Art Ditmar as the two teams battled in the crucial fifth game at Yankee Stadium.

Sunday's victory gave new hope to Pirate fans in the area and assured ticketholders for the sixth game at Forbes Field they will get a chance to use the ducats.

Absentee, Disabled Voting Rush Starts

The County Election Board's office was swamped during the first hour this morning as voters started a rush to receive civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots.

Indicating a heavy vote at the Nov. 8 Presidential election, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said the board issued 86 ballots in the first hour this morning, and also received 50 requests for applications.

Also an indication of an expected heavy vote, O'Hanlon said the official count of qualified voters in East Liverpool reached 11,306, a gain of 1,276 since Jan. 1.

When registration in the city ended Sept. 28, the board counted 11,376, O'Hanlon said, but deaths, duplicate registrations and removal from the city eliminated 70 names. The registration on Jan. 1 was 10,030.

More than 1,000 registrations were recorded since the May primaries, he added.

The official count showed Precinct 4-F, which votes at Pleasant Heights School, as the largest in the city with a total of 550 qualified. Precinct 1-A at Klondyke School has 528 registered, he said, and 7 other precincts recorded more than 400 voters.

The civilian absentee and disabled voters' ballots became available for the first time today, and the rush was so great in the first hour it virtually halted all other preparatory work for the election, O'Hanlon said.

Rider Thrown Off Of Horse Into Auto Path

Columbiana Boy, 14, Injured Critically In Route 14 Accident

A Columbiana area youngster was injured badly when his horse shied into the trailer of a passing truck, which knocked him into the path of a following auto Sunday afternoon.

An East Liverpool area motorist and his young son also were injured in another mishap over the weekend, the Lisbon Highway Patrol reported today.

James H. Mong, 14, of Columbiana R. D. 2 was riding his horse on Route 14 about three miles from Columbiana when the animal shied and backed into a tractor-trailer rig that had pulled to the left to avoid striking the rider.

Mong was knocked from the horse by the impact and into the path of a following car driven by Louis Fairoli, 43, of Darlington. The truck driver was Ralph Stringert, 41, of Pittsburgh.

Young Mong suffered multiple bruises of the entire body, laceration of the left eye, possible fracture of the left leg and a concussion. He is in "fair" condition today at Salem City Hospital.

The patrol said both vehicles and the horse were traveling west when the mishap occurred at 3 p. m. The horse, owned by Eddie Strawhecker, suffered a lacerated flank, the patrol reported.

In a one-car accident Saturday at 5 p. m. on Route 30 just west of the city limits, William E. Richardson, 36, of Oakmont ran off the edge of the highway and into a drainage ditch, the patrol said.

Richardson is in "good" condition today in City Hospital with severe lacerations of the chin and mouth. A son, Craig Richardson, 5, was treated at the hospital for a laceration of the scalp. Richardson was traveling north when the accident occurred, the patrol said.

John Pennfield, 27, of Lance Creek, Wyo., was treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the lip and right arm received when his motorcycle overturned on Route 30 near Rock Camp at 12:45 p. m. Saturday.

The patrol said Pennfield was traveling south on Route 30, three and six-tenths miles south of Route 45, when he lost control and ran into a guardrail.

Car Plunges Into Run Bed At Industry

Darlington Resident Dies When Auto And Tractor-Trailer Hit

Two Beaver County men were killed in traffic accidents Saturday and Sunday, while funeral services are being arranged for an Ohio View woman — wife of a Crucible Steel Co. executive — who lost her life in an earlier mishap in Ohio. The dead are:

Joseph LeMasters, 21, of Industry R. D. 1, killed Saturday at 9:40 p. m. when his brother's car failed to round a sharp curve at Industry on Route 68 and plunged into the bed of Wolf Run.

Donald Armstrong, 22, of Darlington, killed instantly Sunday at 2 a. m. when his car collided head-on with a tractor-trailer on Route 51, six miles north of Darlington.

Mrs. Edna Hurtt, 61, of Ohio View, who was killed when the car in which she was riding went off Route 188 near Lancaster Friday night and hit a tree.

Critically hurt in the same accident was Mrs. Hurtt's husband, Robert S. Hurtt, who is in "critical" condition today at Fairfield Hospital in Lancaster with a broken right leg and internal injuries.

The accident which killed Mr. LeMasters caused serious injury to William LeMasters, 23, the driver, and George McGee, 22, both of Ohio View. Both were admitted to Rochester General Hospital.

Police Chief Guy St. Esprit said Mrs. Wanita LeMasters, wife of the dead man, told him the trio stopped at her home between 7:30 and 8:30, staying only a short time.

The 1949 two-door sedan was eastbound, headed into Industry and "traveling too fast for conditions," St. Esprit said. The chief said the car left the road and traveled about 30 feet before it bent two guard posts and tore two others out.

The car traveled another 115 feet and went into the creek just to the right of a bridge, slamming head-on into the concrete base which extends on both sides underneath.

Mr. LeMasters was believed to have been killed instantly. His body was found under the car. He may have been thrown through the windshield.

Both men hurt in the Industry crash are in "fairly good" condition today, the hospital reported. McGee received a broken collar bone and contusions and William LeMasters suffered multiple bruises.

Dr. John W. Colavincenzo, Beaver County coroner, said Mr. LeMasters died instantly of a broken neck and a crushed chest. The coroner ruled accidental death.

A default in the car's steering may have caused the accident. Dr. Colavincenzo said that a police officer and mechanic examined the auto and found the sway bar on a front wheel was defective. Both survivors reported that the car would not turn to the left at the curve.

The car still was in the creek Sunday, since efforts to pull it out failed Saturday night.

An East Liverpool motorist would have ended up in the same spot Sunday at 4:50 p. m. when his brakes failed but he hit a parked car instead, St. Esprit said.

Brakes on the 1956 sedan of Ernest E. Bell, 1172 Erie St., failed as he was rounding the curve. He swerved to avoid hitting a parked car on the highway at the scene and hit a parked car off the road, St. Esprit said.

U.N. Awaits Khrushchev; He Renews Vow Of Peace

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations awaited Premier Khrushchev's next appearance before the General Assembly, probably tonight, after hearing him say once more, "We shall never start a war."

Khrushchev made the statement Sunday night on a television and radio interview, "Open End," in New York.

The Soviet premier said he is going home Thursday. In the next four days he is expected to take every opportunity to further publicize the many proposals he has advanced, formally and informally, since he came to the Assembly, three weeks ago.

They include reorganizing the U.N., replacing Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, admitting Red China, another summit conference, a plan for disarmament, and a special session of the Assembly — meeting somewhere in Europe, not in New York — to discuss disarmament.

Most of the international high brass will have gone from New York before the end of the week.

Prime Minister Nehru of India left Sunday night for London. He said he was "a little disappointed" in the present session of the Assembly, adding, "but by and large I'm glad I came."

Commenting on Khrushchev's attacks on Hammarskjold, Nehru said, "I think the present Secretary-General should continue, but I do think the Secretary-General himself should consider how to broad-base his organization at the top."

Khrushchev's televised interview lasted more than two hours, but it was largely a warm-over of the things he has been saying in and out of the Assembly.

These were some of his main points:

1. "We shall never start a war. We do not need a war. Categorically, we shall never start a war. So you can sleep in peace."
2. The Soviet Union "already has proposed" an agreement to embargo arms shipments to other countries. "We are ready to sign an agreement with you right now."
3. The U2 flights proved that President Eisenhower was not sincere in saying he wanted peace.
4. Just before he left Moscow for the U.N., he received "definite information" that the United States was about to send another

U.S. Expecting New Blast From Castro Over Arms

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro was expected to deliver a new blast at the United States today with charges that Washington had armed counter-revolutionary guerrillas the Cuban regime claimed it smashed over the weekend.

The prime minister was scheduled to address the closing session of a congress of municipal education boards.

Castro was certain to take his text from an announcement by the Armed Forces Ministry Sunday that volunteer militiamen led by army regulars had liquidated an anti-Castro force operating in the strategic Escambray Mountains of south-central Cuba, scene of Castro's second front during his successful revolt against dictator Fulgencio Batista.

A communique said 127 persons captured during the operations would be tried by a military tribunal beginning Tuesday.

The communique said three insurgents were killed and four wounded. Government casualties were listed as one regular army officer and two militiamen dead and two others wounded.

The government announcements played up the operation as a crushing blow to anti-Castro elements. The insurgents in the Escambray Mountains reportedly

Mobutu Nips Power Move By Lumumba

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo's strong man, appeared today to have nipped in the bud the latest move by flamboyant Patrice Lumumba to rally public support.

After the deposed premier's trip through Leopoldville's native quarter Sunday night, Mobutu today ordered Lumumba's residence ringed with 200 Congolese soldiers.

There was a brief scuffle as soldiers drove back several dozen Lumumba supporters with rifle butts. One shot was fired into the air. Ten of the pro-Lumumba crowd were taken into custody. One or two were reported slightly

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro was expected to deliver a new blast at the United States today with charges that Washington had armed counter-revolutionary guerrillas the Cuban regime claimed it smashed over the weekend.

The prime minister was scheduled to address the closing session of a congress of municipal education boards.

Castro was certain to take his text from an announcement by the Armed Forces Ministry Sunday that volunteer militiamen led by army regulars had liquidated an anti-Castro force operating in the strategic Escambray Mountains of south-central Cuba, scene of Castro's second front during his successful revolt against dictator Fulgencio Batista.

A communique said 127 persons captured during the operations would be tried by a military tribunal beginning Tuesday.

The communique said three insurgents were killed and four wounded. Government casualties were listed as one regular army officer and two militiamen dead and two others wounded.

The government announcements played up the operation as a crushing blow to anti-Castro elements. The insurgents in the Escambray Mountains reportedly

Mobutu Nips Power Move By Lumumba

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo's strong man, appeared today to have nipped in the bud the latest move by flamboyant Patrice Lumumba to rally public support.

After the deposed premier's trip through Leopoldville's native quarter Sunday night, Mobutu today ordered Lumumba's residence ringed with 200 Congolese soldiers.

There was a brief scuffle as soldiers drove back several dozen Lumumba supporters with rifle butts. One shot was fired into the air. Ten of the pro-Lumumba crowd were taken into custody. One or two were reported slightly

Lodge Declares He Favors Negro For Cabinet Post

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I would like to see a Negro in the Cabinet; I am for it," Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican vice-presidential nominee, said Sunday.

He was answering a panelist's question on the nationally televised "Face the Nation" program.

Lodge expressed belief that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, showed "a much greater sureness of touch" in discussing foreign policy in Friday's TV debate with Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential candidate.

"Senator Kennedy has shown a tendency to take what Khrushchev has to say at face value," Lodge asserted. "Mr. Nixon has more talent, more maturity on foreign policy questions."

Lodge, former ambassador to the United Nations, said the United States had won repeated victories in the international organization. Asked about the increasing number of nations that voted to consider the question of admitting Red China, Lodge noted that the vote has varied over the years. "We won" again on the latest vote, he declared.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years, "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the hair you lose in one morning's combing, together with information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, do you have dandruff? is it dry or oily? whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy? does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful. All letters will be answered promptly. Send the hair sample, the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 66001, Houston 6, Texas.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — For years, "they said it couldn't be done." But now a Texas firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If your symptoms indicate that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. This is all the more remarkable in light of the fact that the great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped. But how can any man or woman be sure what is actually causing their hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Actually, there are 18 scalp disorders that can cause hair loss. No matter which one is the cause of your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. If you still have hair (or at least some fuzz) on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to act.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the hair you lose in one morning's combing, together with information to help them analyze your problem. This information should include how long your hair has been thinning, do you have dandruff? is it dry or oily? whether your scalp erupts in pimples or other irritations, does your forehead become oily or greasy? does your scalp itch and how often? and any other information you feel might be helpful. All letters will be answered promptly. Send the hair sample, the above information, and your name and address to Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Box 66001, Houston 6, Texas.

Nikita Khrushchev Is Not Real

It is useless to wonder if Nikita Khrushchev is singing for his life when he rants and roars in the United Nations. Every Communist is singing for his life whenever he makes a public statement.

What may be useful, though, is to inquire as William L. Ryan, the Associated Press expert on the Soviet Union, inquired about the probable identity of the people telling the premier of the Soviet Union what to sing.

Ryan points to evidence that Khrushchev is carrying out specific orders subject to change without notice. He recalls that speculation about Khrushchev's behavior in Paris last May ran along the line that Soviet military figures might be wielding a balance of power in Moscow. It could be that Khrushchev was sent to the United Nations General Assembly to carry out the orders of a new collective in the Kremlin that is appeasing the Communist Chinese, who always were resentful of the Khrushchev doctrine of co-existence anyway.

The Khrushchev doctrine?

There is no more reason to believe it was the real Khrushchev who talked about co-existence than there is to believe it is the real Khrushchev now—the one who makes co-existence seem impossible.

There is no good reason to believe Khrushchev exists at all as a man with the privilege of thinking for himself. To believe so ignores the submersion of the individual in the Communist state, where all judgment is collective, not personal; where human beings exist only for the service of the state; where men believe what they are told to believe and do not inquire for themselves.

Khrushchev should be no more puzzling to Americans than the U.S. Communists who have changed their party line oftener than they changed their underwear. It is the same performance, only this time on a larger stage.

Who is the real Khrushchev? What's he like? The real man disappeared when he became a doctrinaire Communist—a mouthpiece for a movement that regards men the way the chicken industry regards chickens—living things that exist to produce other chickens, to make wealth for their exploiters and eventually to be consumed.

If chickens live and die happily in the service of the chicken industry, is it then so hard to understand how a Khrushchev can cackle whatever will keep him from being consumed a little longer?

Guard Against Fire

This is Fire Prevention Week — with the objective to save lives and property.

East Liverpool and other district firemen already have launched their annual campaign to convince residents of the need for greater safety.

The curse of fire only can be eased by foresight. Aftr a death has occurred, after a home has been leveled, it is too late. The prevention must come beforehand.

The burden again is on the individual. In most cases only you are in position to realize if a heating unit is faulty; only you will know if your house wiring is a safety hazard; only you will know if the rags and papers in the attic and the basement can start a blaze.

With winter approaching — when the danger of fire increases in proportion to the dropping temperature — now's the time to begin your safety check, not after the damage has been done.

So Who Wants To Be A Whiz?

Much will be made of a University of Chicago survey that reflects a low opinion among parents and students of the qualities revealed by IQ tests. Even teachers, who like to instruct high IQ students, doubt that aptitude for academic work is the secret of success in life.

There is general agreement among these three groups that social skill, emotional stability and good moral character are more important than academic aptitude. The student who is good at learning is not necessarily the student who will be good at living.

But what is surprising about it? No one ever claimed IQ tests were useful for anything, except locating the likeliest candidates for academic distinction so teachers could know who they were. Certainly it should not be surprising that bright students are held in polite contempt by students who do not possess high aptitude for academic performance and that parents and even teachers see no connection between high intelligence and successful living.

There is a saying that successful Americans always can hire a Phi Beta Kappa to do their mental work for them—and the saying was not made of the whole cloth. Yet, there also is a sense of urgency in America about finding high IQ students and piling academic work on them.

Since Sputnik I, most Americans have brooded about a shortage of Hyman Rickover types to balance against an oversupply of extroverts with everything it takes to keep America strong and vital, except the intelligence to solve hard problems in mathematics, physics, chemistry, engineering and, in some instances, philosophy.

That's how IQ tests are used by educators—to spot this indispensable minority. An IQ is no indicator of success for an individual. But at this juncture in history, it has become an invaluable indicator of success for a nation.

To The Grange

The plaque for community service awarded the Hookstown Grange in Pennsylvania-wide competition serves again to remind of the important role the Grange plays.

The Hookstown group is symbolic of the many such organizations which function in Columbiana, Hancock and Beaver counties. The district can be proud of its many granges. Their work goes on year after year and the fruits of their efforts are great.

If you reside in a grange area and do not belong, why not become an active member. The new friendships you would make and the worthwhile services you could perform would bring much self-satisfaction.

They Must Be The First To Go

The word from Columbus is reassuring. The safety department of the Ohio Division of Highways will work hand in hand with the Ohio Department of Welfare to stop legally blind persons from driving automobiles.

Obviously, blind persons must be the first to go in any drive to make Ohio highways safer for motorists. There are 336 Ohioans who are legally blind yet are licensed to drive cars under Ohio's haphazard licensing law.

But before the illusion is created that blind persons are a terrific highway hazard, it would be a fine idea to ask for their records. How many highway accidents have blind persons caused in the last five years: The last 50 years?

We hear about irresponsible kids with souped-up cars, drunks, joy riders, loonies going 90 miles an hour, chronic speed demons, semi-professional clock-beaters, escaping thugs and sleepy-time boys killing themselves and one another. But we do not recall hearing about anyone legally qualified to receive help because of blindness being held in connection with any of the ghastly accidents commonplace on the highways.

By all means, blind drivers must be the first to go. But what category of drivers will be next? We nominate those who boast of going in a half hour where it takes the rest of us an hour to go—the cheerful killers who like to push the pedal to the floor and keep 'er there.

The Right Man

The death of Joseph N. Welch has caused an unprecedented public reaction. In a country not given to mourning the passing of persons who were not public officials, military heroes, or entertainment notables, this Boston lawyer built up a following of admirers.

They held him in esteem because he proved at a critical instant of the passing scene that dignity, humor, a sense of proportion and a sense of propriety could prevail over the hysteria, malice and confusion of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Perhaps a thousand lawyers like Joseph Welch could have scored the same effect in the same circumstances. But one lawyer, Joseph Welch, was challenged to prove a thousand lawyers might have been able to do the same thing. It made him a minor public favorite.

Americans liked him for it. They felt better because he had come through in a reassuring way when the chips were down. He went on to television and the movies and was as sure of himself in these mediums as he had been while upholding human dignity in the McCarthy hearings.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

First trip to the moon will be nothing new. Horse-race fans are making the trip daily in indignation at the discovery that Uncle Sam's fight for a slice in all daily doubles of $600 and more is for real.

They are going into outer space without the benefit of launching pad or cones.

There are more horse-players than horses breaking down. At Belmont the other day there was such indignation that the winners needed longer walks under trees to cool off than the horses did.

NOTHING HAS BEEN FUNNIER at the United Nations than Khrushchev, one of the world's least trusted men, branding Dag Hammarskjold as a man who can't be trusted.

Bernard Goldfine, after serving 90 days for contempt, asked delay in tax trial so he could get psychiatric treatment. Will he find a couch with vicuna upholstery?

Five gunmen robbed a big bus garage of $18,000 in less than 20 minutes. Speed was due to fact they didn't have to ask for transfers.

What the United States needs is a good 10-cent hot dog and a 1-cent hamburger.

Jack Kennedy says he is not attacking Ike but only Nixon. This makes him the first pitcher to develop a beanball that circles one of the bat-men.

"Witness" is another new TV show in which lawyers appear. There are so many on the airwave shows these days that a man trying to contact his attorney sometimes has to find out what channel he is on.

Giant Rallies Planned By Unions

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

Three national Republican leaders telephoned and telegraphed Ladies Garment Union President David Dubinsky some days ago. They were on as futile a quest as convincing Gov. Faubus and Lena Horne to cha-cha together. But the GOP chiefs did try to get Dubinsky to come on down to the garment center last Wednesday noon to greet Richard Nixon "non-partisanly."

Victor Riesel

Republican invitations to Dubinsky to join the vice president's sortie into the famed Seventh Ave., dress-making "jungle" came during the ebullient union chief's planning for a garment center rally of his own. Ther will be nothing non-partisan about the monster meting.

It will be in the tradition of Dubinsky's predilection for making history.

At noon on Oct. 27, the leader of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union will bring over a quarter of a million people onto the very same street where Dick Nixon talked to 20,000.

THIS WILL BE the ultimate in labor's political action. This will be the essence of labor's political campaigning. For on the platform with the labor chiefs and Sen. Kennedy and Mrs. Roosevelt will be one other—unseen by the eyes but grasped again by the minds of the hundreds of thousands. This will be the spirit of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

That will be the imagery of the largest single political rally of the campaign. That will be the imagery of another mass demonstration for Kennedy later that day.

At 4 p.m. Jack Potofsky, successor to the office and the cloak of Sidney Hillman, will lead 100,000 members of his men's Clothing Workers Union in a meeting expected to jam Union Square.

Because such men as Dubinsky see this campaign as the drive for another Rooseveltian era for American unions, they have hit the hustings with all they have.

Typical is the militant action of the International Ladies Garment workers, operating not through the Democratic party, but through the ILGWU's Campaign Committee.

Its sophistication in political action makes the old-time ward captains look like bi-planes alongside Boeing jets.

NEW YORK STATE may be the balance in this tight election. Should Jack Kennedy take the state, it will have been, I believe, this union's political action which swung it for him.

Whether it's setting the stage for the man from Boston or helping Lyndon B. Johnson invade Brooklyn on the day Dick Nixon rode into Manhattan, the campaign committee is skillfully handling the props.

On the day, for example that Dubinsky received a telegram from one of Dick Nixon's highly placed colleagues, "DD" was checking final plans for a series of national broadcasts over 250 radio stations. There are to be eight in all. Each costs $10,000.

The series started with Adlai Stevenson surrounded by some glamor. That was the night of Wednesday, Oct. 5.

The schedule calls for George Meany on the evening of Oct. 12; Mrs. Roosevelt on the 19th; Sen. Johnson on the 26th, and Jack Kennedy on Nov. 2.

There will be three other 15-minute programs—"The Role of the Liberals in This Campaign," "Religion in the Campaign" and a third probably pivoting on Carl Sandburg and the Lincoln saga.

THERE ARE PLANS, too, for televising the Oct. 27 garment rally. Dubinsky and his colleagues want all New York State to see it "live."

They would do more, if there were more to be done. They've hit the streets and the airwaves and the tens of thousands of doors of the nation's precincts.

But Tuesday night at a private dinner in the Capri restaurant, the leaders of labor got their greatest accolade. Dubinsky, the Hatters' Alex Rose, Walter Reuther, Arthur Goldberg, Roy Reuther and some others were told by the hardest working Kennedy of all—Robert—there is little more that any campaign manager could want.

The Enduring Man

By Raymond Moley

It was noteworthy that in Sen. Kennedy's listing of the horrible examples of Republicans from whom he aspires to deliver us, the names of Harding, Coolidge, Landon, Willkie and Dewey.

Note that one name was missing from his category of Republican rascals — the name of Herbert Hoover. And so, after many years, a Democratic candidate for president is not running against Hoover.

This remarkable change is due to the fact that after being the object of many years of partisan attack, the ex-president has emerged as one of the most revered individuals of the nation.

He has been called to the public service by Presidents Eisenhower and Truman and has labored with great dignity, moral force, and enlightened public service far beyond the span of life alloted to most men.

At 86 he is working a dozen hours a day in his apartment in New York, keeping seven or more secretaries and research assistants busy; personally answering thousands of letters; meeting with his friends, including the notable men of his time.

Usually he has guests at breakfast, lunch and dinner. He gives advice when asked, encouraging at all times the energies of younger man in asserting the moral leadership of the United States in the world.

IT WAS HOOVER who first urged the nomination of Henry Cabot Lodge as Nixon's running mate. That was a manifestation of discernment which the popularity of Lodge as a candidate is proving.

While Sen. Johnson has become almost the forgotten man on the Kennedy ticket, there is no doubt even among Democrats that Lodge is a great asset to the Nixon ticket.

As thousands can testify, the writing of an authoritative book is a prodigious task. It involves extensive research, consultations, and hours, days, and weeks of writing.

Hoover in his present task must direct research through hundreds of thousands of letters, memoranda and official documents here and abroad.

He writes the text laboriously in longhand, days on end at his desk in his study. He must check the typescript and the proofs.

Most professors half Hoover's age believe that one book in three years is a real achievement.

In 1951, when Hoover turned 77, there appeared the first of three thick and well-documented volumes of his memoirs. He was in his 80th year when President Eisenhower called him to the immense task of making a survey of the United States government.

That became the Second Hoover Commission, and the report comprised a whole shelf of books, all of which Hoover was required to plan, supervise and edit.

These labors were broken by trips to Germany in 1954 and Belgium in 1958.

As a sort of by-product of his major "American Epic" he produced his "Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson in 1958, a best-seller.

Within the past 12 months two sizable volumes of "An American Epic" have been published, and half of Vol. III is in the hands of the publisher, to appear early next year.

IN THESE DAYS when corporation executives, professors, and many others are considered past their usefulness and are retired at 65, this personal example of usefulness is something monumental.

It is a challenge to our customs and traditions.

It is vivid proof that in general we waste our years. We do not wear out with work.

And the volumes of "An American Epic" are not simply dry statistical reports. They are a moving story of American generosity in the period after World War I began in 1914 to the present.

In 45 years our help has saved the lives of more than a billion human beings.

The man who initiated these programs of help says this of the American effort:

"The return to our people has come through the demonstration to the world of ideals and power of a free people. And we have satisfied our conscience that we have not neglected our duty as 'our brother's keeper.'

This is something to keep in mind these days, while in a forum which in large measure was provided by the United States, we are assailed as "imperialists" and "colonizers" and "exploiters of others' misery" by the rulers of nations, including the Soviet Union, which have been the glad recipients of this help.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Miss Mildred Weaver, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Weaver of Pennsylvania Ave., a talented pianist, violinist and vocalist, presented a program during a district meeting of the Federation of Woman's Club at Toronto.

T. V. Milligan of East Liverpool was elected president of the Columbiana County Hardware Dealers Association.

Ten persons were injured, two seriously, in four auto crashes in East Liverpool and vicinity on Route 7 and near Lisbon.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Twenty students in the journalism class of the local high school had a real thrill when a "faked" holdup was staged to test their ability as reporters.

The Senior Class, for the second straight year, won the inter-class swimming meet at the "Y" pool.

TEN YEARS AGO — The Dr. Laza Serbian Singing Society of Midland presented a concert during the 50th anniversary celebration of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

A total of 129 cases of absences was investigated during the first month of school.

The Showman To Leave

K Gets More Attention Than Nixon, Kennedy

WASHINGTON

Now the presidential candidates can have their campaign back. Soviet Premier Khrushchev is going home.

For three weeks he has taken the play away from them again and again in newspapers and on television. He has a better change in pace than Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Ever since the campaign began they have operated on a high and very vague plane, always the gentlemen.

Not Khrushchev. He has mugged, threatened, demanded, scowled, grinned and switched from temper tantrums to fond embraces.

Even his departure —next Thursday night when the candidates are having their third TV debate — may interfere with the attention they get.

He's almost certain to say something to make front pages in the Friday morning papers before he flies home.

Just what he has accomplished on his trip to the United Nations in New York is not clear.

But what Nixon and Kennedy have accomplished so far in their campaign isn't clear, either. Even the polls look fuzzy on who's ahead.

It probably is better for everyone — including Khrushchev and the candidates — that he's leaving.

The campaign is moving into its critical period. If there's going to be any fire, it will have to come these next few weeks.

If Khrushchev hung around he'd probably mess things up a bit, including himself, and get the candidates talking about him instead of one another. He hasn't done well so far.

It's hardly likely Nixon and Kennedy can march right up to election day at their present rate.

If they're going to get rough, it will have to start soon, although it isn't certain that either man can start a blaze.

If they don't, this is going to be one of the dullest campaigns in a long time.

Khrushchev was overheated from the day he arrived, but he hasn't started the blaze. So far as can be seen he has performed three weeks without getting anything he wanted.

Yet the world has paid close attention not only to what he did but to what he said.

Nixon and Kennedy, in their TV debates, seem to have gotten more attention for how they performed than for what they said.

After the first meeting Republicans were depressed because many said Nixon's make-up made him look old and tired and because, from their viewpoint, he said too many times "I agree" with Kennedy.

As if to offset this "me, too" appearance, Nixon started off his second debate by announcing "I disagree" with Kennedy. All this was duly noted, along with Kennedy's mannerisms.

When it was all over the polls that were taken didn't show much change in voter sentiment. Khrushchev didn't make any progress in any voter contest in the United Nations either.

Master Of Rebuttal

By Jay G. Hayden

A mildly bizarre feature of the diplomatic hippodrome now going on in the United Nations is the emergence of James J. Wadsworth as immeasurably the most effective American performer in the history of that body.

Not that Wadsworth has accomplished this eminence by measuring speeches against Khrushchev, Castro and others by hands of the clock. Wadsworth's success, rather, has been beating potential rivals to the podium and there delivering some of the shortest and most succinct speeches the U.N. has known.

The classic in that line was delivered by Wadsworth last Saturday when, replying to one of violent anti-American assaults, he began by deploring the necessity for immediate reply for fear "I too would be intemperate," and concluded a 4-minute address with this paragraph:

"There is more freedom, there is more opportunity, there is more well-being for every American—I say every American, regardless of race, color or creed—than there is in any Communist country. Anybody who knows America knows this is so."

Wadsworth is the present U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, so selected by Henry Cabot Lodge who for 7½ years was the occupant of that post and is now Republican nominee for vice president.

CONSIDER the background of Wadsworth. In ancestry he is impeccable. His grandfather on his mother's side was John Hay, born modestly in Salem, Ind., but ranging in career from private secretary to President Abraham Lincoln (1860-65) to secretary of state under two presidents, William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt (1898-1905).

The pinnacle of Hay's service was his denunciation in 1903 of the policy of "open door" for China—meaning an effort to persuade foreign powers, especially Great Britain, Germany, Russia and Japan, to lay off their competitive seeking for trade advantages in China in return for a promise of free trade for everybody.

The paternal grandfather of the present U.N. ambassador was James Wolcott Wadsworth, a U.S. Civil War captain on the staff of Gen. C. K. Warren, and subsequently congressman from New York for 20 years—1881-85 and 1891-1907.

Father of the present U.N. ambassador was James Wadsworth Jr., who entered the U.S. Senate in 1915, aged 38, and held that seat until 1927.

The prime distinction of the latter, however, was that after he was knocked off for senator by Robert F. Wagner, due to a split of the Republican party over prohibition, he came back as member of the House of Representatives for 18 years (1933-51).

AS OFTEN HAPPENS, the present Wadsworth started off under the shadow of his distinguished ancestors. True, he followed his Wadsworth father and grandfather into the N.Y. Legislature, aged 26, and held that seat for 10 years.

After a spell in private life as industrial relations manager for the Curtiss-Wrigght Corp. he went to Washington with a minor job under President Truman. He remained in similar posts until President Eisenhower took over.

On the recommendation of Lodge, he was appointed first assistant U.S. representative of the U.N.

After sitting for six years at Lodge's elbow at U.N. headquarters, he has been occupied mainly as chief U.S. delegate in the three-power (U.S., Russian, British) atomic negotiation at Geneva.

In all his international capacities, Wadsworth has been enormously popular personally. Especially on social evenings he has become a great favorite, due to his capacity for singing delightful ditties to his own guitar accompaniment.

But it is true, also, that wherever he has served officially he has done his jobs well, up to the limits of the authority vested in him.

Wadsworth's big chance now lies in the fact that it is his special business to answer foreign blasphemers right off the cuff, with no chance for advance preparation and no time in which to ask higher-ups what he should say.

Undesirable Alien

After more than a century in the United States the English sparrow is still an undesirable alien, but the government has concluded it is here to stay.

Congress recently lifted a ban against importing the pugnacious little birds on the premise that so many are here already nobody could possibly want to bring in any more.

Tough and intelligent, the English sparrow adapts to life under the most harsh conditions. It thrives from torrid Death Valley to Siberia and amid the brick and concrete of large cities.

The English sparrow originated in Africa. It is a weaver finch and not related to North American sparrows. From Africa the bird spread into Europe where it is found in every country except Italy.

The sparrow gradually extended its range throughout the New World and was established in the Falkland Islands, New Zealand, Australia, the Philippines and the island of Mauritius in the Indian Ocean.

English sparrows, or house sparrows, were purposely introduced into the United States from England in 1850. Eight pairs liberated in Brooklyn failed to survive. Two years later, a larger group was released in the New York area. The flock lived, and in the next 30 years colonies were started at points from New England to Salt Lake City, Utah.

Odd Facts

The population of the earth increases at the rate of about 30 million a year, this increase being sufficient to populate a country the size of England.

Overseas travelers from the United States have found that the two most regulation-conscious countries in the world are their own country and Red China.

A snail spreads mucus on the surface it plans to cross which protects it so well it can move along the edge of a razor blade.

Much will be made of a University of Chicago survey that reflects a low opinion among parents and students of the qualities revealed by IQ tests. Even teachers, who like to instruct high IQ students, doubt that aptitude for academic work is the secret of success in life.

There is general agreement among these three groups that social skill, emotional stability and good moral character are more important than academic aptitude. The student who is good at learning is not necessarily the student who will be good at living.

But what is surprising about it? No one ever claimed IQ tests were useful for anything, except locating the likeliest candidates for academic distinction so teachers could know who they were. Certainly it should not be surprising that bright students are held in polite contempt by students who do not possess high aptitude for academic performance and that parents and even teachers see no connection between high intelligence and successful living.

There is a saying that successful Americans always can hire a Phi Beta Kappa to do their mental work for them—and the saying was not made of the whole cloth. Yet, there also is a sense of urgency in America about finding high IQ students and piling academic work on them.

Since Sputnik I, most Americans have brooded about a shortage of Hyman Rickover types to balance against an oversupply of extroverts with everything it takes to keep America strong and vital, except the intelligence to solve hard problems in mathematics, physics, chemistry, engineering and, in some instances, philosophy.

That's how IQ tests are used by educators—to spot this indispensable minority. An IQ is no indicator of success for an individual. But at this juncture in history, it has become an invaluable indicator of success for a nation.

To The Grange

The plaque for community service awarded the Hookstown Grange in Pennsylvania-wide competition serves again to remind of the important role the Grange plays.

The Hookstown group is symbolic of the many such organizations which function in Columbiana, Hancock and Beaver counties. The district can be proud of its many granges. Their work goes on year after year and the fruits of their efforts are great.

If you reside in a grange area and do not belong, why not become an active member. The new friendships you would make and the worthwhile services you could perform would bring much self-satisfaction.

They Must Be The First To Go

The word from Columbus is reassuring. The safety department of the Ohio Division of Highways will work hand in hand with the Ohio Department of Welfare to stop legally blind persons from driving automobiles.

Obviously, blind persons must be the first to go in any drive to make Ohio highways safer for motorists. There are 526 Ohioans who are legally blind yet are licensed to drive cars under Ohio's haphazard licensing law.

But before the illusion is created that blind persons are a terrific highway hazard, it would be a fine idea to ask for their records. How many highway accidents have blind persons caused in the last five years: The last 10 years?

We hear about irresponsible kids with souped-up cars, drunks, joy riders, loonies going 90 miles an hour, chronic speed demons, semi-professional clock-beaters, escaping thugs and sleepy-time boys killing themselves and one another. But we do not recall hearing about anyone legally qualified to receive help because of blindness being held in connection with any of the ghastly accidents commonplace on the highways.

By all means, blind drivers must be the first to go. But what category of drivers will be next? We nominate those who boast of going in a half hour where it takes the rest of us an hour to go—the cheerful killers who like to push the pedal to the floor and keep 'er there.

The Right Man

The death of Joseph N. Welch has caused an unprecedented public reaction. In a country not given to mourning the passing of persons who were not public officials, military heroes, or entertainment notables, this Boston lawyer built up a following of admirers.

They held him in esteem because he proved at a critical instant of the passing scene that dignity, humor, a sense of proportion and a sense of propriety could prevail over the hysteria, malice and confusion of the Army-McCarthy hearings.

Perhaps a thousand lawyers like Joseph Welch could have scored the same effect in the same circumstances. But one lawyer, Joseph Welch, was challenged to prove a thousand lawyers might have been able to do the same thing. It made him a minor public favorite.

Americans liked him for it. They felt better because he had come through in a reassuring way when the chips were down. He went on to television and the movies and was as sure of himself in these mediums as he had been while upholding human dignity in the McCarthy hearings.

First trip to the moon will be nothing new. Horse-race fans are making the trip daily in indignation at the discovery that Uncle Sam's fight for a slice in all daily doubles of $600 and more is for real.

They are going into outer space without the benefit of launching pad or cones.

There are more horse-players than horses breaking down. At Belmont the other day there was such indignation that the winners needed longer walks under trees to cool off than the horses did.

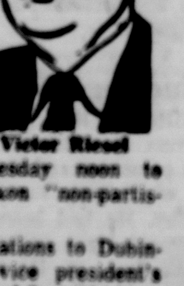
Giant Rallies Planned By Unions

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK

Three national Republican leaders telephoned and telegraphed Ladies Garment Union President David Dubinsky some days ago. They were on as futile a quest as convincing Gov. Faubus and Lena Horne to cha-cha together. But the GOP chiefs did try to get Dubinsky to come on down to the garment center last Wednesday noon to greet Richard Nixon "non-partisanly."



Victor Riesel

Republican invitations to Dubinsky to join the vice president's sortie into the famed Seventh Ave., dress-making "jungle" came during the ebullient union chief's planning for a garment center rally of his own. Ther will be nothing non-partisan about the monster meting.

It will be in the tradition of Dubinsky's predilection for making history.

At noon on Oct. 27, the leader of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union will bring over a quarter of a million people onto the very same street where Dick Nixon talked to 20,000.

THIS WILL BE the ultimate in labor's political action. This will be the essence of labor's political campaigning. For on the platform with the labor chiefs and Sen. Kennedy and Mrs. Roosevelt will be one other—unseen by the eyes but grasped again by the minds of the hundreds of thousands. This will be the spirit of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

That will be the imagery of the largest single political rally of the campaign. That will be the imagery of another mass demonstration for Kennedy later that day.

At 4 p.m. Jack Potofsky, successor to the office and the cloak of Sidney Hillman, will lead 100,000 members of his men's Clothing Workers Union in a meeting expected to jam Union Square.

Because such men as Dubinsky see this campaign as the drive for another Rooseveltian era for American unions, they have hit the hustings with all they have.

Typical is the militant action of the International Ladies Garment workers, operating not through the Democratic party, but through the ILGWU's Campaign Committee.

Its sophistication in political action makes the old-time ward captains look like bi-planes alongside Boeing jets.

NEW YORK STATE may be the balance in this tight election. Should Jack Kennedy take the state, it will have been, I believe, this union's political action which swung it for him.

Whether it's setting the stage for the man from Boston or helping Lyndon B. Johnson invade Brooklyn on the day Dick Nixon rode into Manhattan, the campaign committee is skillfully handling the props.

On the day, for example that Dubinsky received a telegram from one of Dick Nixon's highly placed colleagues, "DD" was checking final plans for a series of national broadcasts over 250 radio stations. There are to be eight in all. Each costs $30,000.

The series started with Adlai Stevenson surrounded by some glamor. That was the night of Wednesday, Oct. 5.

The schedule calls for George Meany on the evening of Oct. 12; Mrs. Roosevelt on the 19th; Sen. Johnson on the 26th, and Jack Kennedy on Nov. 2.

There will be three other 15-minute programs—"The Role of the Liberals in This Campaign," "Religion in the Campaign" and a third probably pivoting on Carl Sandburg and the Lincoln saga.

THERE ARE PLANS, too, for televising the Oct. 27 garment rally. Dubinsky and his colleagues want all New York State to see it "live."

They would do more, if there were more to be done. They've hit the streets and the airwaves and the tens of thousands of doors of the nation's precincts.

But Tuesday night at a private dinner in the Capri restaurant, the leaders of labor got their greatest accolade. Dubinsky, the Hatters' Alex Rose, Walter Reuther, Arthur Goldberg, Roy Reuther and some others were told by the hardest working Kennedy of all—Robert—there is little more that any campaign manager could want.

The Enduring Man

By Raymond Moley

It was noteworthy that in Sen. Kennedy's listing of the horrible examples of Republicans from whom he aspires to deliver us, the names of Harding, Coolidge, Landon, Willkie and Dewey.

Note that one name was missing from his category of Republican rascals — the name of Herbert Hoover. And so, after many years, a Democratic candidate for president is not running against Hoover.

This remarkable change is due to the fact that after being the object of many years of partisan attack, the ex-president has emerged as one of the most revered individuals of the nation.

He has been called to the public service by Presidents Eisenhower and Truman and has labored with great dignity, moral force, and enlightened public service far beyond the span of life alloted to most men.

At 86 he is working a dozen hours a day in his apartment in New York, keeping seven or more secretaries and research assistants busy; personally answering thousands of letters; meeting with his friends, including the notable men of his time.

Usually he has guests at breakfast, lunch and dinner. He gives advice when asked, encouraging at all times the energies of younger man in asserting the moral leadership of the United States in the world.

IT WAS HOOVER who first urged the nomination of Henry Cabot Lodge as Nixon's running mate. That was a manifestation of discernment which the popularity of Lodge as a candidate is proving.

While Sen. Johnson has become almost the forgotten man on the Kennedy ticket, there is no doubt even among Democrats that Lodge is a great asset to the Nixon ticket.

As thousands can testify, the writing of an authoritative book is a prodigious task. It involves extensive research, consultations, and hours, days, and weeks of writing.

Hoover in his present task must direct research through hundreds of thousands of letters, memoranda and official documents here and abroad.

He writes the text laboriously in longhand, days on end at his desk in his study. He must check the typescript and the proofs.

Most professors half Hoover's age believe that one book in three years is a real achievement.

In 1951, when Hoover turned 77, there appeared the first of three thick and well-documented volumes of his memoirs. He was in his 80th year when President Eisenhower called him to the immense task of making a survey of the United States government.

That became the Second Hoover Commission, and the report comprised a whole shelf of books, all of which Hoover was required to plan, supervise and edit.

These labors were broken by trips to Germany in 1954 and Belgium in 1958.

As a sort of by-product of his major "American Epic" he produced his "Ordeal of Woodrow Wilson in 1958, a best-seller.

Within the past 12 months two sizable volumes of "An American Epic" have been published, and half of Vol. III is in the hands of the publisher, to appear early next year.

IN THESE DAYS when corporation executives, professors, and many others are considered past their usefulness and are retired at 65, this personal example of usefulness is something monumental.

It is a challenge to our customs and traditions.

It is vivid proof that in general we waste our years. We do not wear out with work.

And the volumes of "An American Epic" are not simply dry statistical reports. They are a moving story of American generosity in the period after World War I began in 1914 to the present.

In 45 years our help has saved the lives of more than a billion human beings.

The man who initiated these programs of help says this of the American effort:

"The return to our people has come through the demonstration to the world of ideals and power of a free people. And we have satisfied our conscience that we have not neglected our duty as 'our brother's keeper.'"

This is something to keep in mind these days, while in a forum which in large measure was provided by the United States, we are assailed as "imperialists" and "colonizers" and "exploiters of others' misery" by the rulers of nations, including the Soviet Union, which have been the glad recipients of this help.

K Gets More Attention Than Nixon, Kennedy

WASHINGTON

Now the presidential candidates can have their campaign back. Soviet Premier Khrushchev is going home.

For three weeks he has taken the play away from them again and again in newspapers and on television. He has a better change in pace than Vice President Richard M. Nixon or Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Ever since the campaign began they have operated on a high and very vague plane, always the gentlemen.

Not Khrushchev. He has mugged, threatened, demanded, scowled, grinned and switched from temper tantrums to fond embraces.

Even his departure —next Thursday night when the candidates are having their third TV debate — may interfere with the attention they get.

He's almost certain to say something to make front pages in the Friday morning papers before he flies home.

Just what he has accomplished on his trip to the United Nations in New York is not clear.

But what Nixon and Kennedy have accomplished so far in their campaign isn't clear, either. Even the polls look fuzzy on who's ahead.

It probably is better for everyone — including Khrushchev and the candidates — that he's leaving.

The campaign is moving into its critical period. If there's going to be any fire, it will have to come these next few weeks.

If Khrushchev hung around he'd probably mess things up a bit, including himself, and get the candidates talking about him instead of one another. He hasn't done well so far.

It's hardly likely Nixon and Kennedy can march right up to election day at their present rate.

If they're going to get rough, it will have to start soon, although it isn't certain that either man can start a blaze.

If they don't, this is going to be one of the dullest campaigns in a long time.

Khrushchev was overheated from the day he arrived, but he hasn't started the blaze. So far as can be seen he has performed three weeks without getting anything he wanted.

Yet the world has paid close attention not only to what he did but to what he said.

Nixon and Kennedy, in their TV debates, seem to have gotten more attention for how they performed than for what they said.

After the first meeting Republicans were depressed because many said Nixon's make-up made him look old and tired and because, from their viewpoint, he said too many times "I agree" with Kennedy.

As if to offset this "me, too" appearance, Nixon started off his second debate by announcing "I disagree" with Kennedy. All this was duly noted, along with Kennedy's mannerisms.

When it was all over the polls that were taken didn't show much change in voter sentiment. Khrushchev didn't make any progress in any voter contest in the United Nations either.

Master Of Rebuttal

By Jay G. Hayden

A mildly bizarre feature of the diplomatic hippodrome now going on in the United Nations is the emergence of James J. Wadsworth as immeasurably the most effective American performer in the history of that body.

Not that Wadsworth has accomplished this eminence by measuring speeches against Khrushchev, Castro and others by hands of the clock. Wadsworth's success, rather, has been beating potential rivals to the podium and there delivering some of the shortest and most succinct speeches the U.N. has known.

The classic in that line was delivered by Wadsworth last Saturday when, replying to one of violent anti-American assaults, he began by deploring the necessity for immediate reply for fear "I too would be intemperate," and concluded a 4-minute address with this paragraph:

"There is more freedom, there is more opportunity, there is more well-being for every American—I say every American, regardless of race, color or creed—than there is in any Communist country. Anybody who knows America knows this is so."

Wadsworth is the present U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, so selected by Henry Cabot Lodge who for 7½ years was the occupant of that post and is now Republican nominee for vice president.

CONSIDER the background of Wadsworth. In ancestry he is impeccable. His grandfather on his mother's side was John Hay, born modestly in Salem, Ind., but ranging in career from private secretary to President Abraham Lincoln (1860-65) to secretary of state under two presidents, William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt (1898-1905).

The pinnacle of Hay's service was his denunciation in 1903 of the policy of "open door" for China—meaning an effort to persuade foreign powers, especially Great Britain, Germany, Russia and Japan, to lay off their competitive seeking for trade advantages in China in return for a promise of free trade for everybody.

The paternal grandfather of the present U.N. ambassador was James Wolcott Wadsworth, a U.S. Civil War captain on the staff of Gen. C. K. Warren, and subsequently congressman from New York for 20 years—1881-85 and 1891-1907.

Father of the present U.N. ambassador was James Wadsworth Jr., who entered the U.S. Senate in 1915, aged 38, and held that seat until 1927.

The prime distinction of the latter, however, was that after he was knocked off for senator by Robert F. Wagner, due to a split of the Republican party over prohibition, he came back as member of the House of Representatives for 18 years (1933-51).

AS OFTEN HAPPENS, the present Wadsworth started off under the shadow of his distinguished ancestors. True, he followed his Wadsworth father and grandfather into the N.Y. Legislature, aged 26, and held that seat for 10 years.

After a spell in private life as industrial relations manager for the Curtiss-Wright Corp. he went to Washington with a minor job under President Truman. He remained in similar posts until President Eisenhower took over.

On the recommendation of Lodge, he was appointed first assistant U.S. representative of the U.N.

After sitting for six years at Lodge's elbow at U.N. headquarters, he has been occupied mainly as chief U.S. delegate in the three-power (U.S., Russian, British) atomic negotiation at Geneva.

In all his international capacities, Wadsworth has been enormously popular personally. Especially on social evenings he has become a great favorite, due to his capacity for singing delightful ditties to his own guitar accompaniment.

But it is true, also, that wherever he has served officially he has done his jobs well, up to the limits of the authority vested in him.

Wadsworth's big chance now lies in the fact that it is his special business to answer foreign blasphemers right off the cuff, with no chance for advance preparation and no time in which to ask higher-ups what he should say.

Undesirable Alien

After more than a century in the United States the English sparrow is still an undesirable alien, but the government has concluded it is here to stay.

Congress recently lifted a ban against importing the pugnacious little birds on the premise that so many are here already nobody could possibly want to bring in any more.

Tough and intelligent, the English sparrow adapts to life under the most harsh conditions. It thrives from torrid Death Valley to Siberia and amid the brick and concrete of large cities.

The English sparrow originated in Africa. It is a weaver finch and not related to North American sparrows. From Africa the bird spread into Europe where it is found in every country except Italy.

The sparrow gradually extended its range throughout the New World and was established in the Falkland Islands, New Zealand, Australia, the Philippines and the island of Mauritius in the Indian Ocean.

English sparrows, or house sparrows, were purposely introduced into the United States from England in 1850. Eight pairs liberated in Brooklyn failed to survive. Two years later, a larger group was released in the New York area. The flock lived, and in the next 30 years colonies were started at points from New England to Salt Lake City, Utah.

Odd Facts

The population of the earth increases at the rate of about 30 million a year, this increase being sufficient to populate a country the size of England.

Overseas travelers from the United States have found that the two most regulation-conscious countries in the world are their own country and Red China.

A snail spreads mucus on the surface it plans to cross which protects it so well it can move along the edge of a razor blade.

Pickets Pass G.E. Workers

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—The striking International Union of Electrical Workers permitted nonstrikers to enter the General Electric Co. plant here today for the first time since the union posted pickets last Thursday.

John Shambo, president of Local 301, said the local's executive board had decided Sunday it would be unfair to continue barring salaried workers because salaried workers were entering struck GE plants elsewhere.

Shambo also said the local had proved that it could close the plant, which is GE headquarters. Last week, city officials declared a state of emergency after violence.

The union estimated at least 3,500 pickets were on duty today but said they had been instructed not to bar entry.

More violence had been feared here and in Syracuse, N. Y., but none was reported in either city this morning as the union's nationwide strike against the company entered its second week.

The number of employes who reported for work in each city was not determined immediately.

In Syracuse, several strikers drove their automobiles inside GE's Electronics Park, parked them so they would block the gates, locked the cars and left.

Company security guards summoned tow trucks and had the cars hauled to the plant parking lots. Some car windows were broken so that the vehicles could be removed from the gates.

One woman was arrested in Syracuse for failing to obey a police order to halt her car.

About 600 IUE members appeared at their Syracuse quarters for a 5 a.m. meeting.

In Schenectady, some sections of the fence at the plant had been taken down, reportedly to make it easier for nonstrikers to enter the plant grounds.

With picket activity lessened, some of the Schenectady nonstrikers entered the main gate in small groups. Others reported for work through gates in suburban Rotterdam, into which the plant spreads.

A state of emergency was declared in Schenectady after violence flared last week. The plant employs 22,000, of whom IUE claims to represent 8,700.

Tacks Damage Tires Of G.E. Plant Workers

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — General Electric Co. workmen who are crossing the picket lines to work in the struck River Works plant here got more than 2,000 punctures last week when their cars rolled over a carpet of roofing nails.

The company sent out a truck with a magnetic sweeper to clear the streets.

Police reported a new twist today—they said the three main entrances to the plant were splashed with a sticky, tar-like substance during the night and nails thrown in it.

The nails are aluminum and the magnet truck can't pick them up.

The company closed two entrances and had a truck spread a deep layer of sand over the nails at a third.

Jaw Surgery Awaited By Aspiring 'Middie'

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A 19-year-old Springfield youth enters a Detroit, Mich., hospital today to undergo surgery for a jutting jaw. The U.S. Naval Academy turned him down because of it.

Martin Griffith is prepared to spend several weeks in the hospital, so anxious is he to become a midshipman.

Griffith passed the academy's academic examination and was perfect on physical requirements except for one thing—his lower jaw is pushed forward, a condition he was born with.

Air Of Mystery Remains In Steubenville Bombings

STEUBENVILLE — An air of mystery still surrounds the Saturday morning bombings of the homes of Mayor Samuel S. McCormick and Atty. Hugo Alexander as police continue their investigation.

Both the Democratic mayor and Atty. Alexander, Jefferson County Democratic Executive Committee chairman, insisted today they still could provide no help to police on possible motives for the bombings. No one was injured in the two blasts, which occurred minutes apart.

Steubenville police reportedly believe there might be some connection between the crackdown on vice and gambling by the mayor's administration. Atty. Alexander had supported the mayor's position in opposing hoodlum elements in the city.

The first blast at 2:20 a. m. Saturday was under the window of the mayor's apartment, and the second followed at the residence of Atty. Alexander in the fashionable Woodlawn Ave. district.

"As a party leader, I'm always trying to do favors for people, not hurt them," Atty. Alexander said. "This thing's got me flabbergasted."

Mayor McCormick also expressed puzzlement. He said he knew of no one whose enmity he had aroused.

About 11 windows were blown out in the first blast and several windows and a door were blown out and damaged in the second, ripping loose an iron railing at Atty. Alexander's home about a mile away.

Detectives have agreed that each blast has been caused by a half stick of dynamite.

Mayor McCormick told police that about three months ago he had received several threatening telephone calls. He reportedly said that he had been warned he had better "let Steubenville open up or else."

Alexander indicated that the blast at his home might have been the work of a disgruntled person who had come to him for a job.

"A lot of my work involves finding jobs for people," the Democratic county chairman said. "Maybe I disappointed someone."

Since taking over as mayor in Steubenville last January, McCormick has gradually been closing down most of the vice operations in the city and Alexander has been one of the mayor's principal supporters.

Highest recorded temperature in the shade was recorded at Azizia, Libya, on Sept. 13, 1922, when the mercury hit 136 degrees Fahrenheit.

Explosion Hits Struck Company Near Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A stick of dynamite exploded against an electric power line pole outside the struck Superior Mold and Die Co. at nearby Monroe Falls about 6:30 a.m. today.

The blast did not knock out power to the plant but broke about 40 plant windows. No one was injured.

Superior Mold and Die was struck by United Auto Workers Local 479 on Aug. 19 but continued to operate. Three workers have been cited for contempt in violating a picket-limitation set by court.

Pickets Pass G.E. Workers

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—The striking International Union of Electrical Workers permitted nonstrikers to enter the General Electric Co. plant here today for the first time since the union posted pickets last Thursday.

John Shambo, president of Local 301, said the local's executive board had decided Sunday it would be unfair to continue barring salaried workers because salaried workers were entering struck GE plants elsewhere.

Shambo also said the local had proved that it could close the plant, which is GE headquarters. Last week, city officials declared a state of emergency after violence.

The union estimated at least 3,500 pickets were on duty today but said they had been instructed not to bar entry.

More violence had been feared here and in Syracuse, N. Y., but none was reported in either city this morning as the union's nationwide strike against the company entered its second week.

The number of employes who reported for work in each city was not determined immediately.

In Syracuse, several strikers drove their automobiles inside GE's Electronics Park, parked them so they would block the gates, locked the cars and left.

Company security guards summoned tow trucks and had the cars hauled to the plant parking lots. Some car windows were broken so that the vehicles could be removed from the gates.

One woman was arrested in Syracuse for failing to obey a police order to halt her car.

About 600 IUE members appeared at their Syracuse quarters for a 5 a.m. meeting.

In Schenectady, some sections of the fence at the plant had been taken down, reportedly to make it easier for nonstrikers to enter the plant grounds.

With picket activity lessened, some of the Schenectady nonstrikers entered the main gate in small groups. Others reported for work through gates in suburban Rotterdam, into which the plant spreads.

A state of emergency was declared in Schenectady after violence flared last week. The plant employs 22,000, of whom IUE claims to represent 8,700.

Tacks Damage Tires Of G.E. Plant Workers

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — General Electric Co. workmen who are crossing the picket lines to work in the struck River Works plant here got more than 2,000 punctures last week when their cars rolled over a carpet of roofing nails.

The company sent out a truck with a magnetic sweeper to clear the streets.

Police reported a new twist today—they said the three main entrances to the plant were splashed with a sticky, tar-like substance during the night and nails thrown in it.

The nails are aluminum and the magnet truck can't pick them up.

The company closed two entrances and had a truck spread a deep layer of sand over the nails at a third.

Jaw Surgery Awaited By Aspiring 'Middie'

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A 19 - year - old Springfield youth enters a Detroit, Mich., hospital today to undergo surgery for a jutting jaw. The U.S. Naval Academy turned him down because of it.

Martin Griffith is prepared to spend several weeks in the hospital, so anxious is he to become a midshipman.

Griffith passed the academy's academic examination and was perfect on physical requirements except for one thing—his lower jaw is pushed forward, a condition he was born with.

Air Of Mystery Remains In Steubenville Bombings

STEUBENVILLE — An air of mystery still surrounds the Saturday morning bombings of the homes of Mayor Samuel S. McCormick and Atty. Hugo Alexander as police continue their investigation.

Both the Democratic mayor and Atty. Alexander, Jefferson County Democratic Executive Committee chairman, insisted today they still could provide no help to police on possible motives for the bombings. No one was injured in the two blasts, which occurred minutes apart.

Steubenville police reportedly belive there might be some connection between the crackdown on vice and gambling by the mayor's administration. Atty. Alexander had supported the mayor's position in opposing hoodlum elements in the city.

The first blast at 2:20 a. m. Saturday was under the window of the mayor's apartment, and the second followed at the residence of Atty. Alexander in the fashionable Woodlawn Ave. district.

"As a party leader, I'm always trying to do favors for people, not hurt them," Atty. Alexander said. "This thing's got me flabbergasted."

Mayor McCormick also expressed puzzlement. He said he knew of no one whose enmity he had aroused.

About 11 windows were blown out in the first blast and several windows and a door were blown out and damaged in the second, ripping loose an iron railing at Atty. Alexander's home about a mile away.

Detectives have agreed that each blast has been caused by a half stick of dynamite.

Mayor McCormick told police that about three months ago he had received several threatening telephone calls. He reportedly said that he had been warned he had better "let Steubenville open up or else."

Alexander indicated that the blast at his home might have been the work of a disgruntled person who had come to him for a job.

"A lot of my work involves finding jobs for people," the Democratic county chairman said. "Maybe I disappointed someone."

Since taking over as mayor in Steubenville last January, McCormick has gradually been closing down most of the vice operations in the city and Alexander has been one of the mayor's principal supporters.

Highest recorded temperature in the shade was recorded at Azizia, Libya, on Sept. 13, 1922, when the mercury hit 136 degrees Fahrenheit.

Explosion Hits Struck Company Near Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A stick of dynamite exploded against an electric power line pole outside the struck Superior Mold and Die Co. at nearby Monroe Falls about 6:30 a.m. today.

The blast did not knock out power to the plant but broke about 40 plant windows. No one was injured.

Superior Mold and Die was struck by United Auto Workers Local 479 on Aug. 19 but continued to operate. Three workers have been cited for contempt in violating a picket-limitation set by court.

Kennedy

Stephen M. Young, who were scheduled to accompany Sen. Kennedy to Salem, did not appear.

The reception Kennedy received following his address approached mob action, as the crowd surged forward for a closer look at the candidate when he stepped down from the speaker's platform. The police had difficulty clearing a path for him to return to his car.

It was the first time a presidential candidate had spoken in Salem for as long as old-timers could remember.

A motorcycle ridden by Auxiliary Policeman John Vogt of Youngstown bumped the rear of Kennedy's car and toppled over when the pace of the car was slowed abruptly at the north edge of the city on the return to the airport in Youngstown. Kennedy had the driver stop the car and hopped out to inquire whether Vogt was hurt. He wasn't.

Earlier yesterday afternoon, the senator drew vast crowds when he spoke in Youngstown and Warren. Estimates were that 60,000 persons heard him in the Square at Youngstown and 42,000 at Warren. The senator's motorcade also passed through Girard, Niles, Canfield and Boardman.

The enthusiastic crowds which greeted Sen. Kennedy on his 100-mile swing brought renewed predictions from Democratic party leaders that Kennedy will win the state's 25 electoral votes.

Following his appearance here, Kennedy was told by Gov. DiSalle: "If you can draw a crowd like this in a Republican county, you have nothing to worry about in November."

The senator chose the steel centers of Youngstown and Warren to stress the slump in steel production. He said the Republican administration is partially to blame for what he called the "steel crisis."

Kennedy's reception was wild all along the route. He stopped his motorcade briefly at several places to shake hands with people gathered along the roadside, pat babies and accept bouquets and small gifts.

In Girard, where no stop had been planned, he stopped, took a hand microphone and told several hundred persons gathered around his convertible that if elected he would "work at the presidency 365 days a year."

Kennedy Lauds FDR In Speech In Georgia

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP)— Sen. John F. Kennedy, making his first invasion of the Deep South in his presidential campaign, today praised Franklin D. Roosevelt in a speech at the Little White House for helping "open new doors to the Negro."

The Democratic nominee chose this spot with its many Roosevelt associations for an attempt to rally support in a normally Democratic section where Vice President Richard M. Nixon hopes to make heavy inroads.

Kennedy said "no Democrat, and particularly no Democrat who aspires to be president, can stand on this spot without mingled feelings of awe and gratitude—all for the great man who lived here, worked here and died here."

He said Roosevelt "raised a Democratic banner that we can be proud to raise today—a banner that summoned all Americans in every section, in every walk of life, in every race and creed."

"Franklin Roosevelt knew who had been ignored and omitted by 12 years of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover," Kennedy said.

"And he set about to help them—to remember the forgotten man, to light the farms, to help the aged, to protect the worker, to open new doors to the Negro, to care for the needs of millions of Americans in a thousand different ways."

The Democratic contender made these references to equal opportunity for the Negro and to the need for solving racial problems in his prepared text but did not go into any detailed discussion of his civil rights views.

Nixon repeatedly has challenged Kennedy to give his stand on this subject in the South as well as in the North. The senator has answered that he has discussed civil rights in every one of his southern speeches.

The principal theme of the speech here was the need for greater effort in the field of health and medical care.

Some 500 student journalists from 70 Ohio high schools attended.

Other students who attended included Charleen Bailey, Cathy Baumgarner, Joan Gilmore, Jennifer Grove, Kathy Kaufman and Diane Marchette, seniors; Janet Pepin, a junior, and Judy Manypenny and Judy Prager, sophomores.

They were accompanied by Ira Sayre, Keramos Echo advisor.

Boy Got 'Shock' In Stabbing Case

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Police quoted a 14-year-old boy as saying he got "a shock, like sticking your finger in an electric socket," when he critically stabbed a 5-year-old girl with a small knife as she kicked and screamed at his attempts to molest her.

The girl, Sally Ann Hayard, was reported still in critical condition today but improving after a five-hour operation. She suffered a stab wound of the chest and nine puncture wounds of the abdomen. Her left cheek was slashed from forehead to the chin.

Her alleged assailant, Leo Reilly Jr., was charged with assault with intent to rape, kill and ravish, and aggravated assault and battery by knife. Authorities said the girl had not been raped.

Detectives said Sally Ann was enticed from a playground in the center of the housing project where she lived at dusk Saturday by Reilly who promised her candy.

Officers quoted Reilly, released last August from a home for boys after serving a year for aggravated assault and battery, as saying he carried the child inside the basement of a nearby home.

Late Saturday night, Sally, reported missing by her mother, Doris Hayward, 29, was found in a corner of a wooden storage bin.

Detectives said they were led to Reilly by Francis Knoll, 14, who told police he had seen him enter the basement with a little girl.

2 Blazes Launch 'Anti-Fire' Week

Fire Prevention Week got off to a fiery start here Sunday with firemen answering two alarms, neither of which caused extensive damage.

The department was called to the home of Albert Brooks, 652½ Lincoln Ave., at 8:36 p. m. when a sofa caught fire, apparently from a cigarette which had been smouldering for some time.

No one was at home when the fire first broke out. Brooks told firemen he returned and found the house filled with smoke.

The smoke was so thick firemen had to use an exhaust fan to blow the smoke out and then wear oxygen masks to carry the sofa outside, where a booster line was used to quell the blaze.

The department was called to the home of Roy Sell, 1927 Allison St., at 11:40 a. m. to extinguish a brush fire. Sell was burning brush, but the fire got out of control and into some evergreen trees, firemen said.

Rowena Winters Of Lisbon Weds Donald McCartney

LISBON — Observing the traditions, Miss Rowena Mae Winters wore a 125-year-old family heirloom gold bracelet engraved with forget-me-nots and carried an Italian handmade linen handerchief of a friend when she became the bride of Donald Ray McCartney Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rondo Winters of Lincoln Highway, East, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCartney of the Salem Rd.

Mrs. Vernon Duke presented organ nuptial music and Mrs. Thomas Richardson of Columbiana sang "Oh, Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The Rev. C. O. Armstrong, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms, ferns and white roses, with lighted tapers in seven-branch candelabra.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace. The molded bodice featured a high neckline with petite collar highlighted with opalescent sequins and pearls and long, tapered sleeves. Tiers of lace formed the bouffant skirt and swept into a chapel train.

A peaked cap matching the dress held in place her fingertip veil of silk illusion trimmed also in sequins and pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid corsage and cascading satin streamers tied in lovers knots.

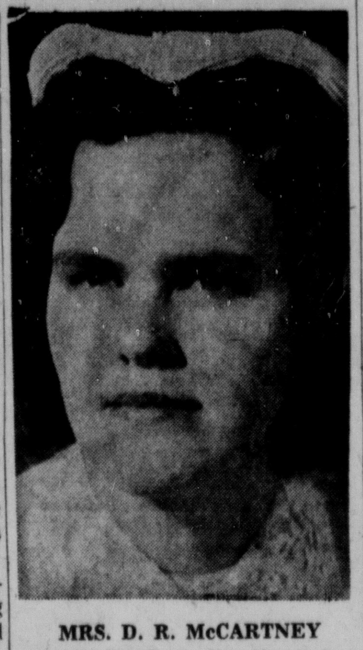
Mrs. Robert Easterday of Pittsburgh was matron of honor. Her ballerina-length gown of light blue silk organza was styled with a scoop neckline and satin bows at the waist. She wore a floral headpiece.

Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Joy of Salem and Mrs. Russell Gains of Alliance, cousins of the bride, and Miss Betty McCartney of Salem, sister of the bridegroom. They were attired in deep blue gowns of identical style to that of the matron of honor and all wore pearl earrings, gifts of the bride. They carved Colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations to match their headpieces.

Nancy Joy of Salem and Bonnie Winters of Alliance, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. They wore light blue nylon dresses with floral headpieces and carried white baskets of pink and white petals. They were given strands of pearls.

Bruce Souder of Lisbon was ring bearer.

Albert Doyle of Salem was best man and Steve Vaughn and Harry McCartney of Salem, a brother of the bridegroom, and Eugene Winters of North Benton, cousin of the bride, ushered. They received cuff link sets as gifts from the bridegroom.



MRS. D. R. McCARTNEY
Bride Of Saturday Nuptials.

The mother of the bride chose a blue lace dress with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a slate blue print jacket dress with white accessories. Each had corsages of pink rosebuds.

A reception for some 200 followed in the social room. A three-tier wedding cake decorated with pink and white rosebuds centered the buffet table, laid in white with white tapers in crystal holders.

Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. Clegg Simpson of Alliance, Mrs. Donald VanDyne of East Liverpool and Mrs. John Winters, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Jesse Wilson and Mrs. George Williams.

Mrs. George Sponseller of Alliance, cousin of the bride, was at the guest register.

Guests were from Cleveland, Columbus, Lancaster, Mentor, Marietta, New Matamoras, Amsterdam, Columbiana, Leetonia, East Liverpool, Salem, North Benton, Petersburg, Beaver Falls, East Vandergrift, Rochester and Newell.

For her wedding trip to the Swift Water Lodge in the Pocono Mountains, the bride wore a blue and gray plaid suit with matching accessories and her wedding corsage. They will reside in a newly-furnished apartment in Salem.

The bride, a graduate of David Anderson High School and of the Ohio Valley Business College of East Liverpool, is employed in the offices of the Demming Co. at Salem.

Her husband, a graduate of Salem High School, works for the Bertelson Co. at Leetonia.

After rehearsal Friday evening, the bridegroom's parents entertained the wedding party at Grady's Restaurant on Rt. 9 near Salem.

MRS. R. L. CRAFT
She Was Carol Anne Fultz.

Ronald L. Crafts Reside In Lima After Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lee Craft are residing at Lima following their marriage Sept. 17 in the Christ Episcopal Church there.

The bride was Miss Carol Anne Fultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell C. Fultz of Lima, former residents of Wellsville, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Craft of Lima. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Police Chief John H. Fultz and Dr. Eugene P. Neitz of Wellsville.

The Rev. Stephen M. Kelker of Sherril, N. Y., former rector, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar of chrysanthemums, ferns and lighted tapers.

Mrs. N. W. Betcher, formerly of Wellsville, was soloist and Mrs. David Fulleton was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. Her coronet of pearls and rhinestones held a fingertip veil of nylon illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses topping a white prayer book.

Miss Stephanie Kelker was maid of honor and wore a gown of white lace over mint taffeta and matching crown and veil. She carried an arrangement of yellow mums.

Bridesmaids were Misses Susan and Mary Fultz, sisters of the bride, and Miss Linda Craft, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns of heliotrope were designed identically to that of the maid of honor.

Bonnie Rae Betcher was flower girl.

Gary Miller was best man. Ushers were James Meacham, Eugene Salsbury and Thomas Hawk. Thomas Betcher was ring bearer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Johnson of the old Irondale Rd., Wellsville, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Joyce Johnson, to Howard W. Downard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Downard of Highlandtown.

Miss Johnson is a 1959 graduate of Wellsville High School and is employed by the Central Federal Savings and Loan Association.

Her fiance was graduated from Wellsville High School in 1958 and is employed at the A. and P. Supermarket in East Liverpool.

Rowena Winters Of Lisbon Weds Donald McCartney

LISBON — Observing the traditions, Miss Rowena Mae Winters wore a 125-year-old family heirloom gold bracelet engraved with forget-me-nots and carried an Italian handmade linen handerchief of a friend when she became the bride of Donald Ray McCartney Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Trinity United Presbyterian Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rondo Winters of Lincoln Highway, East, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCartney of the Salem Rd.

Mrs. Vernon Duke presented organ nuptial music and Mrs. Thomas Richardson of Columbiana sang "Oh, Promise Me," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The Rev. C. O. Armstrong, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar banked with palms, ferns and white roses, with lighted tapers in seven-branch candelabra.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace. The molded bodice featured a high neckline with petite collar highlighted with opalescent sequins and pearls and long, tapered sleeves. Tiers of lace formed the bouffant skirt and swept into a chapel train.

A peaked cap matching the dress held in place her fingertip veil of silk illusion trimmed also in sequins and pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid corsage and cascading satin streamers tied in lovers knots.

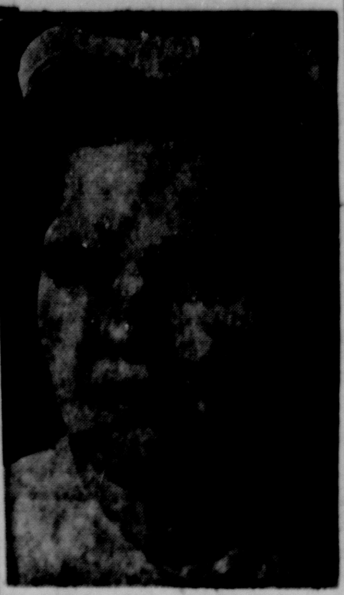
Mrs. Robert Easterday of Pittsburgh was matron of honor. Her ballerina-length gown of light blue silk organza was styled with a scoop neckline and satin bows at the waist. She wore a floral headpiece.

Bridesmaids were Miss Linda Joy of Salem and Mrs. Russell Gains of Alliance, cousins of the bride, and Miss Betty McCartney of Salem, sister of the bridegroom. They were attired in deep blue gowns of identical style to that of the matron of honor and all wore pearl earrings, gifts of the bride. They carved Colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations to match their headpieces.

Nancy Joy of Salem and Bonnie Winters of Alliance, cousins of the bride, were flower girls. They wore light blue nylon dresses with floral headpieces and carried white baskets of pink and white petals. They were given strands of pearls.

Bruce Souder of Lisbon was ring bearer.

Albert Doyle of Salem was best man and Steve Vaughn and Harry McCartney of Salem, a brother of the bridegroom, and Eugene Winters of North Benton, cousin of the bride, ushered. They received cuff link sets as gifts from the bridegroom.



MRS. D. R. McCARTNEY
Bride Of Saturday Nuptials.

The mother of the bride chose a blue lace dress with white accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore a slate blue print jacket dress with white accessories. Each had corsages of pink rosebuds.

A reception for some 200 followed in the social room. A three-tier wedding cake decorated with pink and white rosebuds centered the buffet table, laid in white with white tapers in crystal holders.

Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. Clegg Simpson of Alliance, Mrs. Donald VanDyne of East Liverpool and Mrs. John Winters, aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Jesse Wilson and Mrs. George Williams.

Mrs. George Sponseller of Alliance, cousin of the bride, was at the guest register.

Guests were from Cleveland, Columbus, Lancaster, Mentor, Marietta, New Matamoras, Amsterdam, Columbiana, Leetonia, East Liverpool, Salem, North Benton, Petersburg, Beaver Falls, East Vandergrift, Rochester and Newell.

For her wedding trip to the Swift Water Lodge in the Pocono Mountains, the bride wore a blue and gray plaid suit with matching accessories and her wedding corsage. They will reside in a newly-furnished apartment in Salem.

The bride, a graduate of David Anderson High School and of the Ohio Valley Business College of East Liverpool, is employed in the offices of the Demming Co. at Salem.

Her husband, a graduate of Salem High School, works for the Bortolson Co. at Leetonia.

After rehearsal Friday evening, the bridegroom's parents entertained the wedding party at Grady's Restaurant on Rt. 9 near Salem.

MRS. R. L. CRAFT
She Was Carol Anne Fultz.

Ronald L. Crafts Reside In Lima After Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lee Craft are residing at Lima following their marriage Sept. 17 in the Christ Episcopal Church there.

The bride was Miss Carol Anne Fultz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell C. Fultz of Lima, former residents of Wellsville, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Craft of Lima. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Police Chief John H. Fultz and Dr. Eugene P. Neitz of Wellsville.

The Rev. Stephen M. Kelker of Sherril, N. Y., former rector, performed the double-ring ceremony before an altar of chrysanthemums, ferns and lighted tapers.

Mrs. N. W. Betcher, formerly of Wellsville, was soloist and Mrs. David Fulleton was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. Her coronet of pearls and rhinestones held a fingertip veil of nylon illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of sweetheart roses topping a white prayer book.

Miss Stephanie Kelker was maid of honor and wore a gown of white lace over mint taffeta and matching crown and veil. She carried an arrangement of yellow mums.

Bridesmaids were Misses Susan and Mary Fultz, sisters of the bride, and Miss Linda Craft, sister of the bridegroom. Their gowns of heliotrope were designed identically to that of the maid of honor.

Bonnie Rae Betcher was flower girl.

Gary Miller was best man. Ushers were James Meacham, Eugene Salsbury and Thomas Hawk. Thomas Betcher was ring bearer.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What does a person have to do to get a letter in the paper? I've written to you five times and asked you to print my letter but you never did.

All my letters had a purpose—to tell certain people off. In this crazy town everybody reads your column.

I've had several runins with neighbors and relatives and the best way to get my side of the story before the public is to write to Ann Landers.

I gave you five chances and you failed me. I'll never write to you again.—MAD AT YOU.

Dear Mad: Well, you finally made it. Congratulations.

Sorry, but it isn't possible to print every letter. I do my best to make balanced daily selections.

This is an advice column, not a national bulletin board for people to "get their side of the story before the town."

Anyone who wants help can get it by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me. Thousands do it every week. Be my guest.

Two-Timing Sister

Dear Ann: I won't beat around the bush. I need help and fast.

My kid sister who lives with us is making a play for my husband.

Opal is 17, a high school junior and to look at her you'd think she was a chorus girl in a burlesque house.

I've begged her not to paint up so but she pays no attention. She wears skin-tight skirts, two inches above the knee (no girdle).

I suspected something when she used to sit on Bill's lap and he had a time getting her off. She used to walk around the house without much on but I put a stop to that.

Yesterday I heard him tell her she'd better behave like a lady or "I'll tell your sister."

My mother is in poor health and lives in a small town 90 miles from here. I took my sister in because she hated the small town and wanted to attend high school here. Please tell me what to do. I'm a wreck.—BILL'S WIFE.

-:-

Dear Wife: Ship her back yesterday. You should not keep a girl in your home who behaves like a cheap hussy—sister or no sister.

Spare your mother the details. Tell your sister if she straightens around you may let her come back for her senior year but that she'll have to look like a lady and behave like one and do as you say.

Gratitude Or Insult?

Dear Ann: I need your opinion to win (or lose) a bet. Yesterday a friend of mine received her eyeglasses which she had left at someone's house. The package had 9 cents in postage on it.

My friend said she was going to send the party who had returned the glasses 9 cents in postage. I asked her, "What in heaven's name for?" She replied, "To show my appreciation."

I told her that this was poor manners, if not an insult.

I suggested she send the person a note if she wants to show appreciation. She said I was wrong, and we bet on it. Please settle it.—L.A.K.

-:-

Dear L.A.K.: A note would be the proper way to express thanks.

To send the person 9 cents would be in poor taste. People who count pennies are petty. The time and trouble involved in returning the glasses were far more meaningful than the few cents spent on stamps.

Confidentially

TO CHECKING: Infidelity does not run in families. It may well be imitation—but it's not heredity.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: What does a person have to do to get a letter in the paper? I've written to you five times and asked you to print my letter but you never did.

All my letters had a purpose—to tell certain people off. In this crazy town everybody reads your column.

I've had several runins with neighbors and relatives and the best way to get my side of the story before the public is to write to Ann Landers.

I gave you five chances and you failed me. I'll never write to you again.—MAD AT YOU.

-:-

Dear Mad: Well, you finally made it. Congratulations.

Sorry, but it isn't possible to print every letter. I do my best to make balanced daily selections.

This is an advice column, not a national bulletin board for people to "get their side of the story before the town."

Anyone who wants help can get it by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me. Thousands do it every week. Be my guest.

Two-Timing Sister

Dear Ann: I won't beat around the bush. I need help and fast.

My kid sister who lives with us is making a play for my husband.

Opal is 17, a high school junior and to look at her you'd think she was a chorus girl in a burlesque house.

I've begged her not to paint up so but she pays no attention. She wears skin-tight skirts, two inches above the knee (no girdle).

I suspected something when she used to sit on Bill's lap and he had a time getting her off. She used to walk around the house without much on but I put a stop to that.

Yesterday I heard him tell her she'd better behave like a lady or "I'll tell your sister."

My mother is in poor health and lives in a small town 90 miles from here. I took my sister in because she hated the small town and wanted to attend high school here. Please tell me what to do. I'm a wreck.—BILL'S WIFE.

-:-

Dear Wife: Ship her back yesterday. You should not keep a girl in your home who behaves like a cheap hussy—sister or no sister.

Spare your mother the details. Tell your sister if she straightens around you may let her come back for her senior year but that she'll have to look like a lady and behave like one and do as you say.

Gratitude Or Insult?

Dear Ann: I need your opinion to win (or lose) a bet. Yesterday a friend of mine received her eyeglasses which she had left at someone's house. The package had 9 cents in postage on it.

My friend said she was going to send the party who had returned the glasses 9 cents in postage. I asked her, "What in heaven's name for?" She replied, "To show my appreciation."

I told her that this was poor manners, if not an insult.

I suggested she send the person a note if she wants to show appreciation. She said I was wrong, and we bet on it. Please settle it.—L.A.K.

-:-

Dear L.A.K.: A note would be the proper way to express thanks.

To send the person 9 cents would be in poor taste. People who count pennies are petty. The time and trouble involved in returning the glasses were far more meaningful than the few cents spent on stamps.

Confidentially

TO CHECKING: Infidelity does not run in families. It may well be imitation—but it's not heredity.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Now Is Time For Checking Of Oil Burner

CHICAGO — Nearly 10 million oil burners are ready to start another winter of service to home owners, the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau says.

Few pieces of equipment in the home are as important to the health and well-being of the family as the oil burner.

It is for this reason that the prudent householder will not go into the heating season without having the burner checked and cleaned.

It is estimated that there are about a million and a half oil burners in use that were installed before World War I. In recent years these and other burners have been replaced at the rate of about 110,000 a year.

While most of the newer burners will need only a checking and cleaning to put them in first-rate operating condition, the older burners may have reached the stage where replacement is advisable.

There are many advantages in replacing older type oil burners with new equipment, the bureau points out. Modern burners are more efficient and thus provide a better return on the fuel dollar.

When replacing an oil burner, it would be well for the householder to consider the replacement of the entire heating unit, that is, having a boiler-burner or furnace-burner installed.

AAA Convention Plans Study Of Hillway Bills

CLEVELAND (AP)—Some 2,500 delegates from 750 local clubs are expected to attend general sessions of the American Automobile Association convention here Tuesday and Wednesday.

Preliminary meetings of executive groups were being held today.

Russell E. Singer, executive vice president of the AAA, said in an interview Sunday night this country faces a "year of decision" in its public road building program.

Legislation probably will be passed next year determining the financing pattern, and there is no reason why the motorist should be expected to pay the entire cost, Singer declared.

Small Defects Are Headache

NEW YORK — Homeowners seem to be divided into two classifications: those who live in a house year after year without lifting a hand to make the smallest kind of a repair or adjustment and those who promptly remedy the least defect before it gets worse.

Naturally, the owner who keeps his house in excellent repair can obtain a far greater sale value than the owner with a rundown establishment. If you take two houses, built at the same time and identical in design and construction, there can be as much as $2,000 in possible sales value between them in a five-year period.

Odd as it may seem, it is the small but painfully obvious defects that downgrade a house. These are more apparent to the prospective buyer than an inadequate heating plant or faulty plumbing, for the simple reason that they advertise themselves.

Nobody can fail to notice a shutter which is hanging lopsided on the wall or a gutter that is sagging away from the roof edge. A cracked and broken cement sidewalk or path is even more noticeable, because sub-consciously we glance at the surface we walk upon. Actually, it would take about 15 minutes to fix the shutter and perhaps an hour to rehang the gutter if it were taken in hand as soon as it was noticeably out of line. Cracks in cement surfaces can be filled and smoothed off in short order if they are attended to before frost action or wear increase their size.

Most home owners make a survey of their house before the winter season and list the small items to be taken care of. It is an excellent habit and one which pays big dividends in property value.

Belgian Prince Talks To Ohio Businessmen

CLEVELAND (AP)—Prince Albert of Belgium flew into Cleveland Sunday night with his princess on his arm, leading a group that is here to drum up business for their country.

Princess Paola, smilingly accepted a boquet of flowers presented by Nancy Alpanalp, an employe of Sabena Air Lines.

A series of meetings is scheduled today, including an afternoon conference with northern Ohio business leaders.

Prince Albert, 26, is the younger brother of King Baudouin of Belgium. It is his second visit to this country but his first visit to Cleveland.

The economic mission goes to Cincinnati tonight. The group came to this country last week for a 16-day visit.

COLONIAL AND EFFICIENT. Here is a striking home that combines the true Southern Colonial exterior flavor with the efficiency of modern residence design. The long porches, or verandas, in front and rear enhance its colonial appearance. The living and dining rooms flank the central foyer on the first floor. Two bedrooms are on the second floor with plenty of storage space under the eaves. There are four or five bedrooms and four bathrooms. The architect is Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st. You Should Keep Check On House As It Rises

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Buying a new home? If so, look it over occasionally while it is being built. Your ideas and the builder's version may conflict.

It's wise, too, to see a room finished before you purchase wallpaper, paint, furnishings or accessories for it. Even your color scheme ideas may change when you see the room in its own light.

Many misunderstandings occur between builder and owner, and these may plague the family later.

Bathroom colors may be mixed up. The pink tile bath could end up adjacent to the children's room instead of adjoining the master bedroom, where it was planned to go with that color scheme.

Screen doors and storm windows ordered too early from specifications on the blueprints may be out of alignment by the time you move in when the house has begun to "settle."

The kitchen that looks immense on the floor plan may have little space left for a dinette set after the necessary appliances are placed in it. Even when these are scaled on your floor plan, something can go amiss.

Then there are the unexpected shocks that can result when furnishings are purchased before the house is finished.

A wrought iron staircase in a split-level dwelling may sound insignificant in the scheme of your living room, but this can cheapen the look of traditional furnishings and antiques.

It could enhance the look of contemporary furnishings, however, and can complement metals, marble, glass and rustic wall panelling.

Many new home owners are forced to postpone the painting of their rooms if the house is large, decorating around the white plaster walls in the meantime.

It's a good idea to decide on the color scheme, even though you do not plan to paint at the moment. Furnishings that are purchased may then be planned to harmonize with wall colors planned for the future.

A brick wall surrounding a fireplace can look much different when finished than it did on the builder's color brochcre.

It may need decoration if it covers a large area and goes to the ceiling, but the choice of it must be compatible to brick. Many families find this a difficult area to decorate.

If furnishings are modern, and the room is stark, this area may be left alone. But if there is much warmth in furnishings, then it must be picked up on the wall. Metal shields, old signs, wood placques, ceramic fixtures can serve a brick wall well.

Another item to note in an unfinished home is the heating system. If registers are in floors, they will affect the floor covering. Area rugs are best in that case. Hot-water heat puts pipes at the baseboard usually, and this must be a consideration in the purchase of furnishings and floor coverings.

Mine Union Eyes Fight On Issue Of Local Autonomy

CINCINNATI (AP)—The United Mine Workers Union was to open the last three days of its convention today facing a potentially bitter issue—autonomy for six locals.

The union's 2,500 delegates to its every - four - years conference put off the autonomy issue Friday before a weekend recess.

The locals, whose officers now are appointed, have asked the union in resolutions for self-government.

The issue may touch off hot debate on the convention floor. The only other group that still must report on the convention floor is the union Constitution committee.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell is to address the convention Tuesday morning. His speech was billed as non-political.

This has been the first UMW convention without 80 - year - old John L. Lewis in the presidential seat. But the man who led the miners over 40 years has been much in evidence.

As president emeritus Lewis is also chairman of the union welfare and retirement fund.

Objections cropped up to recent action cutting off fund benefits to those out of work a year or more, because the fund paid out more than it received.

Lewis offered to resign, but the offer was rejected rousingly.

The new president, Thomas Kennedy, who took over last winter, was renominated without opposition along with W. A. Boyle, vice president, and John Owens, secretary-treasurer.

Deadline Set Saturday In College Entry Test

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Registration for the 1960-61 test session of the American College Testing Program closes Saturday.

This was announced today by Dean Ronald B. Thompson of Ohio State University, acting state coordinator for the program.

The three-hour test will be given Saturday, Nov. 5, at 60 centers throughout the state. More than 18,000 Ohio high school seniors are expected to take the test, Thompson said. Students may register at their school.

Thompson said 35 Ohio colleges and universities require or recommend that their applicants for admission or scholarship aid take the ACTP test. The results of the test are used by some 500 colleges and universities across the nation affiliated with the ACTP.

Single Theme Does Trick In 2-In-1 Room

PORTLAND, Ore. — One of the greatest challenges in home decorating is developing a charming decor for the combination dining and living room.

The two-in-one room is a bit tricky to handle, granted. But if the problems are faced squarely, a room of unusual beauty can result.

For instance, most professional decorators recommend that the dual-purpose room be treated as a single entity. Attempts to create two distinctive themes within the area, one for the dining space and one for the living room, are likely to result in a hodgepodge, but a single scheme used boldly throughout will create a room that speaks proudly of its two-way use.

Start with the walls in the double-header room. Make them important, but, at the same time, choose a wall finish that will act as a backdrop for furnishings. Something neutral but textured is ideal. This could be clear-finished wood paneling.

West coast hemlock might be a good choice for the living-dining room. The sophistication of hemlock's champagne hue at once lends drama to the walls, yet is so surprisingly neutral that it will compliment any color scheme that is chosen for furnishings. And hemlock's subtle graining is prized, for there is just enough pattern to lend depth to the walls without calling attention to itself.

One single furniture style should be used in this dual-purpose room. The wood that appears in the dining set should repeat in living room furniture. And color accents should be the same throughout.

Division of the room into two areas can be subtly accomplished merely by arranging the living room furniture in a conservation grouping that delicately turns its back on the dining room.

Then the dining end can be highlighted by the simple ruse of suspending a chandelier — contemporary or Louis XIV, as you wish — over the dining table. In an elongated room, a handsome ceiling beam can be suspended across the room to further define its two-way use.

When setting or clearing the table, use a pair of screens — styled to match the room's decor — one placed slightly behind the other.

Advice Is Offered On Use Of Shellac

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Question: I expect to refinish a bedroom floor soon and plan on using shellac, followed with paste wax. I have a portable waxing machine. Since this is the first time I will be using shellac, what advice can you give me?

Answer: We'll assume from your remark about refinishing the floor that you are taking it down to the bare wood before applying the shellac. One of the important things in the use of shellac is that it should not be used as it comes from the can or jar. It should be mixed with denatured alcohol in various proportions, depending on where it is being applied.

For your purpose, about half a pint of alcohol to one quart of shellac will be about right. Incidentally, use a good quality denatured alcohol and don't let anyone talk you into using a cheaper substitute that he claims is "just as good." You should apply two coats of the shellac.

While the first coat will appear to be dry in an hour or so, the second coat should not be applied for three or four hours. The shellac should be put on in a room where the temperature is about 70 degrees fahrenheit — and it should not be applied on a day when it is raining or the humidity is very high. In putting on the wax, remember that two thin coats are much better than a single thick one.

How often the floor will have to be waxed after that will depend on how heavy the traffic is. The time period can range from as often as once a week to as little as once a year. Generally, about once every three months will do. Also, at least once a year, the old wax should be removed and new wax applied.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I polish Mexican tinware?

A. Try rubbing the tin with brownpaper moistened with vinegar. To prevent rusting, rub the tin articles with lard or any unsalted fat, and heat well in the oven. Dry thoroughly. Should the tin have already become rusted, rub its surface with a cut green tomato, wait a few minutes, then wash, rinse, and dry.

Q. How can I remove a fruit jar top that is stuck?

A. If the top will not turn, set the jar upside down in hot water for a few minutes and the top will come off without difficulty.

Q. How can I remove acid stains from fabrics?

A. Dampen the spots and then cover with salts of wormwood. Let this remain for a few minutes, and then rub the stains with a dry cloth.

Small Defects Are Headache

NEW YORK — Homeowners seem to be divided into two classifications: those who live in a house year after year without lifting a hand to make the smallest kind of a repair or adjustment and those who promptly remedy the least defect before it gets worse.

Naturally, the owner who keeps his house in excellent repair can obtain a far greater sale value than the owner with a rundown establishment. If you take two houses, built at the same time and identical in design and construction, there can be as much as $2,000 in possible sales value between them in a five-year period.

Odd as it may seem, it is the small but painfully obvious defects that downgrade a house. These are more apparent to the prospective buyer than an inadequate heating plant or faulty plumbing, for the simple reason that they advertise themselves.

Nobody can fail to notice a shutter which is hanging lopsided on the wall or a gutter that is sagging away from the roof edge. A cracked and broken cement sidewalk or path is even more noticeable, because sub-consciously we glance at the surface we walk upon. Actually, it would take about 15 minutes to fix the shutter and perhaps an hour to rehang the gutter if it were taken in hand as soon as it was noticeably out of line. Cracks in cement surfaces can be filled and smoothed off in short order if they are attended to before frost action or wear increase their size.

Most home owners make a survey of their house before the winter season and list the small items to be taken care of. It is an excellent habit and one which pays big dividends in property value.

COLONIAL AND EFFICIENT. Here is a striking home that combines the true Southern Colonial exterior flavor with the efficiency of modern residence design. The long porches, or verandas, in front and rear enhance its colonial appearance. The living and dining rooms flank the central foyer on the first floor. Two bedrooms are on the second floor with plenty of storage space under the eaves. There are four or five bedrooms and four bathrooms. The architect is Rudolph A. Matern, 90-04 161st. St., Jamaica 32, N. Y. and the plan is HA161M.

You Should Keep Check On House As It Rises

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Buying a new home? If so, look it over occasionally while it is being built. Your ideas and the builder's version may conflict.

It's wise, too, to see a room finished before you purchase wallpaper, paint, furnishings or accessories for it. Even your color scheme ideas may change when you see the room in its own light.

Many misunderstandings occur between builder and owner, and these may plague the family later.

Bathroom colors may be mixed up. The pink tile bath could end up adjacent to the children's room instead of adjoining the master bedroom, where it was planned to go with that color scheme.

Screen doors and storm windows ordered too early from specifications on the blueprints may be out of alignment by the time you move in when the house has begun to "settle."

The kitchen that looks immense on the floor plan may have little space left for a dinette set after the necessary appliances are placed in it. Even when these are scaled on your floor plan, something can go amiss.

Then there are the unexpected shocks that can result when furnishings are purchased before the house is finished.

A wrought iron staircase in a split-level dwelling may sound insignificant in the scheme of your living room, but this can cheapen the look of traditional furnishings and antiques.

It could enhance the look of contemporary furnishings, however, and can complement metals, marble, glass and rustic wall paneling.

Many new home owners are forced to postpone the painting of their rooms if the house is large, decorating around the white plaster walls in the meantime.

It's a good idea to decide on the color scheme, even though you do not plan to paint at the moment. Furnishings that are purchased may then be planned to harmonize with wall colors planned for the future.

A brick wall surrounding a fireplace can look much different when finished than it did on the builder's color brochure.

It may need decoration if it covers a large area and goes to the ceiling, but the choice of it must be compatible to brick. Many families find this a difficult area to decorate.

If furnishings are modern, and the room is stark, this area may be left alone. But if there is much warmth in furnishings, then it must be picked up on the wall. Metal shields, old signs, wood placques, ceramic fixtures can serve a brick wall well.

Another item to note in an unfinished home is the heating system. If registers are in floors, they will affect the floor covering. Area rugs are best in that case. Hot-water heat puts pipes at the baseboard usually, and this must be a consideration in the purchase of furnishings and floor coverings.

Mine Union Eyes Fight On Issue Of Local Autonomy

CINCINNATI (AP)—The United Mine Workers Union was to open the last three days of its convention today facing a potentially bitter issue—autonomy for six locals.

The union's 2,500 delegates to its every - four - years conference put off the autonomy issue Friday before a weekend recess.

The locals, whose officers now are appointed, have asked the union in resolutions for self-government.

The issue may touch off hot debate on the convention floor. The only other group that still must report on the convention floor is the union Constitution committee.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell is to address the convention Tuesday morning. His speech was billed as non-political.

This has been the first UMW convention without 80 - year - old John L. Lewis in the presidential seat. But the man who led the miners over 40 years has been much in evidence.

As president emeritus Lewis is also chairman of the union welfare and retirement fund.

Objections cropped up to recent action cutting off fund benefits to those out of work a year or more, because the fund paid out more than it received.

Lewis offered to resign, but the offer was rejected rousingly.

The new president, Thomas Kennedy, who took over last winter, was renominated without opposition along with W. A. Boyle, vice president, and John Owens, secretary-treasurer.

Single Theme Does Trick In 2-In-1 Room

PORTLAND, Ore. — One of the greatest challenges in home decorating is developing a charming decor for the combination dining and living room.

The two-in-one room is a bit tricky to handle, granted. But if the problems are faced squarely, a room of unusual beauty can result.

For instance, most professional decorators recommend that the dual-purpose room be treated as a single entity. Attempts to create two distinctive themes within the area, one for the dining space and one for the living room, are likely to result in a hodgepodge, but a single scheme used boldly throughout will create a room that speaks proudly of its two-way use.

Start with the walls in the double-header room. Make them important, but, at the same time, choose a wall finish that will act as a backdrop for furnishings. Something neutral but textured is ideal. This could be clear-finished wood paneling.

West coast hemlock might be a good choice for the living-dining room. The sophistication of hemlock's champagne hue at once lends drama to the walls, yet is so surprisingly neutral that it will compliment any color scheme that is chosen for furnishings. And hemlock's subtle graining is prized, for there is just enough pattern to lend depth to the walls without calling attention to itself.

One single furniture style should be used in this dual-purpose room. The wood that appears in the dining set should repeat in living room furniture. And color accents should be the same throughout.

Division of the room into two areas can be subtly accomplished merely by arranging the living room furniture in a conservation grouping that delicately turns its back on the dining room.

Then the dining end can be highlighted by the simple ruse of suspending a chandelier — contemporary or Louis XIV, as you wish — over the dining table. In an elongated room, a handsome ceiling beam can be suspended across the room to further define its two-way use.

When setting or clearing the table, use a pair of screens — styled to match the room's decor — one placed slightly behind the other.

Advice Is Offered On Use Of Shellac

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Question: I expect to refinish a bedroom floor soon and plan on using shellac, followed with paste wax. I have a portable waxing machine. Since this is the first time I will be using shellac, what advice can you give me?

Answer: We'll assume from your remark about refinishing the floor that you are taking it down to the bare wood before applying the shellac. One of the important things in the use of shellac is that it should not be used as it comes from the can or jar. It should be mixed with denatured alcohol in various proportions, depending on where it is being applied.

For your purpose, about half a pint of alcohol to one quart of shellac will be about right. Incidentally, use a good quality denatured alcohol and don't let anyone talk you into using a cheaper substitute that he claims is "just as good." You should apply two coats of the shellac.

While the first coat will appear to be dry in an hour or so, the second coat should not be applied for three or four hours. The shellac should be put on in a room where the temperature is about 70 degrees fahrenheit — and it should not be applied on a day when it is raining or the humidity is very high. In putting on the wax, remember that two thin coats are much better than a single thick one.

How often the floor will have to be waxed after that will depend on how heavy the traffic is. The time period can range from as often as once a week to as little as once a year. Generally, about once every three months will do. Also, at least once a year, the old wax should be removed and new wax applied.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I polish Mexican tinware?

A. Try rubbing the tin with brownpaper moistened with vinegar. To prevent rusting, rub the tin articles with lard or any unsalted fat, and heat well in the oven. Dry thoroughly. Should the tin have already become rusted, rub its surface with a cut green tomato, wait a few minutes, then wash, rinse, and dry.

Q. How can I remove a fruit jar top that is stuck?

A. If the top will not turn, set the jar upside down in hot water for a few minutes and the top will come off without difficulty.

Q. How can I remove acid stains from fabrics?

A. Dampen the spots and then cover with salts of wormwood. Let this remain for a few minutes, and then rub the stains with a dry cloth.

Needs Should Govern Your Home Choice

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Every so often, someone contemplating the purchase of a house asks us whether it is better to own a one- or two-story building.

If there were a set answer to that question which would apply to everyone, it would only be a matter of time before all private homes would be in one of those two categories.

There is, of course, no set answer. Everything depends on what the family most needs. And before we get into a misunderstanding let's make it clear that a two-story house in this connection means one that will be occupied by a single family, as distinguished from a two-family house.

When you buy a one-story house, you are buying a home that will make indoor-outdoor living easy.

Everything is right there, so that you can move indoors or outdoors without climbing stairs. In fact, it is the lack of stairs that makes one - story houses so popular with elderly persons.

But the fact that everything is on one floor has a disadvantage, especially when there are small children in the family. If mom and dad have company at night, will the talking or music disturb the children's slumber?

Thus, in a one-story house, you have more convenience but less privacy. Which is more important to you? Sometimes, if you buy a carefully - planned one - story house, you can get a measure of both.

It follows, naturally, that a two-story house generally gives less convenience but more privacy. If you don't mind climbing stairs (and don't overlook the housework angle in this connection), a two-story house provides a lot of living in a minimum amount of ground space.

There are variations of these two types of houses; for instance, the one-story house with an expansion attic.

This kind of house is preferred by many persons who have a small family but expect to need more room later on. In choosing such a house, care must be taken to see that the expansion area will be practical for later use. One checkpoint would be whether heating pipes (or air conditioning ducts) already go to the attic.

Another variation is the split-level, which has a lot of supporters and some detractors.

Ceylon Police Arrest Man In Kidnap-Killing

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Colombo police today arrested Hungarian-born Stephen Leslie Bradley on a warrant stating he would be charged with the kidnap-murder of Graeme Thorne, 8, of Sydney, Australia.

Police said Bradley was arrested on the British liner Himalaya and will be held here to await extradition to Australia.

Graeme Thorne disappeared on his way to school July 7, less than a month after his father won 100,000 pounds—$224,000—in a lottery. The same day, a ransom demand for $56,000 was made, but never collected.

The boy's battered body was found Aug. 26.

Eleven public holidays a year are celebrated in Japan, during which all banks and most businesses close.

Red To Visit Cyrus Eaton

CLEVELAND, (AP) — Todor Zhivkov, first secretary of the Communist party in Bulgaria, comes here today to visit industrialist Cyrus Eaton.

He heads a group of Bulgarian diplomats who will be guests tonight at Eaton's Acadia farms estate in Northfield, between here and Akron.

A spokesman for the industrialist said Eaton met Zhivkov recently at a reception in New York, where the Bulgarians have been attending sessions of the U. N. General Assembly. The Bulgarians expressed a desire to see Cleveland, and Eaton asked them to be his guests.

The group is to return to New York Tuesday night.

The State Department, which last month refused to allow a group of Russian scientists to visit Eaton, approved the trip by Zhivkov. The proposed visit by the Russian scientists was turned down on grounds that a visit here was not pertinent to the scientists' mission in this country.

Zhivkov, a former printer who fought in the underground against the Nazis in world war II, came to power in Bulgaria a few years ago.

Eaton is a staunch advocate of a softer approach toward the Communist countries.

Mrs. Eaton said in a speech Sunday night she thought the cause of world peace was aided by the Eatons' much - criticized meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev after the blowup of the summit conference in Paris. She said that shortly after she and her husband talked with Khrushchev the Soviet premier was in East Berlin, where he adopted a more conciliatory tone.

Does Your Hall Have A Drab Look?

NEW YORK — A hall in every home. That's not a political platform promise, it's a general rule, for just about every house or apartment, new or old, has a hall somewhere.

Whether it's an entrance hall, a hall connecting bedrooms, a passage to the stairs or a railroad type hall leading to all the rooms, it is an important part of the home decor. However, this area often receives little or no decorating consideration and looks bleak and barren.

Because the hall is too small or narrow to be furnished does not mean that it cannot be warm and cheerful. All this room needs is color. And all you need to provide this color is about $10 worth of quality paint and a few hours of pleasant brushwork.

WHY IS IT important that a little hall look just as attractive as the rest of your home? The answer is fairly obvious. Just as a dull, drab hall detracts from the appearance of the rest of the house, a cheerfully decorated hall compliments the overall decor.

Painting a hall is fun, because color can be used with more abandon here than in any other room. The reason for this is that a hall is a transient area. Since you will seldom remain in the area for any great length of time, you will not tire of bright colors. So by all means, don't select a neutral color scheme. Be as gay as you like. Just keep in mind that the selected colors must blend with the colors of the room or rooms adjacent to the hall.

There are various interesting and easy painting techniques that are ideal for a hall. Stripes can work wonders. A long, narrow hall will look wider when the two narrow ends are horizontally striped and the side walls painted a solid color.

A box-like hall will look more interesting when stripes are used on one wall. If the ceiling is low in the hall, painting vertical stripes on the walls and using a light color on the ceiling will give the illusion of higher walls.

STRIPING IS simple to do with the aid of masking tape. First paint the wall or walls the desired background color and let the surface dry thoroughly. Next, apply strips of masking tape arranged in the desired width and pattern for the design you wish to achieve. Finally, paint the exposed wall areas in the contrasting color. When dry, remove the tape to display the gayly striped surface.

Stippling is another decorative finish that works magic in a hall. Here again, the wall is first painted the background color. When dry, a second color is applied to the surface in an irregular pattern.

This design is produced by dipping a slightly damp sponge into the second paint color and pressing it against the surface. The second color will be transferred to the wall in a mottled design. There are also special stippling brushes which will provide the same pattern.

Multi-color paint is ideal for a hall. This attractive coating permits you to apply two or more colors at the same time from the same source. Most multi-color paints are applied by spray. However, some can be applied with a roller. This handsome coating is available in a wide assortment of color combinations, including the more formal variety which contains flecks of gold or silver.

OF COURSE, if you prefer to paint the walls a solid color, you can still attain results that will improve the size and shape of the hall. In a square-shaped hall, paint one wall a contrasting or darker color than the other three to give the room more interest.

Highlight this focal wall with a painting, mirror, hanging plants or other ornamentation. To make a long hall seem wider, paint the narrow ends a darker color than the side walls. The color can be a deeper shade of the side walls or a completely contrasting color.

Whatever your choice of colors and painting methods, take advantage of the wonders they can work and will work in your hall. Your only regret will be that you didn't beautify this small but important part of your home sooner.

Everything is right there, so that you can move indoors or outdoors without climbing stairs. In fact, it is the lack of stairs that makes one-story houses so popular with elderly persons.

But the fact that everything is on one floor has a disadvantage, especially when there are small children in the family. If mom and dad have company at night, will the talking or music disturb the children's slumber?

Thus, in a one-story house, you have more convenience but less privacy. Which is more important to you? Sometimes, if you buy a carefully-planned one-story house, you can get a measure of both.

It follows, naturally, that a two-story house generally gives less convenience but more privacy. If you don't mind climbing stairs (and don't overlook the housework angle in this connection), a two-story house provides a lot of living in a minimum amount of ground space.

There are variations of these two types of houses; for instance, the one-story house with an expansion attic.

This kind of house is preferred by many persons who have a small family but expect to need more room later on. In choosing such a house, care must be taken to see that the expansion area will be practical for later use. One checkpoint would be whether heating pipes (or air conditioning ducts) already go to the attic.

Another variation is the split-level, which has a lot of supporters and some detractors.

Ceylon Police Arrest Man In Kidnap-Killing

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Colombo police today arrested Hungarian-born Stephen Leslie Bradley on a warrant stating he would be charged with the kidnap-murder of Graeme Thorne, 8, of Sydney, Australia.

Police said Bradley was arrested on the British liner Himalaya and will be held here to await extradition to Australia.

Graeme Thorne disappeared on his way to school July 7, less than a month after his father won 100,000 pounds—$224,000—in a lottery. The same day, a ransom demand for $36,000 was made, but never collected.

The boy's battered body was found Aug. 20.

Red To Visit Cyrus Eaton

CLEVELAND, (AP) — Todor Zhivkov, first secretary of the Communist party in Bulgaria, comes here today to visit industrialist Cyrus Eaton.

He heads a group of Bulgarian diplomats who will be guests tonight at Eaton's Acadia farms estate in Northfield, between here and Akron.

A spokesman for the industrialist said Eaton met Zhivkov recently at a reception in New York, where the Bulgarians have been attending sessions of the U. N. General Assembly. The Bulgarians expressed a desire to see Cleveland, and Eaton asked them to be his guests.

The group is to return to New York Tuesday night.

The State Department, which last month refused to allow a group of Russian scientists to visit Eaton, approved the trip by Zhivkov. The proposed visit by the Russian scientists was turned down on grounds that a visit here was not pertinent to the scientists' mission in this country.

Zhivkov, a former printer who fought in the underground against the Nazis in world war II, came to power in Bulgaria a few years ago.

Eaton is a staunch advocate of a softer approach toward the Communist countries.

Mrs. Eaton said in a speech Sunday night she thought the cause of world peace was aided by the Eatons' much-criticized meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev after the blowup of the summit conference in Paris. She said that shortly after she and her husband talked with Khrushchev the Soviet premier was in East Berlin, where he adopted a more conciliatory tone.

Does Your Hall Have A Drab Look?

NEW YORK — A hall in every home. That's not a political platform promise, it's a general rule, for just about every house or apartment, new or old, has a hall somewhere.

Whether it's an entrance hall, a hall connecting bedrooms, a passage to the stairs or a railroad type hall leading to all the rooms, it is an important part of the home decor. However, this area often receives little or no decorating consideration and looks bleak and barren.

Because the hall is too small or narrow to be furnished does not mean that it cannot be warm and cheerful. All this room needs is color. And all you need to provide this color is about $10 worth of quality paint and a few hours of pleasant brushwork.

WHY IS IT important that a little hall look just as attractive as the rest of your home? The answer is fairly obvious. Just as a dull, drab hall detracts from the appearance of the rest of the house, a cheerfully decorated hall compliments the overall decor.

Painting a hall is fun, because color can be used with more abandon here than in any other room. The reason for this is that a hall is a transient area. Since you will seldom remain in the area for any great length of time, you will not tire of bright colors. So by all means, don't select a neutral color scheme. Be as gay as you like. Just keep in mind that the selected colors must blend with the colors of the room or rooms adjacent to the hall.

There are various interesting and easy painting techniques that are ideal for a hall. Stripes can work wonders. A long, narrow hall will look wider when the two narrow ends are horizontally striped and the side walls painted a solid color.

A box-like hall will look more interesting when stripes are used on one wall. If the ceiling is low in the hall, painting vertical stripes on the walls and using a light color on the ceiling will give the illusion of higher walls.

STRIPING IS simple to do with the aid of masking tape. First paint the wall or walls the desired background color and let the surface dry thoroughly. Next, apply strips of masking tape arranged in the desired width and pattern for the design you wish to achieve. Finally, paint the exposed wall areas in the contrasting color. When dry, remove the tape to display the gayly striped surface.

Stippling is another decorative finish that works magic in a hall. Here again, the wall is first painted the background color. When dry, a second color is applied to the surface in an irregular pattern.

This design is produced by dipping a slightly damp sponge into the second paint color and pressing it against the surface. The second color will be transferred to the wall in a mottled design. There are also special stippling brushes which will provide the same pattern.

Multi-color paint is ideal for a hall. This attractive coating permits you to apply two or more colors at the same time from the same source. Most multi-color paints are applied by spray. However, some can be applied with a roller. This handsome coating is available in a wide assortment of color combinations, including the more formal variety which contains flecks of gold or silver.

OF COURSE, if you prefer to paint the walls a solid color, you can still attain results that will improve the size and shape of the hall. In a square-shaped hall, paint one wall a contrasting or darker color than the other three to give the room more interest.

Highlight this focal wall with a painting, mirror, hanging plants or other ornamentation. To make a long hall seem wider, paint the narrow ends a darker color than the side walls. The color can be a deeper shade of the side walls or a completely contrasting color.

Whatever your choice of colors and painting methods, take advantage of the wonders they can work and will work in your hall. Your only regret will be that you didn't beautify this small but important part of your home sooner.

Psychiatric Survey Made

Moral Criticism Declines With Age, Experts Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two psychiatric researchers have come to this conclusion—the older you get, the less critical you become of certain morally prohibited sexual activities, like "having illicit sex relations after marriage."

The same holds true, they found, in your judgment of certain morally prohibited economic and social activities.

For instance, the researchers say, as you get older you tend to feel less severely about:

"An industry maintaining working conditions known to be detrimental to workers' health."

"Not giving to charity when able."

"Charging interest above a fair rate when lending money."

The researchers are Dr. Benjamin Pasamanick and Dr. Salomon Rettig of Ohio State University's department of psychiatry. They released their findings after an investigation into the formation and changes in moral values over the past three decades.

They reported also that with increased age, contrary to the above findings, you tend to increase your anti-criminal and religious morality, your political moral responsibility and your belief in the sanctity of human life.

In the latter categories, they found you tend to be more severe in your judgment of such things as:

Crime—robbery, forgery, kidnaping and perjury.

Religious morality — "seeking amusement on Sunday instead of going to church."

Political morality—"taking money for one's vote."

The value of human life—mercy killing.

The condemnation of crime increases with age, the doctors explained, because the older person tends to see himself as the victim rather than the aggressor in the crime.

The researchers found great stability—neither a strong increase or decrease in the severity of your judgment as you become older—on such things as divorce, use of birth control devices, hit-and-run drivers, false medical claims and betrayal of trust.

Dr. Pasamanick said the most surprising finding was that of increasing leniency in sexual morality with increasing age. He said it may reflect a tendency on the part of older generations to idealize youth and romance.

The researchers based their findings on an analysis of questionaires completed by 1,742 Ohio State alumni from the classes of 1932-33, 1942-43 and 1952-53. The questionaires listed 50 morally prohibited acts. The alumni were asked to judge the acts and rate them as to their degree of "wrongness" and "rightness."

These results then were compared with information which the researchers felt would roughly represent the attitudes of the alumni when they were university students. The comparison was made with results of an identical questionaire filled in by freshman and sophomore students at other universities in 1929, 1939 and 1949.

The findings were published in the magazines "American Sociological Review" and "Social Problems."

Merle M. Kester, 110 1st St., Chester, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of knowingly making a false statement in his application for a motor vehicle registration and a suspended $10 and costs for knowingly permitting a motor vehicle under his control to be operated by an unlicensed driver.

His son, Walter H. Kester, 18, was fined $25 and costs for driving without an operator's license.

Police cited the son Sunday night after stopping him for traveling the wrong way on the one-way section of Washington St. When the father went to police headquarters with the registration, officers found he had given an East Liverpool address although he was living in Chester.

David E. Randolph, 1100 Dresden Ave., had his license suspended for 10 days and was fined $25 and costs on a charge filed by the patrol alleging he was drag racing on W. 8th St. Sunday.

Chester Man Hurt In 2-Way Mishap

A Chester motorist is in "good" condition today in Weirton General Hospital with injuries suffered when his car was struck in the rear by another early Sunday morning.

Pete Capito, 20, suffered a possible fractured right elbow when his auto was hit by a car operated by Lewis T. Fanning, 28, of Steubenville on Route 2 north of Follansbee.

A passenger in Fanning's car, Mike Pipinos, 20, of Weirton, suffered a possible dislocated hip and is in "fairly good" condition at the hospital.

Brooke County sheriff's deputies said Fanning will be cited for failure to stop within the assured clear distance. They theorize that Fanning must have been watching another accident when he crashed into Capito's car.

The first mishap involved cars driven by Edward Alexander, 27, of Steubenville, and William Bytum, 30, of Wellsburg.

City Hospital Treats 2 Hurt In Bike Mishap

Two youngsters thrown from their bicycle Saturday morning on Bradshaw Ave. when they tried to halt for a car were treated for injuries at City Hospital.

Karl Oyster Jr., 11, son of Karl Oyster, 730 Laura Ave., who was steering the bicycle, suffered contusions of the right cheek and abrasions of the left wrist.

His passenger, who was riding on the crossbar, Dale Craven, 13, son of Dale Craven, 819 Chester Ave., received abrasions of the face and knees.

Craven told police they were headed down Bradshaw Ave. "very fast" when Oyster tried to stop when he saw a car pulling out. The bicycle flipped and they were thrown to the pavement. Police said the spokes on the front wheel collapsed.

Psychiatric Survey Made

Moral Criticism Declines With Age, Experts Report

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Two psychiatric researchers have come to this conclusion—the older you get, the less critical you become of certain morally prohibited sexual activities, like "having illicit sex relations after marriage."

The same holds true, they found, in your judgment of certain morally prohibited economic and social activities.

For instance, the researchers say, as you get older you tend to feel less severely about:

"An industry maintaining working conditions known to be detrimental to workers' health."

"Not giving to charity when able."

"Charging interest above a fair rate when lending money."

The researchers are Dr. Benjamin Pasamanick and Dr. Salomon Rettig of Ohio State University's department of psychiatry. They released their findings after an investigation into the formation and changes in moral values over the past three decades.

They reported also that with increased age, contrary to the above findings, you tend to increase your anti-criminal and religious morality, your political moral responsibility and your belief in the sanctity of human life.

In the latter categories, they found you tend to be more severe in your judgment of such things as:

Crime—robbery, forgery, kidnaping and perjury.

Religious morality — "seeking amusement on Sunday instead of going to church."

Political morality—"taking money for one's vote."

The value of human life—mercy killing.

The condemnation of crime increases with age, the doctors explained, because the older person tends to see himself as the victim rather than the aggressor in the crime.

The researchers found great stability—neither a strong increase or decrease in the severity of your judgment as you become older—on such things as divorce, use of birth control devices, hit-and-run drivers, false medical claims and betrayal of trust.

Dr. Pasamanick said the most surprising finding was that of increasing leniency in sexual morality with increasing age. He said it may reflect a tendency on the part of older generations to idealize youth and romance.

The researchers based their findings on an analysis of questionaires completed by 1,742 Ohio State alumni from the classes of 1932-33, 1942-43 and 1952-53. The questionaires listed 50 morally prohibited acts. The alumni were asked to judge the acts and rate them as to their degree of "wrongness" and "rightness."

These results then were compared with information which the researchers felt would roughly represent the attitudes of the alumni when they were university students. The comparison was made with results of an identical questionaire filled in by freshman and sophomore students at other universities in 1929, 1939 and 1949.

The findings were published in the magazines "American Sociological Review" and "Social Problems."

was hit. There were two passengers in it.

In the collision which took Mr. Armstrong's life, a truck driver, Roy C. Proctor, 35, of Battle Creek, Mich., was injured slightly.

Proctor told Pennsylvania State Police the motorist indicated a left turn off the road and the trucker pulled to the left to give Mr. Armstrong more room. Then the car turned back to the right and collided with the truck, Proctor said.

There was about $5,000 damage to the truck and $400 to the car, police said.

Mr. Armstrong's body is at the Campbell Funeral Home on Darlington Rd. Dr. John W. Colavincenzo, Beaver County coroner, said Mr. Armstrong died of a fractured skull and multiple bone fractures.

Dr. Colavincenzo ruled accidental death.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurtt were starting a two-week trip to the Southwest when their car went out of control and hit the tree near Lancaster at 6:45 p.m. Friday. Hurtt is assistant electrical superintendent at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co.

The State Highway Patrol at Lancaster said Hurtt lost control of the car while trying to negotiate a curve. The car went off the right side of the highway. As he attempted to get it back onto the road, he apparently swung the wheel too sharply. The auto swerved to the left side of the road and hit the tree.

Services for Mrs. Hurtt were to be held this afternoon at 2 at the Wilson Funeral Home in Beaver by Dr. E. G. Montag, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Beaver.

Burial will be at Sylvania Hills Memorial Park at Rochester.

A former resident of Midland, she was born at Logansport, Ind., and had resided in Ohio View 20 years. She was a member of the Beaver church.

In addition to her husband, she leaves two sons, Robert M. Hurtt of New Wilmington, Pa., and Dr. N. William Hurtt of Brighton Township; a daughter, Miss Christine Hurtt of Pittsburgh, and two grandsons.

Services for Mr. LeMasters will be held Tuesday at 2 p. m. at the Industry Evangelical United Brethren Church by the Rev. Raymond A. Piper, pastor. Burial will be in the Oak Grove Cemetery in Industry Borough.

He was born April 3, 1930 in Smithfield, W. Va., and lived in this area about 3 years.

In additon to his widow, he leaves a daughter, Miss Anna Rose LeMasters, also at home; his father, Charles LeMasters of Industry; four brothers, Charles F. LeMasters and John L. LeMasters, both of Midland, and William LeMasters and Robert G. LeMasters, both of Industry; six sisters, Mrs. Dolly Mae Jones of Weirton, Mrs. Cora Lee Price of Industry, Mrs. Helen M. Sipe of East Liverpool, Miss Martha J. LeMasters and Miss Cecilia C. LeMasters, both of Industry, and Miss Anna Louise LeMasters of Midland.

Friends may call at the Cannon Funeral Home at Midland. The body will lie in state at the church Tuesday from 12:30 p. m. to the time of service.

Green Bay Upsets Colts; Giants Win

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

The rebuilt Green Bay Packers, molded into a title contender by Vince Lombardi, have struck the first blow against the kingpin Baltimore Colts in a determined bid to bring the smallest city in the National Football League its first championship since 1944.

The Packers parlayed a pair of pass interceptions by Hank Gremminger and two fumble recoveries into four touchdowns and shocked the two-time champion Colts 35-21 Sunday.

Lombardi, 47, former New York Giants' assistant who was one of the "seven blocks of granite" at Fordham University, became the Packers' coach and general manager after the dismal 1958 season in which Green Bay won only one game.

The Packers now are in a four-way scramble for the lead in the West with Baltimore, Chicago and San Francisco—all with 2-1 records.

The Bears' Ed Brown tossed three touchdown passes in a 34-27 victory over Los Angeles while San Francisco edged the Detroit Lions 14-10 on an 18-yard pass from John Brodie to R. C. Owens as the final gun sounded.

The New York Giants beat the Pittsburgh Steelers 19-17 on a last-minute 44-yard TD pitch from Charley Conerly to Frank Gifford and took over the top spot in the Eastern Division with a 3-0 record, a half-game in front of idle Cleveland.

Philadelphia whipped St. Louis 31-27 and Washington won its first 26-14 over Dallas in other games.

In the American League, Houston moved into first place in the Eastern sector with a 3-1 record by beating the New York Titans 27-21. Oakland squeezed by Dallas 20-19 and, in a Saturday night contest, Boston trounced favored Los Angeles 35-0.

Brown's third long TD toss, a 52-yarder to Angelo Coia put it out of reach when the Rams struck back in the second half after the Bears had built a 27-6 lead. Brown, who also tallied once, connected with John Morris for 45 and 66-yard scoring aerials. Rick Casares supplied the ground attack and bettered Bronco Nagurski's alltime Bear rushing record by ramming 78 yards for a 4,042-yard total.

The 49ers won at Detroit when John Brodie came off the bench and engineered two scoring drives in the final 2 minutes and 42 seconds—passing 19 yards to Billy Wilson for one score, then connecting with Owens as time ran out.

Conerly came in for the Giants in the final session, pitched to Kyle Rote who lateraled to Bob Schnelker for a 34-yard gain and on the next play connected with Gifford for the winner. The Steelers had pushed in front 17-12 on a 30-yard Bobby Layne to Buddy Dial TD strike and Bert Rechichar's field goal.

Norm Van Brocklin, who earlier hit Pete Retzlaff with a pair of touchdown tosses, flipped an 11-yarder to Tommy McDonald in the fourth period for the Eagles clincher against the Cards.

Ralph Guglielmi took over at quarterback for the Redskins, passed for one touchdown and set up two of Bob Khayat's four field goals in a passing duel with the Cowboys Eddie LeBaron.

NFL Averages Much Higher In Attendance

Ohio U. Pulls Big Surprise Over Boston U.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How about those Bobcats of Ohio University?

Hampered all last week by a series of heavy colds and upset stomachs, the 'Cats turned a 19-point underdog role into a smashing 36-6 victory over Boston University in beantown Saturday.

The Athens avalanche was voted the No. 1 team among the nation's smaller colleges in the opening Associated Press poll last week, and they made it stick with a vengeance as they tramped the Boston big college representative.

Just two weeks ago top-ranked Syracuse won over the same Boston team by 35-7, so Ohio U. had a point edge each way over the pace-setters.

And Penn State, which Saturday defeated Army 27-16, triumphed only 20-0 over Boston Univ. Holy Cross, which Saturday held Syracuse to a 15-6 win, was beaten 20-14 by Boston Univ. a week ago.

The Bobcats, along with the rest of the Mid-American Conference, have been seeking "major college" rating. It has been denied on the ground a team must play half its scheduled against major foes—an impossibility for the Mid-American teams unless the entire conference moves up.

While the Athens juggernaut of Bill Hess was zooming to its fourth straight win, Ohio's other colleges were winning more than their share of interstate games. The Buckeye clubs won 8 of 11 against out-of-state foes over the weekend, for a season record of 28-9-2 and a scoring edge of 861-41.

Bowling Green edged into the top spot in the Mid-American loop with 3-0, handing Western Michigan its second one-point defeat by 14-13. Kent State surprised everyone with a 22-19 victory over Miami on the Redskins' home lot.

Muskingum won 35-14 over Denison to take the Ohio Conference top spot at 3-0, but co-champions Wooster and Heidelberg, along with Ohio Wesleyan and Oberlin, are still unbeaten in the sprawling league. Western Reserve and Allegheny moved into the leads in the Presidents' Conference with 2-0, and they meet Saturday to determine which will remain there.

Pacing the Mid-Ohio with 2-0 are Ohio Northern and Bluffton.

Otterbein's once-beaten team (7-6 by Heidelberg) leads the state in scoring with 161 for four games, but Muskingum with 135 in three has the best average. Ohio State and Oberlin, each with one enemy touchdown, top the defensive list. Ten of the state's colleges are unbeaten, five haven't won a game.

Ohio University, having disposed of Dayton and Boston Univ., both rated as major colleges, takes on "big college" Xavier next Saturday at Cincinnati. Other big ones on the 23-game program are:

Ohio State at Purdue, Marshall at Kent State, Bowling Green at Toledo, Heidelberg at Wittenberg, Denison at Wooster, Wichita at Cincinnati, Allegheny at Western Reserve, Louisville at Dayton, Miami at Villanova, and Kentucky State at Central State.

NEW YORK (AP)—It is hard to believe that the Bouncing Bucs, so thoroughly humiliated by two successive one-sided defeats, were all even today with New York Yankees at two victories apiece in the best-of-seven series for the world championship.

It is even harder to believe that the same pitiful Pirates of two days ago, who apparently were on the way to four straight lickings following their opening game triumph, actually are in better shape than their Yankee tormentors.

True, the odds-makers continue to make the Yankees a strong 9-5 favorite to capture the Series despite the Pirates' comeback 3-2 victory before 67,812 Yankee Stadium fans. New York is an 8 to 5 choice to win today's fifth game. But the odds-makers are not reckoning with these hard, cold facts:

1. The Pirates must be conceded an edge on the mound today with their veteran southpaw Harvey Haddix, an 11-game winner during the regular season opposed by rookie right-hander Bill Stafford, who had a 3-1 record following his promotion from the Yankees' Richmond farm last summer. Pittsburgh still has the edge even if Casey Stengel switched to Art Ditmar, as he indicated he might. Ditmar failed to last an inning in the first game.

2. No matter what happened today, the Pirates were assured of returning to Forbes Field, where they've won 52 of 77 regular season games this year, for the sixth game on Wednesday. And should the Series go all the way, the deciding game also will be played in the Pirates' home den on Thursday.

3. The Pirates appear in much better shape for pitching during the balance of the Series. They have Bob Friend, their 18-game winner, primed for the sixth game. Friend was fairly effective in the second game before bowing out for a pinch hitter in the fourth inning. If a seventh game is needed, Vern Law, who has turned in both Pittsburgh victories undoubtedly will try to become the first three-game winner since Lew Burdette tamed the Yankees in 1957.

If Ditmar fails to see action today, he is the likely choice for the sixth game with Whitey Ford probably getting the nod over right-hander Bob Turley in the possible seventh and payoff meeting. Ford, the brilliant left-hander, who blanked the Pirates Saturday, has never won a Series game away from home, losing all three decisions.

Murtaugh said Pittsburgh's heart-in-the-mouth victory Sunday was "typical" of his team. The Pirates got good pitching, good defense and earned their runs the hard way—by scratching and clawing and causing the opposition to make mistakes.

"The game we play the day before doesn't mean a thing to us," he said, referring to Saturday's 10-0 shellacking (there was also that 16-3 defeat in the second game). "We've been counted out a half dozen times but we've always come back."

The Pirates got the good pitching from starter Law and from reliever Elroy Face. They got brilliant defensive play from center fielder Bill Virdon and third baseman Don Hoak. They got timely hitting from Law and Virdon. But the biggest help to them were a couple of Yankees — Bill Skowron and Bobby Richardson. The pair was responsible for half the Yankees' eight hits and both their runs but their mistakes in the field paved the way for the Pirates' runs.

It all happened in the fateful fifth inning. Gino Cimoli, playing in place of the injured Bob Skinner, singled for the first hit off Ralph Terry.

Smoky Burgess followed with a slow grounder toward first. Skowron grabbed the ball close to the bag and tried for the force but Cimoli beat the throw. So, instead of there being one out and a runner on second, there were two on and nobody out.

Hoak, ordered to sacrifice, elected to push a bunt past the pitcher but sent a low popup to Richardson instead. Since a bunt is not an infield fly and therefore not an automatic out, Richardson could have trapped the ball and turned it into a double play. But the second baseman decided to catch it instead.

After Bill Mazeroski popped up —this was an infield fly and an automatic out — Law banged a double to left scoring Cimoli. Virdon followed with a Texas League single over the infield to score Burgess and Law with the second and third runs.

This stood up all the way despite some anxious moments in the seventh and ninth.

The Yankees were trailing 3-1 in the seventh when Skowron, whose home run in the fourth had given his team a temporary 1-0 lead, slammed a one-bounce double into the right field stands. Gil McDougald singled to right but Skowron had to hold up at third when Roberto Clemente made a true throw to the plate.

Richardson, who had already doubled and singled, missed a squeeze bunt attempt then bounced into a force play at second. Skowron scoring. Pinch hitter Johnny Blanchard singled Richardson to second and Murtaugh summoned Face from the bullpen.

The brilliant reliefer threw Bob Cerv a fast ball and the bemuscled outfielder whaled it to deep right center. Virdon, racing toward the bleachers, made a spectacular running, leaping catch, holding the ball despite a hard fall on the cinder path at the foot of the wall. Richardson ambled to third after the catch but was left there when Face tossed out Tony Kubek.

The little right-hander retired the next six batters but received another scare in the ninth. Skowron, leading off the last inning, first missed a homer with a long drive to right that curved foul at the last moment, then smashed a sizzler inside third. Hoak made a brilliant stab and threw him out.

Buckeye Back Sets Mark For Longest Gain

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Any student will tell you that Ohio State's 1960 football team is like the fabled Phoenix of ancient Egypt.

The Phoenix, a miraculous bird, after being consumed by fire, rose in youthful freshness from its own ashes.

A year ago the Buckeyes were literally consumed by fire as they faltered through a 3-5-1 season, but the rejuvenated kids of 1960 are climbing the heights toward gridiron glory.

No one, including Coach Woody Hayes and his assistants, was too impressed by the 24-0 win over Southern Methodist and the 20-0 nod over Southern Cal in the openers.

But Saturday, as Illinois' fourth-ranked unbeaten team celebrated its 50th homecoming, the Bucks had everything for a 34-7 victory.

Billy Wentz, granted an extra year of eligibility, ran 102 yards with the second half kickoff, giving the Canton boy the longest gain in Ohio history. Fullbacks Bob Ferguson and Roger Detrick plunged two yards for touchdowns, quarterback Tom Matte scooted 57 yards on an option play, and halfback Bob Klein raced 42 for the other scores.

The Bucks were underdogs by three points, but Hayes had too many people doing too many things and the result was a resounding upset. Like a 10-fingered boy trying to stop 11 holes in a dike, Illinois just couldn't plug everything.

A year ago the Bucks opened against Duke, Southern Cal and Illinois, and had a 1-2 record with a 14-39 scoring deficit. This year, at the end of three, the Ohioans are 3-0 and lead the scoring by 78-7.

Next week the Bucks go against Purdue's Boilermakers at Lafayette, Ind., and Jack Mollenkopf's crew will be on the rebound after losing 24-13 to Wisconsin on a pair of last-half touchdowns. Purdue has a 1-1-1 record after tying UCLA 27-27 and whomping Notre Dame 51-19.

Despite the varied scoring methods against Illinois, Ohio State clung mostly to its quarterback fullback offense. Of the 330 yards rushing, fullback Ferguson ate up 82, fullback Detrick 23, and quarterback Matte 129 for a total of 234.

Bally Ache's Career Ends With Injury

By The Associated Press

The fabulous racing career of Bally Ache, a 3-year-old for whom a syndicate paid $1,250,000 last spring, has ended. And Laurel is looking for another American horse for its $100,000 Washington, D.C. International on Nov. 11.

Bally Ache, heir apparent to the divisional title, broke down during the running of a tune-up race last Saturday for Hawthorne's $100,000 Gold Cup. The Gold Cup is scheduled for this Saturday.

X-rays showed no bones were broken but trainer Jimmy Pitt said the son of Ballydam "undoubtedly is through racing." Pitt described the injury as an odd and severe dislocation of the ankle.

The injury to the cold for whom Leonard Frutchman of Ohio paid $2,500 as a yearling was the big racing news over the weekend.

Elsewhere in the feature races, the Argentine-bred Don Poggio won the $56,700 Manhattan Handicap at Belmont Park, April Skies took the $7,500 Inaugural Handicap at Narragansett Park a few hours after being purchased for $50,000 by Jerry Derenzo of Needham, Mass., Little Fitz captured the $17,700 Fayette Handicatp at Kenneland's opener, On His Metal won the $38,975 Hawthorne Juvenile and How Now ran his earnings over the $300,000 mark with victory in the $10,850 San Francisco Handicap at Tanforan, and Undulation took the $29,950 Jersey Belle Stakes for 3-year-old fillies as Garden State Park opened its fall meeting.

Green Bay Upsets Colts; Giants Win

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

The rebuilt Green Bay Packers, molded into a title contender by Vince Lombardi, have struck the first blow against the kingpin Baltimore Colts in a determined bid to bring the smallest city in the National Football League its first championship since 1944.

The Packers parlayed a pair of pass interceptions by Hank Gremminger and two fumble recoveries into four touchdowns and shocked the two-time champion Colts 35-21 Sunday.

Lombardi, 47, former New York Giants' assistant who was one of the "seven blocks of granite" at Fordham University, became the Packers' coach and general manager after the dismal 1958 season in which Green Bay won only one game.

The Packers now are in a four-way scramble for the lead in the West with Baltimore, Chicago and San Francisco—all with 2-1 records.

The Bears' Ed Brown tossed three touchdown passes in a 34-27 victory over Los Angeles while San Francisco edged the Detroit Lions 14-10 on an 10-yard pass from John Brodie to R. C. Owens as the final gun sounded.

The New York Giants beat the Pittsburgh Steelers 19-17 on a last-minute 64-yard TD pitch from Charley Conerly to Frank Gifford and took over the top spot in the Eastern Division with a 3-0 record, a half-game in front of idle Cleveland.

Philadelphia whipped St. Louis 31-27 and Washington won its first 26-14 over Dallas in other games.

In the American League, Houston moved into first place in the Eastern sector with a 3-1 record by beating the New York Titans 27-21. Oakland squeezed by Dallas 20-19 and, in a Saturday night contest, Boston trounced favored Los Angeles 35-0.

Brown's third long TD toss, a 52-yarder to Angelo Coia put it out of reach when the Rams struck back in the second half after the Bears had built a 27-6 lead. Brown, who also tallied once, connected with John Morris for 45 and 66-yard scoring aerials. Rick Casares supplied the ground attack and bettered Bronco Nagurski's alltime Bear rushing record by ramming 70 yards for a 4,042-yard total.

The 49ers won at Detroit when John Brodie came off the bench and engineered two scoring drives in the final 3 minutes and 42 seconds—passing 10 yards to Billy Wilson for one score, then connecting with Owens as time ran out.

Conerly came in for the Giants in the final session, pitched to Kyle Rote who lateraled to Bob Schnelker for a 34-yard gain and on the next play connected with Gifford for the winner. The Steelers had pushed in front 17-12 on a 30-yard Bobby Layne to Buddy Dial TD strike and Bert Rechichar's field goal.

Norm Van Brocklin, who earlier hit Pete Retzlaff with a pair of touchdown tosses, flipped an 11-yarder to Tommy McDonald in the fourth period for the Eagles clincher against the Cards.

Ralph Guglielmi took over at quarterback for the Redskins, passed for one touchdown and set up two of Bob Khayat's four field goals in a passing duel with the Cowboys Eddie LeBaron.

NFL Averages Much Higher In Attendance

By The Associated Press

The National Football League averaged over 37,000 fans a game for its six weekend contests compared to an 18,000 average for a trip of clashes in the new American League.

The largest NFL turnout was the 49,825 who clicked the turnstiles at Detroit for the Lions-San Francisc game Sunday while 47,776 saw Los Angeles at Chicago. The senior circuit total for the day was 224,917.

An estimated 21,000 turned out at Dallas for the Oakland-Texans AFL game with 55,377 attending the three games.

Ohio U. Pulls Big Surprise Over Boston U.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — How about those Bobcats of Ohio University?

Hampered all last week by a series of heavy colds and upset stomachs, the 'Cats turned a 19-point underdog role into a smashing 36-6 victory over Boston University in beantown Saturday.

The Athens avalanche was voted the No. 1 team among the nation's smaller colleges in the opening Associated Press poll last week, and they made it stick with a vengeance as they tramped the Boston big college representative.

Just two weeks ago top-ranked Syracuse won over the same Boston team by 35-7, so Ohio U. had a point edge each way over the pace-setters.

And Penn State, which Saturday defeated Army 27-16, triumphed only 20-0 over Boston Univ. Holy Cross, which Saturday held Syracuse to a 15-6 win, was beaten 20-14 by Boston Univ. a week ago.

The Bobcats, along with the rest of the Mid-American Conference, have been seeking "major college" rating. It has been denied on the ground a team must play half its scheduled against major foes—an impossibility for the Mid-American teams unless the entire conference moves up.

While the Athens juggernaut of Bill Hess was zooming to its fourth straight win, Ohio's other colleges were winning more than their share of interstate games. The Buckeye clubs won 8 of 11 against out-of-state foes over the weekend, for a season record of 28-9-2 and a scoring edge of 861-41.

Bowling Green edged into the top spot in the Mid - American loop with 3-0, handing Western Michigan its second one-point defeat by 14-13. Kent State surprised everyone with a 22-19 victory over Miami on the Redskins' home lot.

Muskingum won 25-14 over Denison to take the Ohio Conference top spot at 3-0, but co-champions Wooster and Heidelberg, along with Ohio Wesleyan and Oberlin, are still unbeaten in the sprawling league. Western Reserve and Allegheny moved into the leads in the Presidents' Conference with 2-0, and they meet Saturday to determine which will remain there.

Pacing the Mid-Ohio with 2-0 are Ohio Northern and Bluffton.

Otterbein's once - beaten team (7-6 by Heidelberg) leads the state in scoring with 161 for four games, but Muskingum with 135 in three has the best average. Ohio State and Oberlin, each with one enemy touchdown, top the defensive list. Ten of the state's colleges are unbeaten, five haven't won a game.

Ohio University, having disposed of Dayton and Boston Univ., both rated as major colleges, takes on "big college" Xavier next Saturday at Cincinnati. Other big ones on the 23-game program are:

Face Saves 3-2 Tilt For Law; Virdon, Hoak Make Key Plays

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—It is hard to believe that the Bouncing Bucs, so thoroughly humiliated by two successive one-sided defeats, were all even today with New York Yankees at two victories apiece in the best-of-seven series for the world championship.

It is even harder to believe that the same pitiful Pirates of two days ago, who apparently were on the way to four straight lickings following their opening game triumph, actually are in better shape than their Yankee tormentors.

True, the odds-makers continue to make the Yankees a strong 9-5 favorite to capture the Series despite the Pirates' comeback 3-2 victory before 67,812 Yankee Stadium fans. New York is an 8 to 5 choice to win today's fifth game. But the odds-makers are not reckoning with these hard, cold facts:

1. The Pirates must be conceded an edge on the mound today with their veteran southpaw Harvey Haddix, an 11-game winner during the regular season opposed by rookie right-hander Bill Stafford, who had a 3-1 record following his promotion from the Yankees' Richmond farm last summer. Pittsburgh still has the edge even if Casey Stengel switched to Art Ditmar, as he indicated he might. Ditmar failed to last an inning in the first game.

2. No matter what happened today, the Pirates were assured of returning to Forbes Field, where they've won 52 of 77 regular season games this year, for the sixth game on Wednesday. And should the Series go all the way, the deciding game also will be played in the Pirates' home den on Thursday.

3. The Pirates appear in much better shape for pitching during the balance of the Series. They have Bob Friend, their 18-game winner, primed for the sixth game. Friend was fairly effective in the second game before bowing out for a pinch hitter in the fourth inning. If a seventh game is needed, Vern Law, who has turned in both Pittsburgh victories undoubtedly will try to become the first three-game winner since Lew Burdette tamed the Yankees in 1957.

If Ditmar fails to see action today, he is the likely choice for the sixth game with Whitey Ford probably getting the nod over right-hander Bob Turley in the possible seventh and payoff meeting. Ford, the brilliant left-hander, who blanked the Pirates Saturday, has never won a Series game away from home, losing all three decisions.

Murtaugh said Pittsburgh's heart-in-the-mouth victory Sunday was "typical" of his team. The Pirates got good pitching, good defense and earned their runs the hard way — by scratching and clawing and causing the opposition to make mistakes.

"The game we play the day before doesn't mean a thing to us," he said, referring to Saturday's 10-0 shellacking (there was also that 16-3 defeat in the second game). "We've been counted out a half dozen times but we've always come back."

The Pirates got the good pitching from starter Law and from reliever Elroy Face. They got brilliant defensive play from center fielder Bill Virdon and third baseman Don Hoak. They got timely hitting from Law and Virdon. But the biggest help to them were a couple of Yankees — Bill Skowron and Bobby Richardson. The pair was responsible for half the Yankees' eight hits and both their runs but their mistakes in the field paved the way for the Pirates' runs.

It all happened in the fateful fifth inning. Gino Cimoli, playing in place of the injured Bob Skinner, singled for the first hit off Ralph Terry.

Smoky Burgess followed with a slow grounder toward first. Skowron grabbed the ball close to the bag and tried for the force but Cimoli beat the throw. So, instead of there being one out and a runner on second, there were two on and nobody out.

Hoak, ordered to sacrifice, elected to push a bunt past the pitcher but sent a low popup to Richardson instead. Since a bunt is not an infield fly and therefore not an automatic out, Richardson could have trapped the ball and turned it into a double play. But the second baseman decided to catch it instead.

After Bill Mazeroski popped up —this was an infield fly and an automatic out — Law banged a double to left scoring Cimoli. Virdon followed with a Texas League single over the infield to score Burgess and Law with the second and third runs.

This stood up all the way despite some anxious moments in the seventh and ninth.

The Yankees were trailing 3-1 in the seventh when Skowron, whose home run in the fourth had given his team a temporary 1-0 lead, slammed a one-bounce double into the right field stands. Gil McDougald singled to right but Skowron had to hold up at third when Roberto Clemente made a true throw to the plate.

Richardson, who had already doubled and singled, missed a squeeze bunt attempt then bounced into a force play at second, Skowron scoring. Pinch hitter Johnny Blanchard singled Richardson to second and Murtaugh summoned Face from the bullpen.

The brilliant reliefer threw Bob Cerv a fast ball and the bemuscled outfielder whaled it to deep right center. Virdon, racing toward the bleachers, made a spectacular running, leaping catch, holding the ball despite a hard fall on the cinder path at the foot of the wall. Richardson ambled to third after the catch but was left there when Face tossed out Tony Kubek.

The little right-hander retired the next six batters but received another scare in the ninth. Skowron, leading off the last inning, first missed a homer with a long drive to right that curved foul at the last moment, then smashed a sizzler inside third. Hoak made a brilliant stab and threw him out.

Buckeye Back Sets Mark For Longest Gain

By FRITZ HOWELL

Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Any student will tell you that Ohio State's 1960 football team is like the fabled Phoenix of ancient Egypt.

The Phoenix, a miraculous bird, after being consumed by fire, rose in youthful freshness from its own ashes.

A year ago the Buckeyes were literally consumed by fire as they faltered through a 3-5-1 season, but the rejuvenated kids of 1960 are climbing the heights toward gridiron glory.

No one, including Coach Woody Hayes and his assistants, was too impressed by the 24-0 win over Southern Methodist and the 20-0 nod over Southern Cal in the openers.

But Saturday, as Illinois' fourth-ranked unbeaten team celebrated its 50th homecoming, the Bucks had everything for a 34-7 victory.

Billy Wentz, granted an extra year of eligibility, ran 102 yards with the second half kickoff, giving the Canton boy the longest gain in Ohio history. Fullbacks Bob Ferguson and Roger Detrick plunged two yards for touchdowns, quarterback Tom Matte scooted 37 yards on an option play, and halfback Bob Klein raced 42 for the other scores.

The Bucks were underdogs by three points, but Hayes had too many people doing too many things and the result was a resounding upset. Like a 10-fingered boy trying to stop 11 holes in a dike, Illinois just couldn't plug everything.

A year ago the Bucks opened against Duke, Southern Cal and Illinois, and had a 1-2 record with a 14-28 scoring deficit. This year, at the end of three, the Ohioans are 3-0 and lead the scoring by 78-7.

Next week the Bucks go against Purdue's Boilermakers at Lafayette, Ind., and Jack Mollenkopf's crew will be on the rebound after losing 24-13 to Wisconsin on a pair of last-half touchdowns. Purdue has a 1-1-1 record after tying UCLA 27-27 and whomping Notre Dame 51-19.

Despite the varied scoring methods against Illinois, Ohio State clung mostly to its quarterback fullback offense. Of the 230 yards rushing, fullback Ferguson ate up 82, fullback Detrick 23, and quarterback Matte 129 for a total of 234.

Connor's Birds Make Clean Sweep Of Race

Bally Ache's Career Ends With Injury

By The Associated Press

The fabulous racing career of Bally Ache, a 3-year-old for whom a syndicate paid $1,250,000 last spring, has ended. And Laurel is looking for another American horse for its $100,000 Washington, D.C. International on Nov. 11.

Bally Ache, heir apparent to the divisional title, broke down during the running of a tune-up race last Saturday for Hawthorne's $100,000 Gold Cup. The Gold Cup is scheduled for this Saturday.

X-rays showed no bones were broken but trainer Jimmy Pitt said the son of Ballydam "undoubtedly is through racing." Pitt described the injury as an odd and severe dislocation of the ankle.

The injury to the cold for whom Leonard Frutchman of Ohio paid $2,500 as a yearling was the big racing news over the weekend.

Elsewhere in the feature races, the Argentine-bred Don Poggio won the $56,700 Manhattan Handicap at Belmont Park, April Skies took the $7,500 Inaugural Handicap at Narragansett Park a few hours after being purchased for $50,000 by Jerry Derenzo of Needham, Mass., Little Fitz captured the $17,700 Fayette Handicatp at Kenneland's opener, On His Metal won the $38,975 Hawthorne Juvenile and How Now ran his earnings over the $300,000 mark with victory in the $10,850 San Francisco Handicap at Tanforan, and Undulation took the $29,950 Jersey Belle Stakes for 3-year-old fillies as Garden State Park opened its fall meeting.

Bown's Hans Scores 20th Win At Trial

It marked the 20th win for the champ. Also the son of the champ, White Crest Hans Jr., also owned by White, placed third at the field trial held by the Pleasant Valley Beagle Club of Magnolia last week.

Klembara, McLaughlin Spark Victory

Blending a powerful passing and running attack, 22nd-ranked Beaver Local marched to its fifth straight victory of the season by humbling United, 30-8, Saturday afternoon at Williamsport. The victory marked a successful homecoming.

Ron McLaughlin, Beaver Local's high-scoring halfback, was on the receiving end of two touchdown passes thrown by tricky quarterback Mike Klembara.

The versatile McLaughlin also showed he could throw a football as well as run with it when he tossed to end Gary Williams for a touchdown play covering 20 yards.

The other Beaver Local touchdown was scored by Francis Possage, who carried over from the 5-yard line in the first period.

McLaughlin, one of the top scorers in Ohio high school football, picked up his 12th and 13th touchdowns and added four more points on conversions for a total of 16 for the day.

He has outdistanced all other scorers on the district to date.

Following a tight first half which found Beaver Local only leading 8-6, Coach Jack O'Rourke's team became fired up and went out to tally one touchdown in the third period and add two clinchers in the fourth.

The Beavers punched across their first touchdown in the opening period on a five-yard run by Possage and Carl Hoppel ran over for the two extra points.

United bounced back with six points in the second quarter. Following a sustained drive, quarterback John Hanna went over from the one for United's only touchdown.

A pass for the conversion fell incomplete and United lost its chance to tie the game.

In the second half, Klembara and McLaughlin became a red-hot combination. The first touchdown play by this scoring combine went for 52 yards, while the second was a short 5-yard flip to McLaughlin in the end zone.

The final touchdown came when McLaughlin took a pitchout, drifted off to the side and hit Williams with a 20-yard touchdown pass.

The loss marked United's third in five games.

Beaver Local will play host to South Side next Saturday afternoon.

SALINEVILLE — The accurate throwing arm of quarterback sensation Bob Mills triggered Stanton Local's offense to new heights here Saturday afternoon.

With Mills throwing for three touchdowns and scoring another, Stanton rolled up a 42-6 count over its No. 1 rival, Salineville.

The 42 points marked a new high for the Ironmen this season. Their previous high was only 12, but Saturday the offense erupted.

Mills, a 6-foot junior, fired two touchdown passes, one for 10 yards and the other for 22 yards, to end Curt Rose. The other pass went to Burgett and was good for 20 yards.

The touchdown scored by Mills came on a two-yard sneak in the opening period.

Stanton scored twice in the opening quarter and two more in the second period to take a 28-0 lead at halftime.

Salineville broke the ice with a touchdown by Bud Leatherberry, who plunged over from the one-yard line following a 60-yard drive in the third quarter.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The University of Illinois denied admission this fall to 200 women undergraduate students because no approved housing was available in Urbana.

Dean Charles W. Sanford, says the school's doors opened to a record breaking enrollment of 22,500, over the estimated enrollment by 900.

The student body hadn't been expected to reach 22,500 until September, 1961.

Salineville Is Victim

Mills' Aerial Show Leads Stanton To 42-6 Decision

SALINEVILLE — The accurate throwing arm of quarterback sensation Bob Mills triggered Stanton Local's offense to new heights here Saturday afternoon.

With Mills throwing for three touchdowns and scoring another, Stanton rolled up a 42-6 count over its No. 1 rival, Salineville.

The 42 points marked a new high for the Ironmen this season. Their previous high was only 12, but Saturday the offense erupted.

Mills, a 6-foot junior, fired two touchdown passes, one for 10 yards and the other for 22 yards, to end Curt Rose. The other pass went to Burgett and was good for 20 yards.

The touchdown scored by Mills came on a two-yard sneak in the opening period.

Kent Cline and Stan Wickham added Stanton's two other touchdowns on runs of 3 yards. Wickham also added a pair of conversions.

Stanton scored twice in the opening quarter and two more in the second period to take a 28-0 lead at halftime.

Salineville broke the ice with a touchdown by Bud Leatherberry, who plunged over from the one-yard line following a 60-yard drive in the third quarter.

The victory was Stanton's third in five games. Salineville, after winning its first start, dropped its fourth straight.

Volunteer Firemen Faced 'Double Duty'

WILLIAMS, Ariz. (AP) — Volunteer firemen had to fight both a trailer fire and the trailer's owner.

Firemen Fred Augenstein asked W. W. Hamilton to get out of the way of firemen. Hamilton refused and socked Augenstein. Hamilton was fined $200 for simple assault and interference with the firemen.

He also had an expensive repair bill. Fire damage to the trailer was estimated at $1,300.

Record Enrollment Leaves 200 Coeds Out

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The University of Illinois denied admission this fall to 200 women undergraduate students because no approved housing was available in Urbana.

Dean Charles W. Sanford, says the school's doors opened to a record breaking enrollment of 22,300, over the estimated enrollment by 300.

The student body hadn't been expected to reach 22,300 until September, 1961.

Midland Tops Monaca, 13-7; Warwood Blanks Chester

Epley, Vaughn Register TD's For Leopards

Midland almost "kicked" its first victory of the season right out the door, but time and a lapse of memory by a Monaca lineman spared the Leopards, who walked off with a 13-7 win Saturday night at Monaca.

Leading 13-7 with less than 30 seconds to play, Midland's Ken Eckles, went back on his own 10-yard line to punt out of danger, instead the ball hit the helmet of Art Vaughn who was back to block for Eckles.

The pigskin bounced back and rolled to the 5-yard line. In Pennsylvania, an opponent may pick up the ball and run with it, but the Monaca lineman just fell on the pigskin instead and was piled on by a host of Midland players.

Before Monaca could line up to run a play the game ended and Midland had its first victory in four starts and first under its new Coach John Polce.

Monaca drew first blood Saturday, but two third-period scores by Midland put the Leopards in front.

Tim Epley swept end for 10 yards and a touchdown early in the third quarter. His kick for the extra point went wide. Paul Cacic helped set up the first touchdown for Midland by recovering a fumble on the Monaca 30-yard line.

Steve Trbovich and Art Vaughn gave Midland the winning edge when they combined on a 23-yard pass play. Trbovich flipped a short flat pass to Vaughn who turned on the speed to the end zone.

This time Epley's kick was perfect and the Leopards took a 13-7 lead.

A fumble and penalty set up Monaca's second-period score. The Indians recovered a fumble on the Midland 15. Charged with clipping, Midland was penalized half the distance to the goal on the 7-yard line. Two plays later fullback Gene Davis smashed over left tackle from one yard away.

Corky Robertson's placement hit the crossbar and bounced over for the extra point.

Midland's Henry Tookes, who plays guard, was removed in the third period when he received a knee injury. The Leopards also played their second straight game without veteran fullback Bob Krizan in the lineup. Krizan is still recovering from an injury.

QUITE A CATCH. Denver McGraw, 909 Oak St., was a happy fisherman Sunday night after he returned home with this 55-pound catfish from the Muskingum River. He made the catch yesterday afternoon. The fish was so heavy that his young grandson, Harry Johnson, gave him a lift. The fish, which measures 40 inches, is one of the largest to be caught in the Muskingum River this year. McGraw was fishing the area between Lowell and Beverly. He was fishing from a boat at the time and said it took 20 minutes to land the big fellow.

New York Guard Dies

Death Mars 27-21 Victory For Houston Over Titans

By CHARLES H. GREEN

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Oilers are in first place in the Eastern Division of the American Football League after a death-marred 27-21 victory over the New York Titans Sunday.

Titan guard Howard Glenn, 25, died of unknown causes shortly after the game. An autopsy was ordered.

The Oilers scored twice on runs by Billy Cannon and Charley Tolar and again on a six-yard pass from George Blanda to Jack Atchason.

The busy Blanda, the AFL's leading scorer, also kicked field goals of 22 and 36 yards.

New York threw 51 passes — probably enough to satisfy even Sammy Baugh, the aerial-minded Titan coach.

Dick Jamieson and Al Dorow completed 25, three of them for touchdowns.

Jamieson threw to Art Powell for touchdowns of 3 and 33 yards. Don Maynard caught an eight-yard Dorow pass for a score.

In the only other Sunday game, the Oakland Raiders beat the Dallas Texans, 20-19, in Dallas by scoring 20 points in 10 minutes of the third quarter. Jim (Jetstream) Smith ran a kickoff back 98 yards for one of the touchdowns.

Dallas could have won the game in the final two minutes after Cotton Davidson passed to Max Boydstan for a touchdown and the Texans trailed by one point.

The Texans tried for the two-point conversion allowed under AFL rules but Bo Dickinson was stopped two feet from the goal.

Oakland scored on Smith's run, a nine-yard pass from Tony Teresa to Alan Goldstein and a 16-yard run by Goldstein.

Saturday night Boston beat Los Angeles, 18-0.

Denver continues to lead the Western Division, in which Dallas, Los Angeles and Oakland are tied for second place.

Cerebral Accident Probably Caused Death

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Howard Glenn, a football player for the professional New York Titans, died in a hospital Sunday night shortly after he played in an American Football League game.

One of two doctors who treated the 25-year-old Negro said Glenn may have suffered some sort of brain injury.

"A statement about the cause of death cannot possibly be made at this time," said Dr. Franklin M. Rivers.

"It appears to be a cerebral accident of some sort."

Rivers said Glenn, a guard from Vancouver, Wash., returned to the bench after a series of plays. He complained of feeling tired.

Glenn was sent to the dressing room. He showered, took some pills and drank a soft drink.

By the time the game was over Glenn had become belligerent and wanted to fight, Rivers said. He became hysterical and went into a stupor.

"He never came out of the stupor," the doctor said.

City Man, 24, Wounded While Cleaning Pistol

A W. 5th St. man was shot in the foot accidentally early Sunday morning while cleaning a pistol, police reported.

Officers said Everett London, 24, of 113 W. 5th St. told them he had been drinking and decided to clean the .22-caliber pistol after returning home.

The pistol went off accidentally and the bullet struck him in the left foot, police said. London was treated at City Hospital.

Survey Shows Apathy

NORTH FERRISBURG, Vt. (AP)— A survey of 175 Protestant churches in Vermont shows that ministers feel one of the church's biggest problems is apathy. "People don't take religion seriously," said one pastor. Said another: "They want a Sunday-morning service, and that's about all."

Syracuse Unimpressive For 2nd Straight Week

By The Associated Press

Is Syracuse, the powerful defending national football champion heading for a fall?

For two weeks now, Ben Schwartzwalder's outfit has found the going rough.

Against Kansas, the Orange won by one touchdown, 14-7. There was some cause for that. The Jayhawks are a good club, capable of winning the Big Eight championship.

Last Saturday, Syracuse barely stumbled past winless Holy Cross, 15-6.

Directly ahead is Penn State, perennial Eastern power and apparently just beginning to find itself. The Nittany Lions rebounded from a defeat by Missouri to whip Army, 27-16, Saturday.

If Penn State plays like it did against Army and if Syracuse plays like it did against Holy Cross, Schwartzwalder's behemoths are in for trouble.

After Penn State, Syracuse' only big problem appears to be Army on Nov. 5.

Mississippi, No. 2 behind Syracuse in the current Associated Press poll, has no great problem in Tulane this week. Ole Miss swept past Vanderbilt in a Southeastern Conference game Saturday, 26-0, but Vandy already had been beaten twice.

More significant than Mississippi's third victory was the downfall of three other pretenders to Syracuse's throne—two in the Big Ten and one in the Southwest Conference.

Both Illinois and Purdue, rated Nos. 4 and 7, respectively in the AP poll, were well beaten. Ohio State, No. 5 humiliated Illinois, 34-7, and Wisconsin clobbered Purdue, 24-13.

That makes Iowa, No. 3 and a 27-15 victor over Michigan State, and Ohio State the favorites for the Big Ten title. They meet on Nov. 12. Iowa takes on Wisconsin this week and Ohio State is at Purdue.

Arkansas, which had been rolling along as the strong favorite to win the Southwest Conference title, fell before Baylor, 28-14.

Arkansas faces another roughie in Texas this time around, while Baylor plays Texas Tech. The following week Texas gets its shot at Baylor.

Navy, No. 6 in the poll, stopped Southern Methodist, 26-7, and has a date with the Air Force Academy this week.

Panthers Drop 4th Straight Grid Contest

A big warwood team led by its 200-pound fullback Arland Stanvik ground out a 21-0 victory over Chester Saturday night at Warwood.

The defeat marked Chester's fourth straight in five outings.

Following a scoreless first quarter, Warwood punched across one touchdown in the second quarter, then added single TD's in the third and fourth periods.

Stanvik, a husky fullback, plunged for the first two scores from the 2 and 3 yard lines following sustained drives.

Quarterback Lou Vidoni sneaked over from two yards out for Warwood's other score. Groux, a 240-pound tackle kicked three straight extra points.

Coach Dom Amedeo's team threatened once in the second quarter when the Panthers drove to inside the Warwood 15. A 15-yard penalty stopped the drive.

John Bickerstaff and Gary Pugh were the leading ground gainers for Chester. Bickerstaff got loose once for a 30-yard jaunt.

Defensively, Bob Mackall, Jim Cosgrove and Don Reese stood out for Chester.

The annual Chester-Newell gridiron rivalry will resume Friday night at Newell.

Mother Complains, But Gets No Help

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP) — Many mothers were annoyed by the delay in "no school" announcements on the day Hurricane Donna arrived.

One mother decided to do something about it.

She called former Mayor Joseph Morelli and demanded to know what he was going to do about the situation. After listening to the mother's complaint Morelli informed her he had been out of office since last April.

Television Scored

NEW YORK (AP) — Television has scuttled many Sunday evening church services in the last 10 years, says the Rev. Dr. Edgar S. Brown, director of the United Lutheran Church's department of worship. Writing in "The Lutheran," he says: "Ed Sullivan replaced Sunday evening prayers, and most people preferred to watch 'What's My Line' rather than sing hymns. Church sign boards had to be changed. Vespers disappeared from the normal Sunday schedule in most of our parishes."

By the time the game was over Glenn had become belligerent and wanted to fight, Rivers said. He became hysterical and went into a stupor.

"He never came out of the stupor," the doctor said.

City Man, 24, Wounded While Cleaning Pistol

A W. 5th St. man was shot in the foot accidentally early Sunday morning while cleaning a pistol, police reported.

Officers said Everett London, 24, of 113 W. 5th St. told them he had been drinking and decided to clean the .22-caliber pistol after returning home.

The pistol went off accidentally and the bullet struck him in the left foot, police said. London was treated at City Hospital.

Survey Shows Apathy

NORTH FERRISBURG, Vt. (AP)— A survey of 175 Protestant churches in Vermont shows that ministers feel one of the church's biggest problems is apathy. "People don't take religion seriously," said one pastor. Said another: "They want a Sunday-morning service, and that's about all."

Syracuse Unimpressive For 2nd Straight Week

By The Associated Press

Is Syracuse, the powerful defending national football champion heading for a fall?

For two weeks now, Ben Schwartzwalder's outfit has found the going rough.

Against Kansas, the Orange won by one touchdown, 14-7. There was some cause for that. The Jayhawks are a good club, capable of winning the Big Eight championship.

Last Saturday, Syracuse barely stumbled past winless Holy Cross, 15-6.

Directly ahead is Penn State, perennial Eastern power and apparently just beginning to find itself. The Nittany Lions rebounded from a defeat by Missouri to whip Army, 27-16, Saturday.

If Penn State plays like it did against Army and if Syracuse plays like it did against Holy Cross, Schwartzwalder's behemoths are in for trouble.

After Penn State, Syracuse' only big problem appears to be Army on Nov. 5.

Mississippi, No. 2 behind Syracuse in the current Associated Press poll, has no great problem in Tulane this week. Ole Miss swept past Vanderbilt in a Southeastern Conference game Saturday, 26-0, but Vandy already had been beaten twice.

More significant than Mississippi's third victory was the downfall of three other pretenders to Syracuse's throne—two in the Big Ten and one in the Southwest Conference.

Both Illinois and Purdue, rated Nos. 4 and 7, respectively in the AP poll, were well beaten. Ohio State, No. 5 humiliated Illinois, 34-7, and Wisconsin clobbered Purdue, 24-13.

That makes Iowa, No. 3 and a 27-15 victor over Michigan State, and Ohio State the favorites for the Big Ten title. They meet on Nov. 12. Iowa takes on Wisconsin this week and Ohio State is at Purdue.

Arkansas, which had been rolling along as the strong favorite to win the Southwest Conference title, fell before Baylor, 28-14.

Arkansas faces another roughie in Texas this time around, while Baylor plays Texas Tech. The following week Texas gets its shot at Baylor.

Navy, No. 6 in the poll, stopped Southern Methodist, 26-7, and has a date with the Air Force Academy this week.

Panthers Drop 4th Straight Grid Contest

A big warwood team led by its 200-pound fullback Arland Stanvik ground out a 21-0 victory over Chester Saturday night at Warwood.

The defeat marked Chester's fourth straight in five outings.

Following a scoreless first quarter, Warwood punched across one touchdown in the second quarter, then added single TD's in the third and fourth periods.

Stanvik, a husky fullback, plunged for the first two scores from the 2 and 3 yard lines following sustained drives.

Quarterback Lou Vidoni sneaked over from two yards out for Warwood's other score. Groux, a 240-pound tackle kicked three straight extra points.

Coach Dom Amedeo's team threatened once in the second quarter when the Panthers drove to inside the Warwood 15. A 15-yard penalty stopped the drive.

John Bickerstaff and Gary Pugh were the leading ground gainers for Chester. Bickerstaff got loose once for a 30-yard jaunt.

Defensively, Bob Mackall, Jim Cosgrove and Don Reese stood out for Chester.

The annual Chester-Newell gridiron rivalry will resume Friday night at Newell.

Mother Complains, But Gets No Help

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (AP) — Many mothers were annoyed by the delay in "no school" announcements on the day Hurricane Donna arrived.

One mother decided to do something about it.

She called former Mayor Joseph Morelli and demanded to know what he was going to do about the situation. After listening to the mother's complaint Morelli informed her he had been out of office since last April.

Television Scored

NEW YORK (AP) — Television has scuttled many Sunday evening church services in the last 10 years, says the Rev. Dr. Edgar S. Brown, director of the United Lutheran Church's department of worship. Writing in "The Lutheran," he says: "Ed Sullivan replaced Sunday evening prayers, and most people preferred to watch 'What's My Line' rather than sing hymns. Church sign boards had to be changed. Vespers disappeared from the normal Sunday schedule in most of our parishes."

Kennedy Sets Beaver Falls Stop Saturday

Sen. John Kennedy will be in Beaver County Saturday and stop only at Beaver Falls for a half hour.

He will be at the Beaver Falls City Building at 11 a. m. and speak. The Beaver County Democratic Committee said he will be at New Castle, Beaver Falls then Butler.

With him will be Gov. David Lawrence and three state candidates, Grace Sloan for treasurer, and two judicial candidates.

The committee had hoped that Kennedy would have had more time for a tour of the county but his campaign schedule is too tight, the party said.

In connection with his Beaver Falls visit, a group of "Kennedy Girls" is being organized to welcome him. Any girl interested should attend a meeting tonight at 8 in the Rochester Borough Building with Mrs. Mary Narrish, president of the Beaver County Federation of Democratic Women.

A representative of Kennedy's campaign committee will be on hand to talk to the girls.

Democrats are also making plans for a prominent Democrat to speak at a banquet in the county.

GOP 'Squad' Hits Kennedy Speech

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Just a few hours after Sen. John F. Kennedy brought his campaign for the presidency to this area Sunday a group which the Republicans call their Truth Squad arrived here.

The squad, headed by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H., attacked the Democratic presidential nominee's statement of Saturday in which he outlined a program to improve this country's position in regard to African nations.

A statement issued by the Truth Squad said Kennedy's five - point African program "contains no new proposals beyond the current policies of the Eisenhower-Nixon administration."

The Republicans charged that although Kennedy is chairman of a Senate subcommittee on Afro-Asian affairs, "he did not call a single session of his subcommittee during 1960," thus ignoring "an opportunity and responsibility to make a sound contribution to his subcommittee."

The statement said Kennedy released "a program for Africa which he called a 'bold and imaginative new program.' The truth is that in attempting to don the mantle of a world statesman and African affairs expert, Sen. Kennedy really missed the mark."

Gas Explosion Burns Elderly Columbus Man

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — Ralph Richardson, 73, of Columbus was burned seriously Sunday when an explosion rocked the Logan home where he was sleeping. Richardson suffered burns on his head, face, shoulders, arms, hands and feet. The explosion, which blew out a wall of the house, destroyed the basement and moved the foundation, was caused when a pilot light on a kitchen stove ignited accumulated gas fumes from a leak in a service line, fire officials said. They estimated the damage at $20,000. The house is owned by Noel Dyer. He and his wife, Ethel, were in the house at the time, but they were not injured.

For years the geographic center of the United States was in north central Kansas, but with the acquisition of Alaska and Hawaii, it is now in western South Dakota in Butte County.

Nixon Starts Final 4-Week Election Drive

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon starts today on the final four fateful weeks in which he thinks this extremely close presidential election will be won or lost.

During this last month Nixon expects to hit out much more often, and much more sharply, at his Democratic foe, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Nixon tried something new in politicking today: a full scale speech at the incredible hour of 7:40 a.m., Billings time.

After Billings, his schedule called for a speech in Denver and then on to Salt Lake City for a talk in the Mormon Tabernacle tonight. Mrs. Nixon planned to fly from Washington, D. C., and join him in Denver.

Nixon spent a comparatively restful Sunday, during which he made news by wandering alone around Billings, and by finding himself so embarrassed for ready money that he had to make a $2.50 touch.

Nixon used most of the afternoon polishing a 750-word statement, in which he summed up where he thinks he and Kennedy chiefly differ, and to sizing up the campaign so far.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's news secretary, told reporters the vice president is convinced the decision is still up in the air.

But, Klein said, "we expect to win it in the next four weeks."

According to Klein, Nixon is banking heavily on making political hay on this Western swing. He gave this rundown on what Nixon thinks about key Western states:

California (32 electoral votes)—Nixon thinks he has slight lead, but it could go either way.

Colorado (6 electoral votes)—Close, and highly important.

Arizona (4 electoral votes)—Much encouraged by recent polls taken there by newspapers.

Klein was asked if he expected Nixon to begin waging a give-'em-hell campaign.

"I'd expect the debate to sharpen up," he said. "We have intended to intensify the campaign as we move along."

Nixon got the most attention Sunday merely by meandering off by himself.

Early risers were startled to see the vice president moseying bareheaded in the cold and the rain, peering into shop windows. This was all the more surprising because Nixon has a slight cold.

Strolling around, Nixon dropped into a motel restaurant for breakfast, and into the First Methodist church to hear Dr. Vern Q. Klingman talk on a subject he often uses himself: peace.

As he was leaving his room, Nixon noticed he was shy of cash and borrowed two silver dollars and a fifty-cent piece from Dennis Holm, a local detective assigned to watch him.

Klein said, and Holm confirmed, that the debt was promptly repaid.

Could Be New Party

TRENTON, Mo. (AP) — A 4-year-old girl was visiting a neighbor when the subject of politics came up. "What's your father," her host asked, "a Republican or a Democrat?" "Neither one," the youngster replied, "He's bald-headed."

U.S. Losing Vote Margin In Cold War

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States will have a harder time getting together enough votes to pass resolutions on cold war issues in the U. N General Assembly.

This was shown Saturday when the Assembly, for the 10th straight year, approved a U. S. resolution to defer the issue of seating Communist China. The resolution squeaked through by a mere eight votes. That compared with 15 a year earlier and 35 in 1952. The tally was 42-34, and there were 22 abstentions.

Plainly, what the Soviet Union calls the Americans' "mechanical majority" no longer worked. Soviet Premier Khrushchev himself said on TV Sunday night, "There will come a time when the United States will be in a minority."

What is the reason for this trend? Why did support of the United States on the Red China issue slip from 44-29 last year to 42-34 this year?

For one thing, Malaya and Laos shifted from "yes" to "abstention," Cuba and Ethiopia from "abstention" to "no."

But the biggest danger to the U. S. majority was seen in the actions of 16 new U. N. members—15 African countries and Cyprus.

Thirteen abstained. The other three—Mali, Nigeria and Senegal—voted against the American resolution.

If nine of those 13 abstainers vote with those other three next year, the United States will lose—and the Assembly will be open to proposals to seat Communist China.

In 1955, 16 new members were taken into the United Nations. The percentage voting in the Assembly in favor of the U. S. moratorium resolution skidded from 77 to 66. This year another 16 came in—and the percentage slipped to 56.

The United States must woo the new delegates — invite them to parties, go to their parties, persuade them, compromise with them. The Soviet Union will be wooing them just as hard.

The United States once was in a strong position because it was linked with a large majority of the U. N. membership through military alliances and was giving economic or military aid to others.

But recent new members are not allied to the United States by military pacts. And the United States has given up economic leverage on them by announcing that it favors channeling aid to Africa through the United Nations—rather than providing it on a nation-to-nation basis.

Nixon Starts Final 4-Week Election Drive

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon starts today on the final four fateful weeks in which he thinks this extremely close presidential election will be won or lost.

During this last month Nixon expects to hit out much more often, and much more sharply, at his Democratic foe, Sen. John F. Kennedy.

Nixon tried something new in politicking today: a full scale speech at the incredible hour of 7:40 a.m., Billings time.

After Billings, his schedule called for a speech in Denver and then on to Salt Lake City for a talk in the Mormon Tabernacle tonight. Mrs. Nixon planned to fly from Washington, D. C., and join him in Denver.

Nixon spent a comparatively restful Sunday, during which he made news by wandering alone around Billings, and by finding himself so embarrassed for ready money that he had to make a $2.50 touch.

Nixon used most of the afternoon polishing a 750-word statement, in which he summed up where he thinks he and Kennedy chiefly differ, and to sizing up the campaign so far.

Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's news secretary, told reporters the vice president is convinced the decision is still up in the air.

But, Klein said, "we expect to win it in the next four weeks."

According to Klein, Nixon is banking heavily on making political hay on this Western swing. He gave this rundown on what Nixon thinks about key Western states:

California (32 electoral votes)—Nixon thinks he has slight lead, but it could go either way.

Colorado (6 electoral votes)—Close, and highly important.

Arizona (4 electoral votes)—Much encouraged by recent polls taken there by newspapers.

Klein was asked if he expected Nixon to begin waging a give-'em-hell campaign.

"I'd expect the debate to sharpen up," he said. "We have intended to intensify the campaign as we move along."

Nixon got the most attention Sunday merely by meandering off by himself.

Early risers were startled to see the vice president moseying bareheaded in the cold and the rain, peering into shop windows. This was all the more surprising because Nixon has a slight cold.

Strolling around, Nixon dropped into a motel restaurant for breakfast, and into the First Methodist church to hear Dr. Vern Q. Klingman talk on a subject he often uses himself: peace.

As he was leaving his room, Nixon noticed he was shy of cash and borrowed two silver dollars and a fifty-cent piece from Dennis Holm, a local detective assigned to watch him.

Klein said, and Holm confirmed, that the debt was promptly repaid.

Could Be New Party

TRENTON, Mo. (AP) — A 4-year-old girl was visiting a neighbor when the subject of politics came up. "What's your father," her host asked, "a Republican or a Democrat?" "Neither one," the youngster replied. "He's bald-headed."

U.S. Losing Vote Margin In Cold War

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The United States will have a harder time getting together enough votes to pass resolutions on cold war issues in the U. N General Assembly.

This was shown Saturday when the Assembly, for the 10th straight year, approved a U. S. resolution to defer the issue of seating Communist China. The resolution squeaked through by a mere eight votes. That compared with 15 a year earlier and 35 in 1952. The tally was 42-34, and there were 22 abstentions.

Plainly, what the Soviet Union calls the Americans' "mechanical majority" no longer worked. Soviet Premier Khrushchev himself said on TV Sunday night, "There will come a time when the United States will be in a minority."

What is the reason for this trend? Why did support of the United States on the Red China issue slip from 44-29 last year to 42-34 this year?

For one thing, Malaya and Laos shifted from "yes" to "abstention," Cuba and Ethiopia from "abstention" to "no."

But the biggest danger to the U. S. majority was seen in the actions of 16 new U. N. members —15 African countries and Cyprus.

Thirteen abstained. The other three—Mali, Nigeria and Senegal —voted against the American resolution.

If nine of those 13 abstainers vote with those other three next year, the United States will lose— and the Assembly will be open to proposals to seat Communist China.

In 1955, 16 new members were taken into the United Nations. The percentage voting in the Assembly in favor of the U. S. moratorium resolution skidded from 77 to 66. This year another 16 came in— and the percentage slipped to 56.

The United States must woo the new delegates — invite them to parties, go to their parties, persuade them, compromise with them. The Soviet Union will be wooing them just as hard.

The United States once was in a strong position because it was linked with a large majority of the U. N. membership through military alliances and was giving economic or military aid to others.

But recent new members are not allied to the United States by military pacts. And the United States has given up economic leverage on them by announcing that it favors channeling aid to Africa through the United Nations —rather than providing it on a nation-to-nation basis.

New Residents Obtain Ballots; Former Ohioans Cannot Vote

Thanks to action taken by the General Assembly after a national hue and cry four years ago, Ohio is one of only three states in the union where a new resident will be able to vote for President and vice-president, even though he has not been a Buckeye long enough to qualify to vote on other offices and questions and issues.

But there's still the paradox that denies the ballot to Ohioans who have moved to other states recently — except if they have made their homes in California or Rhode Island, the only other two states with laws similar to the new Ohio statute.

In other words, a person who has resided in Ohio for as little as 40 days will be permitted to vote for President and vice president, but a person who lived in Ohio for 50 years and then moved to some other state will be denied a ballot.

The County Election Board finds that new residents are surprised and pleased when they learn they will be able to vote on the two top offices in the land. But the former Columbiana County resident now making his home in a distant state is frustrated and angry. He has given up his residence in Ohio — and therefore his right to vote — but he has not resided in the new state long enough to qualify as a voter.

Some former county residents have sought to vote absentee ballots here, under the mistaken impression that they must have the franchise right in Columbiana County is it is being denied to them in their new home.

But the county board's hands are tied. If the individual surrendered his residence he surrendered his right to vote. And if he cannot qualify to vote in his new state in time for the Presidential election, he will be denied a ballot.

Every state in the union was urged to enact laws such as those now in effect in Ohio, California and Rhode Island because of a similar situation that arose during the 1956 Presidential Election. But the majority of state legislatures did not act.

Five new Columbiana County residents have qualified for Presidential ballots so far.

They were required to obtain certification from the election board or similar agency in their former state of residence that they were qualified voters when they left or would have been qualified if they had remained until Nov. 8.

With the proper certification,, they may go to the Election Board office here and obtain ballots to vote only for President and vice president.

The county board then reports to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown the names of persons who obtain such ballots. Brown passes the names along to the secretary of state in the former state of residence as a safeguard against "double voting."

The board here has issued certifications for a number of former residents now making their homes in California. The action will permit them to cast ballots in California. Many others who have moved to Florida recently have found they cannot qualify for a ballot.

Reducing Decision Seen Vital Step

What is the most important factor in reducing? From letters it is clear that above all else an overweight must first make that important inner decision to take action. The day you decide, "I've put up with this fat long enough!" ... that's it.

By Ida Jean Kain

Usually by the time you have made up your mind to change your food habits and diet sensibly, you have learned the hard way of experience. There isn't any easy or magic plan for reducing. You face the fact that it is up to you — that nothing stands in your way of losing the excess poundage, if you decide to do so.

Reading about the success of others help to strengthen your conviction that you can reach ideal weight. Today's story should help you to make a determined start. A Pennsylvanian wrote:

"IN THE 20 years I have been married I gained 80 pounds. I now weigh 220. At an annual gala party, I saw my husband looking at the slim girls admiringly. I made up my mind that by next year I would not be fat.

"In a recent column you wrote about a woman who went on diet after diet ... that could be me. Well, I've started dieting again... and this time I believe I will make it. I have weathered those first few tough weeks.

"The first week just about set me crazy ... trying to keep away from that food. I'm not much for talking to myself, but believe me this time I talked and hope I've won. I realize it's the first bit of candy or cake ... or anything fattening ... that sends me off. I'll let you know how I make out."

I put her letter in a file marked, "Asked to Report." Six months later, this courageous dieter wrote again:

"It was all in making up my mind to get down to business and stick with a low calorie diet made up of protective foods. I could have done better on the reducing score for there were times when I let myself go . . . it was when things got too much for me. Even so, I have lost from 220 to 173 ... 47 pounds off.

"I can't put in words how much this weight loss has meant to me. Every week I see someone I know and it's always the same ... they all tell me how wonderful I look. I know my husband is proud of me.

—:—

"I USED TO wear a size 24½ or a size 44. Now I can get into an 18½ and hope to wear a size 16½."

"Thanks for your encouraging column and assure your readers that reducing is well worth it."

Send a long, self - addressed, stamped envelope for "Hunger Control Diet." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests cannot be answered.

3 Will Be Elected In Citizen' Group

The Ohio Township Citizens' Committee plans to elect three new members at an organization and anniversary meeting in November.

Terms of three will expire. John Flasco, chairman, said that a member of the committee or anyone may recommend a civic minded person, who consents to serve. He must also have a second recommendation.

To be elected, a member must be a registered voter and have resided at least one year in the township. A date for the organization meeting will be announced since the regular meeting date falls on Thanksgiving, Nov. 24.

The commitete also decided to consult the Board of Supervisors about the township's water problems. Supervisor Dick Rice said he would inform the board of the committee's request.

Flasco said that petitions for street lighting are available at his home in Fairview for persons interested in signing or circulating them. They may also be obtained from Mrs. Paul Dawson, committee secretary. The group met Thursday night.

New Residents Obtain Ballots; Former Ohioans Cannot Vote

Thanks to action taken by the General Assembly after a national hue and cry four years ago, Ohio is one of only three states in the union where a new resident will be able to vote for President and vice-president, even though he has not been a Buckeye long enough to qualify to vote on other offices and questions and issues.

But there's still the paradox that denies the ballot to Ohioans who have moved to other states recently — except if they have made their homes in California or Rhode Island, the only other two states with laws similar to the new Ohio statute.

In other words, a person who has resided in Ohio for as little as 40 days will be permitted to vote for President and vice president, but a person who lived in Ohio for 30 years and then moved to some other state will be denied a ballot.

The County Election Board finds that new residents are surprised and pleased when they learn they will be able to vote on the two top offices in the land. But the former Columbiana County resident now making his home in a distant state is frustrated and angry. He has given up his residence in Ohio — and therefore his right to vote — but he has not resided in the new state long enough to qualify as a voter.

Some former county residents have sought to vote absentee ballots here, under the mistaken impression that they must have the franchise right in Columbiana County is it is being denied to them in their new home.

But the county board's hands are tied. If the individual surrendered his residence he surrendered his right to vote. And if he cannot qualify to vote in his new state in time for the Presidential election, he will be denied a ballot.

Every state in the union was urged to enact laws such as those now in effect in Ohio, California and Rhode Island because of a similar situation that arose during the 1956 Presidential Election. But the majority of state legislatures did not act.

Five new Columbiana County residents have qualified for Presidential ballots so far.

They were required to obtain certification from the election board or similar agency in their former state of residence that they were qualified voters when they left or would have been qualified if they had remained until Nov. 8.

With the proper certification, they may go to the Election Board office here and obtain ballots to vote only for President and vice president.

The county board then reports to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown the names of persons who obtain such ballots. Brown passes the names along to the secretary of state in the former state of residence as a safeguard against "double voting."

The board here has issued certifications for a number of former residents now making their homes in California. The action will permit them to cast ballots in California. Many others who have moved to Florida recently have found they cannot qualify for a ballot.

Reducing Decision Seen Vital Step

What is the most important factor in reducing? From letters it is clear that above all else an overweight must first make that important inner decision to take action. The day you decide, "I've put up with this fat long enough!" ... that's it.

By Ida Jean Kain

Usually by the time you have made up your mind to change your food habits and diet sensibly, you have learned the hard way of experience. There isn't any easy or magic plan for reducing. You face the fact that it is up to you — that nothing stands in your way of losing the excess poundage, if you decide to do so.

Reading about the success of others help to strengthen your conviction that you can reach ideal weight. Today's story should help you to make a determined start. A Pennsylvanian wrote:

"IN THE 20 years I have been married I gained 80 pounds. I now weigh 220. At an annual gala party, I saw my husband looking at the slim girls admiringly. I made up my mind that by next year I would not be fat.

"In a recent column you wrote about a woman who went on diet after diet ... that could be me. Well, I've started dieting again... and this time I believe I will make it. I have weathered those first few tough weeks.

"The first week just about set me crazy ... trying to keep away from that food. I'm not much for talking to myself, but believe me this time I talked and hope I've won. I realize it's the first bit of candy or cake ... or anything fattening ... that sends me off. I'll let you know how I make out."

I put her letter in a file marked, "Asked to Report." Six months later, this courageous dieter wrote again:

"It was all in making up my mind to get down to business and stick with a low calorie diet made up of protective foods. I could have done better on the reducing score for there were times when I let myself go . . . it was when things got too much for me. Even so, I have lost from 220 to 173 ... 47 pounds off.

"I can't put in words how much this weight loss has meant to me. Every week I see someone I know and it's always the same ... they all tell me how wonderful I look. I know my husband is proud of me.

—:—

"I USED TO wear a size 24½ or a size 44. Now I can get into an 18½ and hope to wear a size 16½."

"Thanks for your encouraging column and assure your readers that reducing is well worth it."

3 Will Be Elected In Citizen' Group

The Ohio Township Citizens' Committee plans to elect three new members at an organization and anniversary meeting in November.

Terms of three will expire. John Flasco, chairman, said that a member of the committee or anyone may recommend a civic minded person, who consents to serve. He must also have a second recommendation.

To be elected, a member must be a registered voter and have resided at least one year in the township. A date for the organization meeting will be announced since the regular meeting date falls on Thanksgiving, Nov. 24.

The commitete also decided to consult the Board of Supervisors about the township's water problems. Supervisor Dick Rice said he would inform the board of the committee's request.

Flasco said that petitions for street lighting are available at his home in Fairview for persons interested in signing or circulating them. They may also be obtained from Mrs. Paul Dawson, committee secretary. The group met Thursday night.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

'Invisible' Fence Protects Children

Some time ago, a young father told me his two-year-old child didn't get outdoors much because there was no fence around their large lawn. When I suggested that he build an invisible fence, he inquired, "An electric fence?" "Oh, no," I replied, that could be very dangerous. I mean training the child not to go beyond the curb by giving him physical pain with the bare, flat hand on a thigh every time he steps off the curb unattanded until he learns the limitations." The young father shook his head. "I wouldn't do that," he said. To which I replied, "He's your baby, of course."

THE FIRST thing parents of a toddler think about is a fenced-in yard. This has some merits, though there may always be somebody to leave a gate open. The tot with an invisible fence around him might not even go out that open gate.

I know a young family with four children, all of whom, when the eldest was eight, had learned never to go beyond a line near a high bank above a deep stream. The line was designated by a stretched-out hay-rope half an inch thick.

When the rope was first stretched out on the ground, all the children were assembled near it and clearly told never to cross it unless accompanied by one of the parents.

After the rope was there a month, one of the parents told me that not once did a single one of the children ever cross it alone. They had learned well in other situations to respect a clearly defined limitation.

WHEN THE family moved to another home in a large city, their older ones were in school, the youngest about five. At this new home was a large yard, fenced in, where many other children played and often left the gate open.

A piece of old rope was stretched on the ground inside this gate, which the youngest never crossed. By and by it was removed, after he had learned to accept the curb as the boundary.

Considering the cost of building a fence, suppose the mother were to hire a person to do her housework for five days while she devoted several hours a day to training her toddler to stay out of the street. See how far ahead financially she would be. Also, consider the dividends in safety and foundations for self-control in the child for years and years.

My bulletin, "First Steps in Training Tot in Safety" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Lausche Cites Power Of U.S. Military Force

CLEVELAND (AP)—This country is in good shape from a military standpoint, Sen. Frank J. Lausche told Bay Village residents at the opening of the city's sesquicentennial celebration.

Lausche said he believes the United States has the strength to withstand any Soviet attack and release a counterattack that would defeat the communists.

The democratic senator did not touch on politics in Sunday's speech. He referred at one point to the "last decade of alleged prosperity, during which the national debt has not been reduced."

New officers of Columbiana County Salon 432, 8 & 40, were installed at a dinner meeting Saturday night in the American Legion Home at Lisbon. Some 26 attended the dinner, served by the auxiliary of the Lisbon post.

Mrs. Effie Broomall of Salem was installing officer.

The tables were decorated with red and white flower arrangements. Each woman was presented a matching corsage. The program was furnished by the Cassidy Dance Studio of East Liverpool.

Union, Company Seek Injunctions In Strike

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Both sides were to ask Common Pleas Court today for injunctions against each other in the strike of United Mine Workers Union at a Philip Carey Co. plant.

In suits filed Friday, the company contended the union violated an earlier court order by acts of violence around the plant, while the union contended the company was trying to intice violence.

The strike began Sept. 6. The union won bargaining rights last March, but negotiations on a contract bogged down.

Airport Dedicated

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nearly 25,000 persons turned out for the dedication Sunday of Cleveland's lakefront airport. Among the speakers was Thomas A. Burke, a former mayor and former U.S. senator, whose name the airport bears. A new million-dollar terminal at the airport is unfinished, but city officials wanted the public to see it in hopes they would realize the importance of passing a $4 million for lakefront development.

Dutch Ship Arrives

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — The Dutch freighter Ampenan arrived Sunday night from Penang, Malay, to bring this port its first direct overseas cargo. The 437-ton ship of the new Lloyd line carried refined tin destined for the Pittsburgh area.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

'Invisible' Fence Protects Children

Dr. Garry Meyers

Some time ago, a young father told me his two-year-old child didn't get outdoors much because there was no fence around their large lawn. When I suggested that he build an invisible fence, he inquired, "An electric fence?" "Oh, no," I replied, that could be very dangerous. I mean training the child not to go beyond the curb by giving him physical pain with the bare, flat hand on a thigh every time he steps off the curb unattanded until he learns the limitations." The young father shook his head. "I wouldn't do that," he said. To which I replied, "He's your baby, of course."

—:—

THE FIRST thing parents of a toddler think about is a fenced-in yard. This has some merits, though there may always be somebody to leave a gate open. The tot with an invisible fence around him might not even go out that open gate.

I know a young family with four children, all of whom, when the eldest was eight, had learned never to go beyond a line near a high bank above a deep stream. The line was designated by a stretched-out hay-rope half an inch thick.

When the rope was first stretched out on the ground, all the children were assembled near it and clearly told never to cross it unless accompanied by one of the parents.

After the rope was there a month, one of the parents told me that not once did a single one of the children ever cross it alone. They had learned well in other situations to respect a clearly defined limitation.

WHEN THE family moved to another home in a large city, their older ones were in school, the youngest about five. At this new home was a large yard, fenced in, where many other children played and often left the gate open.

A piece of old rope was stretched on the ground inside this gate, which the youngest never crossed. By and by it was removed, after he had learned to accept the curb as the boundary.

Considering the cost of building a fence, suppose the mother were to hire a person to do her housework for five days while she devoted several hours a day to training her toddler to stay out of the street. See how far ahead financially she would be. Also, consider the dividends in safety and foundations for self-control in the child for years and years.

My bulletin, "First Steps in Training Tot in Safety" may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Lausche Cites Power Of U.S. Military Force

CLEVELAND (AP)—This country is in good shape from a military standpoint, Sen. Frank J. Lausche told Bay Village residents at the opening of the city's sesquicentennial celebration.

Lausche said he believes the United States has the strength to withstand any Soviet attack and release a counterattack that would defeat the communists.

The democratic senator did not touch on politics in Sunday's speech. He referred at one point to the "last decade of alleged prosperity, during which the national debt has not been reduced."

New Models for the New Year of 1961

Are making their appearance in the Franchised Dealer's showrooms across the Tri-State Area and are they nice. If you haven't been in to see them as yet you should take the few minutes it takes and stop in and look them over. You wonder where they got all the ideas for the many appearance and comfort changes they are offering.

When the new model time comes around it is an ideal time for the person interested in trading automobiles to do so as the Franchised Dealer's lots are loaded with trade-ins from the 1960 models and must make room for the 1961 model trade-ins that will be coming in at a fast clip. Everyone is familiar with the fact that when a commodity is plentiful — price is lower and that is the way it is with used cars at this time of year.

If you are in the market for a good used automobile, why not stop in to one of the Franchised Dealers showrooms tonight and look over his fine selection of new and used automobiles and let him work out the best deal of your life. You will do well by buying now.

Stop in this very night.

Army Nurse, Oklahoma Man Marry In Lisbon Church Rites

The Church of the Nazarene at Lisbon was the scene of the Friday afternoon wedding of Miss Grace McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy McLaughlin of Lisbon-Salem Rd., and Bobby G. Wade, son of Mrs. Jane Wade and the late George Wade of Tulsa, Okla. It was the first wedding held in the new church and the custom of open church was observed.

Palms, ferns and lighted candelabra decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. Frank M. Brickley.

Carl Bailey of East Liverpool sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Bailey, who also presented a half hour of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a street length dress of white silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with a square neckline and full puffed sleeves. A perky white lace net hat completed her ensemble. Her only jewelry was a white gold necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds with cascading satin streamers.

Sister Is Attendant

Mrs. Margaret Randolph was her sister's matron of honor and her only attendant. She was attired in a street length dress of pink silk organza over taffeta with jacket and wore a pink and orchid feather hat. She carried a bouquet of orchid mums and pink carnations.

Paul McLaughlin, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were Dayton Randolph, brother-in-law, and Clarence McLaughlin, brother, of the bride.

Mrs. McLaughlin chose a wine crepe dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding, complemented with a corsage of white carnations.

In the place of a reception following the ceremony, open house was held Thursday evening at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Horner of Lisbon-Salem Rd., with some 50 persons attending.

The bride's table, laid in white with pink and white streamers, was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and a silver weddng bell. White tapers in crystal and a floral arrangement of pink and white mums completed the setting.

Aides Named

Miss Ruth Horner, aunt of the bride, served the cake and Mrs. Ruth Barnes poured. Other aides were Mrs. Grace Barnes and Miss Ruth McLaughlin, sister of the bride. Miss Jean McLaughlin, a sister, registered guests from Columbiana, Salem, East Liverpool, Beloit and Lisbon. Attendants were presented gifts at the open house reception.

A 1956 graduate of Lisbon David Anderson High School and a graduate of Aultman School of Nursing in Canton, Mrs. Wade is a lieutenant in the Army Nurses Corps, stationed at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind. Her husband, a graduate of Yale High School in Tulsa, attended Tulsa University and for the past two years has served as a specialist in the Brooke Army Medical Center at San Antonio, Tex., where the young couple met.

For their wedding trip, they left for Tulsa, where they will visit Wade's mother, who has been ill and was unable to attend the wedding.

They also will spend some time in Texas. For going away, the bride wore a beige sheath dress with duster to match, red accessories and a corsage from her wedding bouquet.

After Dec. 8, they will reside in Indiana, where the bride will continue in the service.

Symphonies Studied

The Lisbon Music Study Club met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Graham Kearney of E. Lincoln Way.

Mrs. Donald Lewis was in charge of the program, a study of the symphony, which records were used to illustrate. Excerpts used were from Mozart's "Jupiter," Brahm's "First Symphony," Frauk's "Symphony in D Minor" and Prokofiev's "Fifth Symphony."

Miss Karen Riggle presented two vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Dallas Hepburn at the piano. Mrs. R. F. Marlatt, president, conducted business.

Miss Camille Firestone of S. Beaver St. will receive the group Nov. 4, when the program will be on sacred music.

2 Win Prizes At Cards

Mrs. Larry Glenn was hostess to associates of the Cardettes at her home in Elkton Friday night. Prizes at 500 went to Mrs. Glenna Vargo and Mrs. Bonnie Mix. Mrs. Esther Biggins was a guest.

Mrs. Joyce Sweeney was honored with gifts for her new daughter, Sherry Lynn. The hostess served lunch.

The next meeting will be Oct. 21 at the home of Mrs. Sweeney on E. Chestnut St.

Mrs. Eddie James, Mrs. Helen Beers, Mrs. Irene Lipp and Mrs. Velma Cope attended a luncheon and line officers meeting of the 13th District of the Order of Eastern Star at Negley Saturday. The meeting was under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Phillips, deputy grand matron of the district.

Honored were Mrs. Doris Preston, associate grand matron, and her newly-appointed secretary, Mrs. Durel McQueen of Orange Chapter at Leesville and Mrs. Cope, who is grand representative to the state of Washington. Some 56 attended.

Woman Ends Visit

Mrs. Paul Nicholson returned Friday from a 10-day vacation spent with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McDevitt and family at New Iberia, La., where McDevitt is in the service. While there, she attended the Sugar Festival.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McVay and Mrs. Virginia Schuck of Columbiana were Lisbon visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James McGrew of East Liverpool spent Sunday in Lisbon, attending the First Presbyterian Church and visiting her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peppel of E. Washington St.

Armco Starts Studies On Steel For Housing

NEW YORK (AP)—The Armco Steel Corp. of Middletown, Ohio, claiming that "steel can do much to hold down rapidly rising housing costs. . . and make significant savings in construction costs," has launched a research project to test that idea.

The project is designed to trim house building costs by using more steel.

Armco announced Sunday it had hired Carl Koch and Associates of Cambridge, Mass., to carry out the project—the designing of a multiple-family, garden-type apartment dwelling "making maximum intelligent use of steel."

"This will be a fresh, new approach, unencumbered by past thinking and past or present construction techniques and materials," said Armco President Logan T. Johnston.

The four "commonwealths" of the United States are Kentucky, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Virginia.

Army Nurse, Oklahoma Man Marry In Lisbon Church Rites

The Church of the Nazarene at Lisbon was the scene of the Friday afternoon wedding of Miss Grace McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy McLaughlin of Lisbon-Salem Rd., and Bobby G. Wade, son of Mrs. Jane Wade and the late George Wade of Tulsa, Okla. It was the first wedding held in the new church and the custom of open church was observed.

Palms, ferns and lighted candelabra decorated the altar for the double ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. Frank M. Brickley.

Carl Bailey of East Liverpool sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Bailey, who also presented a half hour of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a street length dress of white silk organza over taffeta, fashioned with a square neckline and full puffed sleeves. A perky white lace net hat completed her ensemble. Her only jewelry was a white gold necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried an arm bouquet of pink rosebuds with cascading satin streamers.

Sister Is Attendant

Mrs. Margaret Randolph was her sister's matron of honor and her only attendant. She was attired in a street length dress of pink silk organza over taffeta with jacket and wore a pink and orchid feather hat. She carried a bouquet of orchid mums and pink carnations.

Paul McLaughlin, brother of the bride, was best man and ushers were Dayton Randolph, brother-in-law, and Clarence McLaughlin, brother, of the bride.

Mrs. McLaughlin chose a wine crepe dress with black accessories for her daughter's wedding, complemented with a corsage of white carnations.

In the place of a reception following the ceremony, open house was held Thursday evening at the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Horner of Lisbon-Salem Rd., with some 50 persons attending.

The bride's table, laid in white with pink and white streamers, was centered with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and a silver weddng bell. White tapers in crystal and a floral arrangement of pink and white mums completed the setting.

Aides Named

Miss Ruth Horner, aunt of the bride, served the cake and Mrs. Ruth Barnes poured. Other aides were Mrs. Grace Barnes and Miss Ruth McLaughlin, sister of the bride. Miss Jean McLaughlin, a sister, registered guests from Columbiana, Salem, East Liverpool, Beloit and Lisbon. Attendants were presented gifts at the open house reception.

A 1956 graduate of Lisbon David Anderson High School and a graduate of Aultman School of Nursing in Canton, Mrs. Wade is a lieutenant in the Army Nurses Corps, stationed at Ft. Benjamin Harrison, Ind. Her husband, a graduate of Yale High School in Tulsa, attended Tulsa University and for the past two years has served as a specialist in the Brooke Army Medical Center at San Antonio, Tex., where the young couple met.

For their wedding trip, they left for Tulsa, where they will visit Wade's mother, who has been ill and was unable to attend the wedding.

They also will spend some time in Texas. For going away, the bride wore a beige sheath dress with duster to match, red accessories and a corsage from her wedding bouquet.

After Dec. 8, they will reside in Indiana, where the bride will continue in the service.

Symphonies Studied

The Lisbon Music Study Club met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Graham Kearney of E. Lincoln Way.

Mrs. Donald Lewis was in charge of the program, a study of the symphony, which records were used to illustrate. Excerpts used were from Mozart's "Jupiter," Brahm's "First Symphony," Frank's "Symphony in D Minor" and Prokofiev's "Fifth Symphony."

Miss Karen Riggle presented two vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. Dallas Hepburn at the piano. Mrs. R. F. Marlatt, president, conducted business.

Miss Camille Firestone of S. Beaver St. will receive the group Nov. 4, when the program will be on sacred music.

2 Win Prizes At Cards

Mrs. Larry Glenn was hostess to associates of the Cardettes at her home in Elkton Friday night. Prizes at 500 went to Mrs. Glenna Vargo and Mrs. Bonnie Mix. Mrs. Esther Biggins was a guest.

Mrs. Joyce Sweeney was honored with gifts for her new daughter, Sherry Lynn. The hostess served lunch.

The next meeting will be Oct. 21 at the home of Mrs. Sweeney on E. Chestnut St.

Mrs. Eddie James, Mrs. Helen Beers, Mrs. Irene Lipp and Mrs. Velma Cope attended a luncheon and line officers meeting of the 13th District of the Order of Eastern Star at Negley Saturday. The meeting was under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Phillips, deputy grand matron of the district.

Honored were Mrs. Doris Preston, associate grand matron, and her newly-appointed secretary, Mrs. Durel McQueen of Orange Chapter at Leesville and Mrs. Cope, who is grand representative to the state of Washington. Some 56 attended.

Woman Ends Visit

Mrs. Paul Nicholson returned Friday from a 10-day vacation spent with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McDevitt and family at New Iberia, La., where McDevitt is in the service. While there, she attended the Sugar Festival.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McVay and Mrs. Virginia Schuck of Columbiana were Lisbon visitors Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James McGrew of East Liverpool spent Sunday in Lisbon, attending the First Presbyterian Church and visiting her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peppel of E. Washington St.
